Truck Citations Hike Fines Here $11,806 Over '70

The amount of traffic fines received by the village so far this year is up $11,806 over last year, but apparently Elk Grove Village drivers are no worse.

Police said yesterday the main reason for the increase comes from the number of overweight trucks that have been ticketed, since one violation may amount to as much as a $5,000 fine.

However, for the first five months of this year the village police issued 1,784 tickets for hazardous moving violations, compared to 1,757 last year, police chief Harry Jenkins said.

The figures from the Cook County Circuit Court indicate that the village received $49,896 in traffic fines in the first five months of the year compared to $38,090 last year.

POLICE SAID the reason for the increase in truck violations can be explained because the department's traffic division is now in full operation and officers are more alert to possible violations.

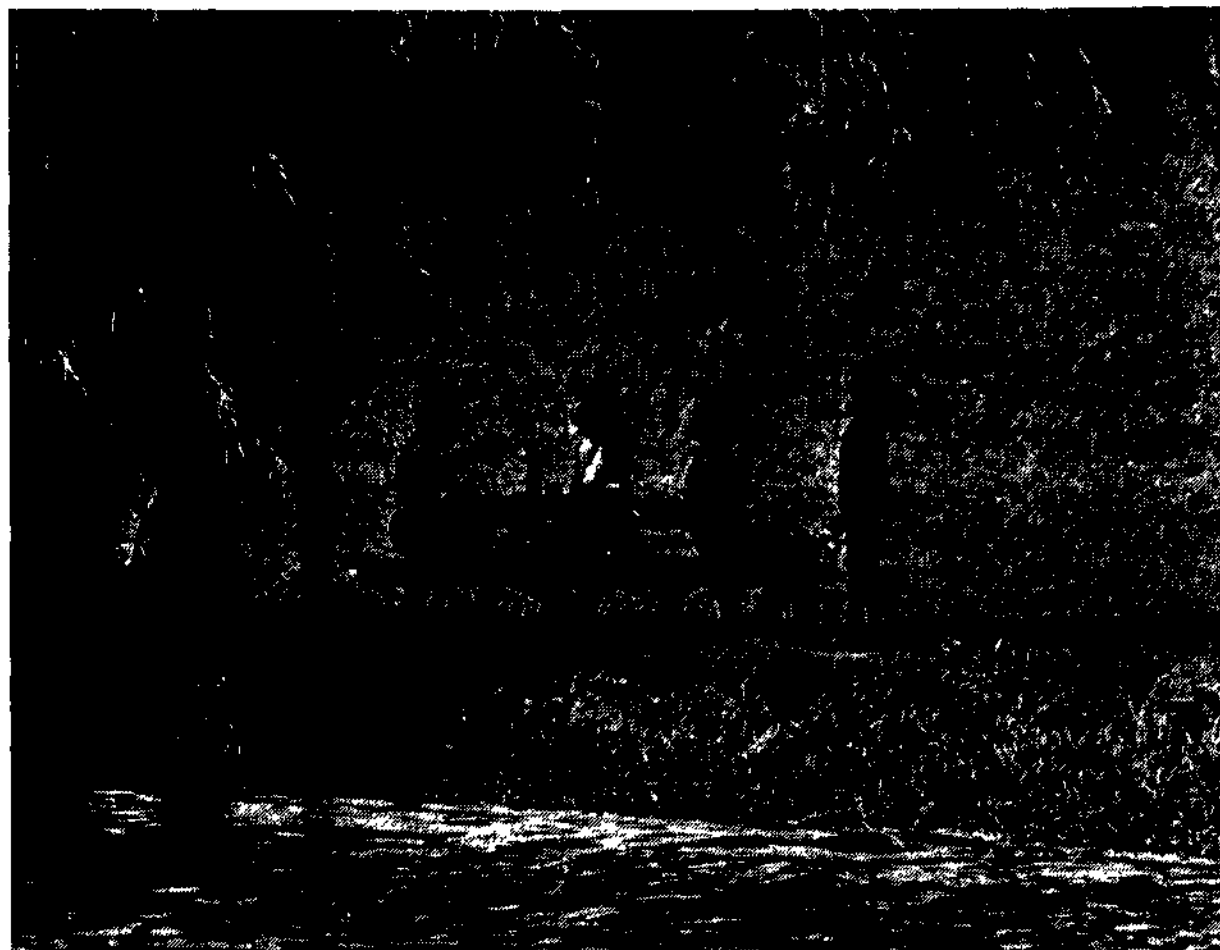

Also, the number of trucks using village streets has increased in recent years, one officer said. "That's why our streets are so torn up. It isn't passenger cars that do it," he said.

Most other communities in the area also show increases in the amount of fines collected, with Schaumburg's share nearly doubling from $23,944 to $40,756.

Mount Prospect's share of fines declined $580 from $18,927 to $18,347.

Other community showing declines were Arlington Heights, which received $38,505 this year compared to $43,642 last year, and Des Plaines, which decreased from $46,463 to $41,843.

An Arlington Heights policeman earlier this week attributed the decline in that town to the fact that more traffic court defendants have been sent to traffic school or placed under supervision rather than being given fines.

SUNNY SKIES and pleasant temperatures predicted for this weekend should make the picnic areas a popular place to be. This group is taking a pause in its tennis match to enjoy the fine weather.

Report Two Thefts At Teen Center

Two thefts, both of which apparently occurred during the dance held Saturday at the Elk Grove Park District Teen Center, have been reported to police.

One theft, of an electric guitar valued at $250, was reported by Timothy Kennedy, of Addison, a member of the rock band "Utopia."

Kennedy told police he had put the guitar in its case, placed it on the sidewalk in front of the center and left it unattended for two hours while he was inside.

He told police he did not realize the guitar had been stolen until Monday because he assumed it had been placed in a car by friends.

Also, Norm Goldberg, teen center director, reported that the coin box of the teen center juke box was pried open and between $30 and $40 were taken.

Goldberg told police he believed the break-in occurred during the dance, when the music from the band would have muffled any sounds.

Eye Alternatives To Sludge Farm

Faced with a $30 to $50 million price tag for land purchase, the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) is considering alternatives to a 2,000-acre sludge farm in Schaumburg Twp.

Ed Karolewski, MSD real estate officer, said yesterday the MSD engineering staff is looking into piping the treated sewage to another location, perhaps as far away as Fulton County, near Peoria.

Last week, a land appraisal firm told the MSD board it would cost between $30 and $50 million to purchase 2,000 acres of land near the proposed Salt Creek water reclamation plant, between Route 53 and Meacham Road, south of Schaumburg Road in Schaumburg Twp.

"It sounds like a lot of money," remarked Karolewski, who was scheduled to confer yesterday afternoon with the MSD engineering department on the matter.

will continue to do so until Aug. 21. Requests are already coming in from mothers who will need babysitters after elementary schools close for the day, she said, and so far not enough girls have expressed an interest in such work.

Girls who will have early morning "reveille" classes at Elk Grove High School and so will get out of school at 2:40 p.m., can be placed as baby-sitters for school age children, she said.

During the summer Mrs. Foster said, she has placed approximately 150 young people in jobs, including some in full-time jobs for the summer.

The employment service office is in the Community Service Farmhouse, 700 Biesterfeld Rd. and the phone is 593-6680.

Karolewski said the decision, which could be made on a "high priority basis" by the MSD board, was a matter of economics and land usage.

HE EXPLAINED piping the sewage—in the form known as "sludge"—to a location distant from the Schaumburg Twp. plant would require money for constructing the pipeline. It was a question of weighing the cost of the pipeline versus the cost of on-site sludge treatment.

Land usage is the second important factor, he said. The high cost of the land—it would average between $15,000 and $25,000 per acre, the report states—reflects the high-grade land here and the demand for it, Karolewski said.

The MSD currently operates an experimental sludge farm in Fulton County, where sludge is transported by barge for recycling into a fertilizer-like product.

Sludge from the other sewage treatment plants in the Chicago metropolitan area is currently carried by pipeline to the West Southwest plant in Stickney.

The alternate method of treatment mentioned by Karolewski would involve using the piping system, and he conceded the Salt Creek sewage "could end up down there, in Fulton County."

He said the Fulton County land was purchased for $2 million, but the development of environmental protection steps skyrocketed costs, and he added that such costs would occur on top of the $30-$50 million here for an on-site sludge farm.

THE APPRAISAL report, prepared by William A. McCann and Associates, noted land in the area is not readily available and that "acquisition of sufficient area to meet the MSD needs could involve lengthy condemnation proceedings."

So, at the present time the MSD staff is looking into alternatives for a sludge farm to serve the Salt Creek water reclamation plant, currently being planned. Plant completion is at least three years away, Karolewski said.

Here's How To Get Job Done

The summer is nearing an end, but young persons who need jobs and residents who need work done can continue to contact the Youth Employment Service through Aug. 21.

Dixie Foster, director of the service which is run by the Elk Grove Village Community Service, said yesterday that after Aug. 23 Elk Grove and Forest View high schools will take over employment service activities for youths in Elk Grove Township.

The high schools, she said, will post job opportunities on a bulletin board as they have in the past, but will not try to act as a placement service.

Mrs. Foster said she is now placing youngsters in part-time and temporary jobs for the fall and winter months and

Contest Balloon Lands In Glencoe

The wind was blowing north when the Elk Grove Park District held its annual balloon flying contest several weeks ago and one balloon made it to Glencoe.

Steve Kaszonyi, of 124 Shelley Rd., won first prize for the farthest roaming balloon after the card attached was returned from the North Shore suburb.

The three runner's up were Joanne Kozlowski, 900 Victoria Ln., Cheryl Borkenhagen, 1208 Cypress Ln., and Jill Nieman, 211 Brookhaven.

Joanne's and Jill's balloons were found in Deerfield and Cheryl's was found in Winnetka.

CONSTRUCTION ON the Devon Avenue Bridge over Interstate 90 was completed last weekend. The bridge was open to traffic Monday morning according to the state highway department. Construction on the project began in June 1970.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who admits leaking the top secret Pentagon papers to the press was ordered by a federal judge to appear in California on charges of illegal possession and distribution of the 47-volume study of the Vietnam war.

Working with surprising speed and ease, astronaut Alfred M. Worden wrapped up Apollo 15's spectacular lunar expedition in high style with man's first walk in deep space to retrieve priceless film of the moon.

Wholesale prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years in June, the government reported. The White House co-opted the report was bad news but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

General Motors Corp announced "tentative" increases in the prices of 1972 model cars which would average 3.9 per cent, or $176 more than similarly equipped 1971 models.

The World

South Vietnam's highest court ruled that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had failed to qualify to run as a candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential elections in opposition to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

At least 36 persons were reported killed and 76 injured in a collision between passenger and freight trains south-east of Belgrade.

The State

Gregory Hansen, 15, Rockford, was arrested in connection with two of four recent slayings. He was charged with the murders of Herman Kasch and his wife Mary.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The War

A newspaper report that North Vietnam would release 183 POWs to be flown home to the United States next week brought a chorus of denials from the governments and airline involved but left questions unanswered about what actually happened.

B52 bombers struck into Cambodia against Communist positions in a region where heavy fighting has driven thousands from their homes. In ground action, Communist forces attacked a Cambodian post just 15 miles from the capital city of Phnom Penh.

The Weather

Chilly weather swept through the Midwest and Northeast again, while showers and thunderstorms spread from southern New England through the mid-Atlantic and Gulf states. Temperatures around the nation ranged from 43 at Houghton Lake and Marquette County Airport at Marquette, Mich., to 93 at Needles, Calif.

Temperatures from around the nation:

It's Spirit That Counts

It's not what you give, but the spirit you give it with that counts.

And by these standards, Tracy and Tyce LaQuey are among the hundreds of important contributors to the Salvation Army's Community Counseling Center emergency fund raising drive.

The children, 7 and 5 years old respectively, are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan R. LaQuey of 1301 W. Lincoln, Mount Prospect.

And last week they set up a cold drink stand in their backyard and turned all proceeds from their sales over to the center.

The amount came to $4.35.

Mrs. LaQuey, their mother, said they got the idea from a story about a backyard carnival in Arlington Heights, in which neighborhood children raised money for the center.

"Last year they sent away and got a cardboard stand from the Kook-Aid people. This wasn't the first time they've done this. Selling has been one of their little money-making projects all summer," she said.

"BUT LAST FRIDAY they decided to turn all the proceeds over to the Salvation Army, to sort of do their part. Our backyard is about 30 feet from the eighth tee of the Mount Prospect Country Club, so all the people they sold drinks to were golfers. I guess there were about 20 of them."

"They usually put a price up, but this time they made a sign that said all profits will be turned over to the center and people could make donations instead.

They made more money this way, I know that. They received everything from a few pennies on up, including a couple of golf balls."

How did they feel about their little sale?

"Well of course they're very young... too young really to know what the center's all about. But they were happy to do it and feel they accomplished something worthwhile. And we were all moved by their community spirit."

Tracy will be a second grader at Westbrook School this fall and Tyce will begin there in kindergarten, said Mrs. LaQuey. So far more than $11,325 has been raised for the center's emergency fund. The family service agency needed to raise $7,500 by Aug. 2 in order to maintain its current level of operation.

Middleton Attorney Charges State's Attorney

The attorney for Dr. James Middleton yesterday charged that state's attorneys might have improperly influenced a grand jury that indicted Middleton for drugging and sexually assaulting two women patients.

Atty. Edward Genson asked Circuit Court Judge Robert J. Downing to examine grand jury transcripts, claiming that subsequent interviews with grand jurors have turned up evidence of what could be "improper orientation" by state's attorneys.

Genson also submitted copies of 54 newspaper articles on Middleton which he said may have influenced the grand jury's decision to indict Middleton in February.

Asst. State's Atty. James Kavanaugh

rejected Genson's claim, saying that grand jury indictments are merely formal accusations. Trying to eliminate all outside influences on grand jurors would result in a "ludicrous situation," Kavanaugh said.

MIDDLETON WAS arrested last December in his office at 969 Elmhurst Rd., in unincorporated Des Plaines, after the two women accused him of attacking them. He has also been indicted on federal charges of illegally making and possessing bombs in his office and his Chicago apartment, 2800 N. Lake Shore Dr.

Judge Downing, who said Genson's claim "raised some important issues," continued Middleton's pretrial hearing until Aug. 20.

Genson, who has asked Downing to dismiss indictments charging his client with deviate sexual assault and aggravated battery, said interviews by an investigator of 13 former grand jury members turned up possible evidence of influence from publicity and state's attorneys' handling of the case.

Although none of the 13 said they were prejudiced by reading about Middleton before voting the indictments, Genson told Downing, "some did say they were somewhat influenced by it."

"Most of them did say they read publicity on this, and none of them said they were admonished not to consider this publicity," he said.

According to Genson, 11 of the 13 also said they thought persons coming before the grand jury must have done something wrong or they wouldn't be there.

He cited what he said was a similarity between the Middleton case and a dispute over examination of transcripts by Chief Criminal Court Judge Joseph Power of the special county grand jury investigating the 1969 Black Panther case in Chicago.

GENSEN POINTED out the Illinois Supreme Court approved Power's examination of the transcripts of the grand jury proceeding to determine if the jury had been influenced by a special prosecutor.

He urged Downing to make a similar examination of the grand jury record, hinting at what he said was improper conduct by state's attorneys who presented evidence to the grand jurors.

Couple Recommends Pre-Marital Institute At Hospital

by VICKI HAMENDE

"It gave us a lot to talk about," said Earl Jarvis and Kathleen Ver. Haar about the month-long Pre-Marital Institute offered for engaged couples at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

"I'd recommend the institute highly. It gives a broader and more realistic view of what marriage really is, and how to understand each other and your relationship to each other," said Kathy, 24, a vocal music teacher in south suburban Calumet Township.

"I learned things we can apply toward our marriage. Things about understanding each other and knowing what to expect of each other's feelings. I learned things that I would have probably found out after being married several years," said Earl, also 24, an instrumental music teacher at a Chicago high school.

NOW THE NEW Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jarvis of Wheeling, Earl and Kathy were among about 10 couples who participated in four institute sessions in July.

The sessions included lectures on "A Theology of Marriage" by a chaplain, "The Meaning of Sex and Love in a Marriage" by a physician, "How to Budget in Marriage" by a financial consultant, "Finding Strengths and Adjustments in Marriage" by a social worker and "Emotional Differences of the Sexes" by a psychiatrist.

According to Pastor Arthur Bickel, chaplain supervisor in the pastoral care department of Lutheran General, and spokesman for the institute, the response to the sessions, which have been offered six times yearly since 1964, has been "strongly positive."

"The couples usually expect just a series of lectures. Each session involves a lecture, but also a discussion period," Pastor Bickel said.

"We changed the format four years ago, and we try to update it yearly based upon feedback from the couples who have participated," he said.

"The institute is not in any way meant to be a substitute for the clergymen's roles in premarital counseling. We work with more general guidelines offered by people from other professions which are usually not available to the local parishes. The premarital counseling of the pastor himself is a more personal thing between the pastor and the specific couple," Pastor Bickel said.

"PROBABLY THE greatest benefit of the sessions is that it's not what we teach them, or what they might learn, but I think it opens up a lot of things for them to talk about," he said.

"We don't preach to the couples. The institute is meant to be a service function. We feel we have a cluster of resource persons in the hospital who should be available to the community for this sort of service," Pastor Bickel said.

The institute is moving in the direction of more "people to people" participation, he said, in response to continual requests from the engaged couples "asking for the chance to get to know each other better without being infantile about it."

Pastor Bickel lectured on theology and marriage at the first session in July. "We are all created in the image of God, and therefore something that goes on between you and your loved one is close to being holy, Godlike," he said in the lecture.

"Marriage is like two porcupines learning to sleep together. Just close enough to keep each other warm, but not too close because it hurts," Pastor Bickel said.

"We need other people and this is the most focused in the relationship of marriage and what it means when you say 'I love you,'" he said.

"HE HAD AN interesting theology pitch," said Earl after Pastor Bickel's lecture. "About having the same kind of love and respect for each other as we have for God. That had a lot to do with Kathy and I because we came from different religious backgrounds and there were a lot of objections to our marriage," he said.

"I liked what he said about the porcupine," said Kathy. "We're all individuals and we can only meet halfway," she said.

"WE CAN'T CHANGE each other. I have domineering tendencies and I'll have to watch myself around Earl," she said.

"We've always felt that we shouldn't even try to change each other," Earl said.

Kathy added, "We talked afterwards and found we knew most of what we had heard at the first session about love, involving respect, understanding, need and appreciation. It was good to know we felt this way, and good to have our philosophy supported," she said.

They were both surprised at the second session on sex and love in marriage that the physician did not "push the pill."

"WE HADN'T PLANNED on using it anyway, but I always thought we were kinda old-fashioned," Kathy said. "I learned a lot from him about the many contraceptive devices available," she said.

"Sex was something we really hadn't talked about that much. We were more shy before. Since the session we've been able to kid around about it more. The doctor was very down to earth during the session and I appreciated his common sense answers," said Earl.

"He made a big hit with us when he talked about honesty when it comes to sex and love in marriage. That tied in with the first session and the components of love," he said.

The Jarvisses were both disappointed in the session with the financial consultant. "At least he gave us a sheet listing all of the items a couple should budget for. But when he tried to budget a hypothetical income, he couldn't even get it to balance," Kathy said.

"HE DID GET US talking about it and working on our own budget plan," Earl said.

"Money is the biggest problem in marriage — there should have been much more time for us to ask questions," said Kathy.

"The social worker really hit close to home in the session where he talked about how to strengthen a marriage. He said not to assume that you can understand everything about your spouse," Kathy said.

"He also said to have an open mind about each other's strengths and weaknesses," Earl said.

"WE'VE ALWAYS TALKED to each other about our faults. But only when we're alone. It's a matter of timing, as the social worker said. So we only tell each other our faults when we're in good moods. There's no sense asking for trouble," Kathy said.

The final session with the psychiatrist dealt with the physical, psychological and spiritual differences between the sexes and the need for teamwork in handling these differences.

"I didn't completely agree with what he said about marriage and a career being separate for men and the same for women. Especially in our case with both of us teachers and interested in music. My vocation is just as important to me as Earl's is for him. Being married is only one part of my life," Kathy said.

Earl agreed. "Kathy's career is equal to mine. The roles in marriage are changing. Both of our jobs will have to go hand in hand with making a home," he said.

"The sessions were even better than I had expected," said Earl. "I found them educational but still enjoyable. It was fun getting to know some of the other couples, too."

"I WISH THERE had been more time. The speakers were always looking at their watches. But on the whole the sessions were really worthwhile. They certainly opened my eyes and made me realize all of the different aspects of marriage to watch out for," Kathy said.

"After going through the institute, I've decided I don't want to call the whole marriage off," Kathy joked.

"Well I might, but not necessarily," said Earl.

They were married last Sunday.

Part Of Rte. 53 One Lane

Route 53, from Rand to Algonquin has been cut to single lane traffic until October for repair work.

Chet Dyzel, an officer engineer with the Illinois Department of Highways, said the road is undergoing deck patching and bridge waterproofing by Orr Construction Co. of Chicago Heights. "It's all routine work," said Dyzel.

Completion date for the work is Oct. 8, at which time barricades should be down and Route 53 again opened to double lane traffic, he said.

Is Jet Noise A Village Problem?

by TOM JACHIMIEC

Last week's public hearings on noise pollution before the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency cause one to wonder just how much of a problem the noise from jets is to residents of Elk Grove Village.

The reaction this reporter has received from residents over the years is mixed, depending upon where each lives. It seems those residents most bothered by jet noise live on the north side of the village where jets approach O'Hare Airport from the northwest.

The problem here then isn't as serious as that posed in older communities such as Bensenville, Rosemont, and Schiller Park. In the case of the latter two communities, the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) noise impact study came up with the suggestion that it the planes get bigger and possibly noisier. That's why they are keeping an eye out for O'Hare expansion plans.

Warren Edwards, of 7 Ridgewood Rd., when asked to comment on the jet noise problem, said, "You can't carry out a normal conversation while sitting on my $3,000 screened porch when the jets are flying over."

One day he said a conversation with friends was interrupted every 105 seconds when for 15 seconds everyone took on what he called the "Elk Grove Village stupid look." That's when the conversation stops for 15 seconds when a jet goes over and everyone just looks around at each other, he explained.

I VISITED San Antonio, Tex. recently where the city has a river no larger than Salt Creek that flows through the downtown area. It's landscaped and lined with walkways, presenting a beautiful scene especially during the evening hours. It made me wonder what the possibilities could be with the riverside along Salt Creek when the Salt Creek Watershed Project is finished in the next five years. With control of the water level in the creek it could be turned into a beautiful addition to the village.

Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott recently filed suit in an attempt to stop the publishers of Today's Firemen magazine from seeking paid advertisements. Often times, Scott charged, the magazine salesmen said the sales would benefit widows and children of firemen.

Elk Grove Fire Chief Allen Hulett is very familiar with the operation of this magazine. Hulett is one of the firemen who brought the complaint to Scott recently after an area businessman earlier this year fell for the old magazine trick.

As long as two years ago Hulett warned residents through the Herald to check out magazine salesmen. The same goes for salesmen who leave the impression that a magazine sale will benefit the police department.

What no one knows about this racket is how many persons fall for it each year.

would be better for some of the homes in these suburbs to be condemned rather than have the residents victimized by the sound of roaring jets.

The study recommended that industry be built nearer the airport, apparently similar to what was done when Elk Grove Village was incorporated 15 years ago.

MEMBERS OF the village's aeronautical noise abatement and safety committee are nevertheless bothered by the proposed expansion of O'Hare.

They believe even though the village was planned with industry adjacent to the airport, homeowners may still be affected by the jet noise in the future as

A DANCE AND water ballet to a tune from Sesame Street will be one of the features of the annual August water show at Lions Pool and these girls are rehearsing for it. The show is today and tomorrow at 7 p.m. The theme, "My Kind of Town," will center around Chicago. The show will include water ballets, skits and clown diving, plus the annual candle light finale.

Firm Gets Restraining Order

Injunction Against Local 8

A temporary restraining order, enjoining Local 8, Industrial Workers Union, AFL, from committing acts of violence and from mass picketing, has been granted to Hunter Automated Machinery Corp., 2222 Hammond Dr., Schaumburg.

The local is striking Hunter, seeking recognition as bargaining agent for machinist employees at the manufacturing firm. Picket lines have been manned at the plants since July 23. The union is alleging Hunter has intimidated employees from joining the local, and that the local has a great enough membership among employees to demand recognition.

Hunter alleges the union has not proved it does have sufficient employee members, and has asked the union to seek a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) election by which employees can vote on whether to join the union.

Hunter sought the order, appearing Monday and Tuesday before Circuit Court Judge Samuel B. Epstein, Chancery Division. The company presented testimony by employees who said they had been threatened by union members. Also testifying was Schaumburg Police Chief Martin J. Conroy, according to Hunter's attorney, Don Lyon of Lyon and Wurman, Skokie.

Joseph Cicero of Chicago, attorney for Local 8, reported he presented testimony from other employees, and union business agents, showing the company and employees have "nothing to fear."

THE RESTRAINING order against the union was served Wednesday, on order Judge Epstein. It enjoins the union from violence or threats of violence, and from blocking entrances to and exits from the building.

Commenting on the order, Lyon said, "If there wasn't any evidence this type of activity existed, the judge wouldn't have granted" the order. Cicero declined to comment on the order, except to say Judge Epstein is a "good judge."

Lyon emphasized the company is remaining "neutral" in the union dispute, seeking only to allow the employees to choose in "a calm and peaceful election . . . in solitude" whether they wish union representation or prefer to bargain for themselves.

Tuesday, while testimony still was being presented, Lyon said employees who crossed picket lines testified they had been threatened with physical violence.

POINTING OUT the company has no evidence the union may have been connected with certain events, Lyon said Tuesday some vandalism has occurred since the strike began. The firm had not experienced similar vandalism before the strike, said Lyon. Among incidents he mentioned were breaking windows, jimmying locks, slashing tires and shooting through one window. Police have received a complaint from Hunter of a window being broken by air gun pellets.

Cicero said the union has not been responsible for "any violence," and the order was unnecessary.

The union also has filed charges, this time with the NLRB, alleging Hunter threatened the job security of employees who joined the local. An NLRB investigator visited the picket lines Wednesday, gathering testimony on the charges, and will likely visit company management next week, said Cicero. Any NLRB decision on the allegations will likely be delayed several months, said Cicero.

Cheerleaders Plan Car Wash

The cheerleaders of Elk Grove High School will hold a car wash from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. August 14 at the Grove City station, Arlington Heights and Biesterfeld roads.

Tickets will be $1 at the car wash and 75 cents if bought before the car wash. All proceeds will go to pay off the cheerleading fund debt. The cheerleaders also hope to buy new uniforms.

For further information contact Norm Goldberg at 583-7627 or Gayle Restau at 827-0249.

Babist Church Slates Vespers

"They Walked with Jesus" will be the subject of the second of the "Vespers Under the Stars" drive-in series to be held 7 p.m. Sunday at Elk Grove Baptist Church, 19W641 Devon Ave., Elk Grove. Several instrumental and vocal numbers as well as Betty Butler and her "bag-puppets" will be featured in the service.

A TINY DOG can sometimes be as much of a problem as a big one, as this girl found out at a children's dog show held recently.

Kids Donate Money To Fight Pollution

Seven local children held a backyard fair this week to raise money for the fight against pollution and raised $15 that they plan to contribute an anti-pollution group.

The seven were Patrick and John Dowdle, Paul, Mary and Linda Blazek, Kevin Gard, Brian and Steven Pohlman, all of Essex Street in Elk Grove Village.

The neighborhood children participated in the games and bought refreshments set up in the Pohlman's backyard, Mrs. Pohlman said.

The children have their own anti-pollution club, she said and range between seven and 11 years old.

Dystrophy Carnival Set For Monday

A neighborhood Carnival Against Dystrophy will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at 603 and 605 Oakton Rd., Elk Grove Village.

Kenny Woveris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Len Woveris will serve as ringmaster, assisted by June Stansky. The carnival will feature Pie Toss, Sponge Toss, a toy and book sale, a bake sale, movies and food.

All proceeds will go to aid the fight against dystrophy and related diseases.

Trustees Win Game 'With Bit Of Help'

The Elk Grove Village trustees, with "a little help," defeated the police department in a softball game held at the village picnic Sunday, according to Trustee Edward Kenna.

The score in the game was 16-8.

Architectural Firm Fired By School Board

Architectural Management Inc. was fired by the Prospect Heights Dist. 23 School Board Wednesday night.

The architect firm was hired by the district in October, 1970 to design and supervise construction of additions to Douglas MacArthur Junior High School, and Betsy Ross School and the remodeling of Anne Sullivan School.

Wednesday the board voted unanimously to "terminate the services of Architectural Management Inc. for cause." The cause includes a long list of complaints the board has accumulated against the architect.

Since the problems began about five months ago, the district has not paid the architect firm. The firm has written the district asking that it pay bills totaling about $5,000. Of the total bill to date of $40,000, the district has paid the architect about $23,000.

In listing their complaints the school officials pointed to the architect's failure to secure a Cook County building permit until after the construction began. School board members discovered the permit had not been issued after they were notified by the county that the architect's plans did not meet the Illinois Life Safety Code.

The school board has held a series of special meetings during the past weeks to discuss the code violations and other changes that had to be made in the architect's plans. Construction was halted in the midst of the project until the code violations were corrected and a building permit was issued. The work taken to correct the violations involved such things as adding heat and smoke detectors, changing the ventilation system in the gym and lowering a ceiling in the library.

The school board refused to accept the building permit until the architect agreed to pay a portion of the $900 cost of the code violation corrections. School officials contended that the architect was financially responsible for the fact that the district had to assume additional construction costs after voters approved a bond sale based on an earlier construction estimate.

In addition the district had to pay $15,000 for change orders in the architect's plans. These revisions were requested by district personnel and the county education office. The revisions, corrections and late issuance of the building permit have pushed the construction schedule back several months. School officials do not expect all of the construction to be completed before November. Originally the construction was scheduled to be completed in September.

In addition of the extra expenses and delay in construction the school board members are concerned about the amount of time they have had to spend supervising the construction. Administrators and school board members charge there has been a "lack of supervision on the job on the part of the architects."

District administrators are now looking for an architect to complete the three construction projects. The architect will have to supervise the construction and make revisions in engineering drawings.

The district has worked with the just fired architect firm since 1964. Until last year the firm was called Alexander, Westphal, Borkton and De Young. The name of the firm changed after some of the principals left. The original firm designed the district's John Muir School, Dwight Eisenhower School and an addition to Mac Arthur.

According to school officials several other school districts have either fired or dropped the architect firm.

Supplement To City Summer Wages

Officials' Sons Get Poverty Funds

by LEON SHURE

Sons of two Des Plaines aldermen, a former alderman, and the public works commissioner are receiving federal anti-poverty funds to supplement wages from summer jobs they have with the city, the Herald has learned.

Thomas Hinde, John Thomas, John Leer III and Steven Schwab — sons respectively of Ald Robert E. Hinde (4th), Howard Thomas (6th), former third ward alderman John Leer and commissioner Joseph Schwab — each receive about $37 weekly through the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity (CCOEO) in a program designed for children of families below the federal poverty level standards.

The four youths are among five of the city's summer job holders whose salaries are paid in part by the OEO program, it was learned. The city has a total of 30 summer jobs this year.

Information about the anti-poverty funds going to sons of city officials has been obtained from a city official who asked not to be identified. Confirmation of the information was received from persons within the city government.

Ald. Hinde has confirmed that his son has been receiving the OEO funds as part of his pay for a summer job with the city's parking meter department. Thomas, Leer and Schwab were unavailable for comment. The city payroll office confirmed that the sons are listed as receiving city wages above the federal supplement.

The sons of city officials are all high school or college students.

Another youth, Stephen Holmbeck, also receives the federal funds, the official said.

CHARLES HUGHES, director of the CCOEO, which administers the funds, said he could not immediately provide records confirming that the five are receiving the checks.

The Herald also learned that Edward Haag, son of Fire Chief Frank Haag; Beth Ann Corey, daughter of Deputy Fire Chief Donald Corey, and John Branding

Jr., son of city health director Jean Branding, also are employed by the city this summer but not under the OEO program.

Kenneth Shillington, son of former eighth ward alderman Edward Shillington, also has a city summer job. About 30 jobs were available this year, according to one city hall source.

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel yesterday said that the city has no policy about hiring children of city officials, but that the children "probably do get preference."

In an apparent contradiction to city records, Behrel said the city did not apply to receive OEO money this year.

Hinde said he had been told by City Comptroller Duane Blietz that all applicants for city jobs would have to apply for the OEO program, so that the city could use the money it saves to hire more summer help. Blietz is on vacation and unavailable for comment.

Schwab is also on vacation. Leer is attending a convention in Chicago, and was not available for comment by press time. Thomas also was not available.

Leer and Shillington both were defeated in last April's aldermanic elections.

ACCORDING TO Hughes, parents of recipients of the OEO summer job funds must sign statements declaring that their families' incomes are below the federal anti-poverty level.

Hinde said Wednesday he did not sign such a statement and that his family is not below the poverty level. Hinde owns a local floor covering store.

The federal poverty level for a family of four is an income of $3,800 a year, Hughes said. For each additional family member, the level is raised by $600, so that a family of five could earn $4,400 and a family of six could earn $5,000 a year and still qualify.

Under the OEO program, the poverty-stricken youth, between 16 and 21 years of age, work for a public agency and are paid $1.60 an hour, the federal minimum wage, up to 23 hours a week. In Des Plaines, the city supplements the salary so that it is $2.35 an hour, and pays this rate beyond the 23 hours to the 40 hours of a regular work week.

IN SEVERAL CASES, the sons or daughters of public officials have worked for more than one summer for the city, according to the city's published statement of 1970 payrolls.

Steven Schwab earned $464.40 last summer and is now working on the city's water department. Joseph Schwab, the public works commissioner, earned $17,425 last year.

Edward Haag, earned $954 last summer, and is now working in the city streets division. Carolyn Rohrbach earned $895.15 in 1970. She is the daughter of City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach.

Beth Ann Corey earned $945 last year, and is now working in the city water division.

City Officials' Sons Notified

Poverty Payments Canceled

by LEON SHURE

Federal anti-poverty payments to sons of several Des Plaines officials have been suspended until the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity (CCOEO) can determine if federal laws have been violated.

A CCOEO official told the Herald yesterday that five Des Plaines youths — including sons of two aldermen, the commissioner of public works, and a former alderman — will be notified today that funds are being withheld until CCOEO can determine if family incomes stated on signed applications for anti-poverty funds are accurate.

CCOEO officials acted after the Herald disclosed yesterday that Thomas Hinde, John Thomas, John Leer III and Steven Schwab — sons respectively of Ald. Robert Hinde (4th), Ald. Howard Thomas (6th), former third ward alderman John Leer and Public Works Commissioner Joseph Schwab — each receive about $37 a week to supplement wages they receive from summer jobs with the city.

A fifth youth, Stephen Holmbeck, 1325 2nd Ave., also participates in the OEO summer job program with the city.

THE WAGE supplement, which takes the place of part of the salary the city would ordinarily pay, is made under a federal OEO program — the Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC), designed to provide work with non-profit agencies for children of families with incomes below the federal poverty level standard.

Clyde Brooks, director of the NYC program in Cook County, said yesterday that if his investigation shows that incomes stated on the applications were incorrect, the CCOEO could demand return of the funds, "or take other legal action." U.S. Attorney William Bauer told the Herald yesterday, that "whenever federal funds are involved, criminal prosecution is possible."

Brooks showed the Herald statements signed with the names of Thomas, Mrs. Hinde, Leer and Schwab which declared that their family incomes are below the federal poverty level.

Leer told the Herald he had not signed an application indicating his family's income was below the federal poverty level — $4,400 for a family of four, $5,000 for a family of five, $5,600 for a family of six. Hinde said his wife had not signed a statement indicating his family income is below the poverty level. Thomas was unavailable for comment, but Mrs. Thomas denied he had signed a statement that his family earns less than the poverty standard. Schwab is on vacation and was unavailable for comment.

DES PLAINE Mayor Herbert Behrel yesterday refused to comment on who held responsibility in the city government for the applications, or what action the city would take, until he has spoken to City Comptroller Duane Blietz, who is on vacation. Blietz is in St. Louis and unavailable for comment.

Brooks told the Herald that the Illinois Employment Service, at 601 Lee St., which acts as the OEO representative in the local NYC program, asked Blietz to provide a list of poverty-stricken families with children who might work for the city.

Apparently, Blietz provided a number of names — the exact number is not known to Brooks or to the representatives of the Illinois service — and these included the five chosen, Brooks said.

The youths were interviewed by the employment service, and hired by the city, Brooks said.

The NYC program finds jobs with non-profit agencies for 1,250 poverty-stricken youths each year on a $600,000 federal grant program, Brooks said.

In the program in Des Plaines, federal funds are used to pay $1.60 an hour, the federal minimum wage, up to 23 hours a week. The city supplements this salary, so that the youths involved receive $2.35 an hour, and pays the $2.35 rate beyond the 23 hours to the 40 hours of regular work week.

Brooks said that his office and the Illinois Employment Service are not required by the federal agency funding this program, the U.S. Department of Labor, to make sure that the stated income on

Mrs. Bostrom Is Released On Bond

Mrs. Donna Bostrom, former Schaumburg resident, has been released on bond pending appeal of her July 22 conviction for criminal abortion. She was sentenced Tuesday to one to two years in the State Reformatory for Women at Joliet by Judge Louis J. Gagliardi, Cook County Circuit Court, who presided at her trial. The conviction stems from Mrs. Bostrom's arrest Jan. 16, 1970, charging her with committing an abortion in Schaumburg Dec. 18, 1969.

Stevenson Restraint On Lockheed Defeated

Prior to its 49-48 vote approving the government guarantee of $250 million in loans to Lockheed Aircraft Co. this week, the Senate spent the better part of the previous week in debate on the controversial bill.

During the debate, a motion to close debate and bring the issue to a vote, co-sponsored by Sen. Charles H. Percy, was defeated three times. Also defeated after prolonged debate was an amendment by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III which would have provided for review by Congress of any loan guarantee approved by the Emergency Loan Guarantee Board created by the bill.

The House meanwhile rushed the bill through, passing by a slim three-vote margin, a measure authorizing $2 billion in guarantees.

Following is a summary of the voting records and other activities of Percy and Stevenson and Northwest suburban congressmen Harold Collier, R-10th; Philip M. Crane, R-13th; and Robert McClory, R-12th.

MEASURES SPONSORED

McClory, a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution to allow voluntary participation in prayer in public schools.

McClory, resolution calling upon the Voice of America to broadcast in Yiddish to Soviet Jewry.

Percy, joint resolution establishing a commission to formulate plans for a permanent memorial to Herbert Clark Hoover.

Do-It-Yourself

Take Precautions To Thwart Rust

Rust can be removed but it is an easier condition to prevent. Rust or corrosion is a chemical reaction. It comes about when metal and some other element come in contact. Air, water or another metal can singly or together cause corrosion.

Keep that in mind and you have the basis for prevention.

Remember that some items are more susceptible to corrosion than others. Iron, for example, will corrode where aluminum will not. Items that rust easily should be inspected often.

If you fail to take precautions don't be surprised when a seldom-used tool is rusty or when rust stains spoil a paint job. Inspect house gutters frequently and look for yellow stains. Joints and edges are where rusting will start. Scrape clean at the first sign and paint with rust preventative paint.

IF RUSTING IS a regular problem check to see that galvanized nails were used for galvanized gutters and downspouts and aluminum nails for those made of aluminum. Never mix metals.

If ordinary iron or steel nails were used to install the siding on your house this is likely to be the cause of rust stains that bleed through the paint. Since it is too late to use aluminum or coated nails you will have to cure this problem another way.

Sand the rusty spots, drive the nail heads below the surface of the wood, cover with putty and apply extra paint.

Take a good look at metal items that are left outdoors — lawn furniture, toys, forgotten garden tools. If rust has formed on a painted surface, sand down to the bare metal, prime with a rust preventative paint and finish with enamel.

Best way to protect such items is with wax. Use auto wax since it is designed to withstand weathering.

You may think that metal items indoors are safe from corrosion but they are not. Holding down moisture is the best way to prevent corrosion. There should be plenty of ventilation. Dehumidifiers used during humid weather will wring water out of the air. Exhaust fans in kitchen and bathroom will vent moisture-laden air to the outdoors.

APPLY A LIGHT film of oil to tools. Especially check appliances in the basement. Inspect seams, areas close to the floor. Sanding, priming and painting are in order if you find rust spots. Look for porcelain touch-up paint at your dealer's for this.

The spigot at the bottom of your water heater is there to prevent corrosion. Drain a pail or two of water every month, stop when the water runs clear. Never drain the tank completely since the air that gets in will cause faster corroding.

Collecting Coins

"A limited edition," in the true sense of the word, restricts the total pieces struck of a commemorative coin or medal to a specified number. This number may be pre-determined by the producer before offering the issue for sale, or it may represent a total of the subscriptions received prior to an advertised cut-off date.

In either event both methods usually require each piece to be serially numbered for the protection of the collector or investor against theft or counterfeiting. But more importantly, it guards against a diminishing value through deliberate overruns by the producer.

More often than not the sequence in which an order is received establishes the serial number of the piece. A bill of sale of certificate of ownership assigns tamp series as the newest facet in coin collecting, we have learned that the producers have bowed to two popular requests from the collectors of such numismatic material: 1) keep the quantity issued low, and 2) maintain consecutive denominational order in each series.

According to Jerry Parker of Jerry Parker, Ltd., this means issuing consecutive pieces in one denomination before jumping to another denomination or series. It makes sense because it allows the collector to house and catalogue one complete series while waiting for the first issue of a second series.

So, starting with the 1969 Lincoln Cent Numistamp, the six-coin set of Small Cents will consist of the 1943 Steel Lincoln Cent; the 1959 Lincoln Memorial Cent; (shown at the top of this column) this number to one buyer, and all future issues bought by him, will bear that number. One certificate is all that is ever required for the entire series. It identifies the owner of that particular number and, should it be necessary to transfer ownership, the certificate properly endorsed, makes it legal.

ROUND COINS and medals display the number on the rim along with the coin's hallmark — if there is one. Square, oblong and plaquette pieces show it on the reverse as demonstrated above on the back of the Memorial Lincoln Cent Numistamp. Because of the size and depth of these tiny figures, it is virtually impossible to alter or erase them without detection through X-ray examination.

Since our article announcing the introduction of the United States Numistic Stamp, the 1857 Flying Eagle Cent; the 1859 Indian Head and the 1880 Indian Head Cents.

EACH WILL BE issued in a limited edition of 4,000 serially numbered pieces at $4.50 each postpaid. Interested readers may write Numistamps, Jerry Parker, Ltd., P. O. Box 880, Ladysmith, B. C. Canada.

Twenty Top Dollar List

We have over 200 requests on hand but our supply is exhausted. The list will be published in part sometime after the National American Numismatic Convention in August.

Third Annual Draft Lottery Held

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although operating with only a half-passed Selective Service law, the government Thursday held the third annual draft lottery to determine the 1972 order of induction for about 2 million young Americans.

The lottery, which began at 10 a.m. assigned draft numbers to all young men born in 1952. Although military officials have not announced their manpower requirements for next year, men who draw numbers higher than halfway between 1 and 366 probably can plan to remain civilians.

The drawing was conducted with the same complicated ritual worked out by Selective Service System officials for the 1970 lottery.

TWO CLEAR plastic drums, each loaded with 366 horse pill-sized capsules, were used to match randomly-drawn birth-dates and draft numbers. Members of the Selective Service Youth Advisory Committee drew the capsules in the ceremony at the Department of Commerce auditorium a block from the White House.

Draft officials went to pains to assure the capsules were filled and dropped into the drums in random order, using as guidelines lists of numbers and dates scrambled by computers at the National Bureau of Standards. In addition, young women rotated the drums for a half hour before the drawing began and gave them a couple of twirls after every 20 capsules were withdrawn.

The lottery was conducted by drawing two capsules from each of two drums — one containing a date, the other containing a number. The date capsule was opened first and the number was assigned to that date.

THE DRUMS were about the size of 25-gallon containers and made of clear plexiglass. Paddle blades scrambled the capsules for half an hour before the first number was drawn and then again after every 20 capsules were pulled out.

The drawing — the third since the lottery was reinstituted Dec. 1, 1969, to assure young men of an even chance of avoiding military service — was conducted in the small auditorium of the U.S. Commerce Department building in downtown Washington.

On the sidewalk outside, a few young antiwar demonstrators — including one dressed in red, white and blue striped pants — conducted an "unselective service lottery" to demonstrate their distaste for the draft.

What's Your Number?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Birthdate of men born in 1952 and the order in which they stand to be called for possible military service in 1972, under today's draft lottery:

Hup Sarge! For Many 19-Year-Olds

The Draft Still Rolls On

by BRAD BREKKE

"Hup Sarge!"

If you're a healthy 19-year-old born on June 20, you stand a good chance of being inducted next year, and will learn how to wear Army greens, fire a rifle, and stand tall in close order drill.

The first number drawn in yesterday's draft lottery, which was held in Washington, D.C., was June 20 and it was assigned the number 30, meaning likelihood of induction is great if you were born on that day — if and when congress extends the draft law, which expired June 30.

Selective Service System, Local Board 101, which serves all the Northwest suburbs, said college and high school deferments are still available and occupational deferments will be effective, if they were applied for prior to April 23 of last year.

Dean S. Sweet, state director of Selective Service for Illinois, said in Springfield Thursday that young men who drew numbers over 150 in this year's lottery should be "fairly safe" and are not likely to be inducted. But for those who drew under 150, well that's a different story, he said.

SWEET SAID in 1970 there were 163,500 young men called for induction nationally, 12,281 of those were from Illinois. Under a bill to extend selective service two more years, an amendment has been tacked on which stipulates not more than 140,000 men will be inducted into the military during a given year.

The bill, which is still pending, received final approval in the House Wednesday, but is now bogged down in the Senate in a dispute over another amendment expressing congress' feeling that the United States should withdraw from Vietnam.

Sweet explained that if Army volunteer enlistments are high, the 140,000 maximum figure would be much less.

However, if there were 140,000 inductions in 1972, Illinois would provide about seven per cent of them or 9,800 men.

The all time high for the Vietnam War was in 1966, when 370,680 men were ordered for conscription, with the record coming in October of that year when 49,200 men were inducted.

SIGN HERE — if you are a male born in 1952, you were assigned a lottery number in yesterday's drawing. If that number was over 150, you're "fairly safe," according to the experts. However, if it's under that number, be prepared for induction. The military could call up to 140,000 men in 1972, if the bill to extend selective service two more years is passed by the Senate.

The highest induction number prior to that was during the Korean War, when 506,000 men were inducted in 1951, and 429,000 in 1953.

Although there were no inductions in July and August of this year, due to pending legislation, Sweet said 1961 was the last year in which there were no calls for any one month. This year the draft number is up to 125 and last year it went as high as 195.

SINCE DECEMBER of 1969, all inductions have been for the Army. However, there were some Navy inductions in 1965 and the Marine Corps got a slice of draftees in 1965, '66, '68 and '69. Asked if the Marines might induct some men next year, Sweet said it is possible, but all depends on the number of men who enlist voluntarily.

If you are not called during the year of your lottery, you will be placed in a second priority group and probably won't be inducted.

Local Board 101 said if in 1972 not enough men are called, and there is a need for more, all those who were not drafted the previous year will be inducted, but it isn't likely. This means all 366 numbers for 1971 would be called for conscription.

Nearly 2 million males were born in 1952 and it is these men who were issued a lottery number in yesterday's drawing. The lottery is expected to affect enlistments voluntarily in other branches of the service besides the Army.

A U.S. Navy recruiter in Palatine said he expects his enlistments to skyrocket. He said all last week only five men came in to see him and yesterday he had that many come in for enlistment in one afternoon.

The U.S. Air Force recruiting station in Elgin said it expects enlistments to rise 3 per cent, as a result of the lottery.

"It will go up, but not appreciably. We get a lot of college grads and more intelligent men who are smart enough not to wait for the draft," an Air Force recruiter said.

AND THE Marines? Well, their enlistments weren't affected at all by the lottery drawing last year and they don't expect it will be this year either.

"We'll go along, just like before," said a Leatherneck recruiter in Elgin.

WHEN SEARS OPENED its doors for the first time this week, 250 persons were waiting for the doors to swing open. Although store officials said the traffic jams and congestions caused by the opening was not as great as anticipated, extra police had to be called in to handle the enthusiastic shoppers.

AN ESTIMATED 10,000 cars filled the parking lot near the new shopping center's grand openings drew record crowds.

Transit Tangle To Be Surveyed

Beginning this week, selected residents of the Northwest suburbs will have a chance to voice their opinions on the highways and transportation systems of this area.

Under the guidance of the University of Illinois and Harper College, a group of interviewers will talk to members of 1,500 suburban households in an attempt to learn something of the travel behavior of suburbanites.

The survey is being done at the direction of the Northwest Municipal Council which may use the survey data to develop a coordinated transportation plan throughout the suburbs, including streets and highways, mass transit systems and parking facilities.

Cost of this initial survey is $27,000, a sum which is being met by contributions from each of 18 participating communities stretching from Park Ridge to Streamwood.

Although studies and surveys are sometimes used to extremes by government agencies, this inquiry into the transportation needs of local residents seems to be well considered and well worth the time of any person chosen to participate.

The experts conducting this survey are asking for honest opinions on the state of the roads, the trains, the parking spaces and the flow and pace of transportation in the suburbs.

It is hard to think of a subject which suburbanites can so righteously and so richly comment upon as transportation.

Everywhere you turn, there is highway construction underway — everywhere you drive there is a detour or a roadblock.

In fact, the state of the roads and superhighways has become probably the single greatest topic of discussion in the suburbs as greater and greater demands are placed on the nerves and temper of drivers.

There are documented cases of men leaving for work as much as an hour and a half earlier than usual in order to get to the office on time. There are other cases of housewives who leave the house on a simple errand and return hours later, confused and tormented by the traffic.

And although this area enjoys some of the best rail transportation in the country, the recent scares of railroad strikes has left everyone wondering what new plague of construction or walkout will next descend upon us.

So, welcome to the suburbs, opinion samplers.

If you are asking about transportation, we are sure you will get an earful.

'Everywhere you turn, there is highway construction underway — everywhere you drive there is a detour or a roadblock.'

Teacher Salary Hikes Affect Taxes

Under the heading of "The Public Has A Right To Know," residents of School District 57 — and really taxpayers throughout the Northwest suburban area — will be interested in a study of teacher salaries that the Board of Education has completed.

The study shows that teacher salaries in the district have increased an average of 52 per cent during the last three years. Those teachers who moved into another step on the salary schedule by virtue of additional college credits have seen their salaries go up an average of 56 per cent during the same period.

The tables below illustrate the salary progress of teachers in District 57. The figures shown are base pay only, for 39 weeks work. They do not include Extra Duty pay of Summer School pay, nor do they include fringe benefits which also have been increased substantially during the same period, 1967-68 to 1970-71. The figures take into account the annual changes in the Salary Schedules and the Experience Factor.

Table I, for example, shows what a Starting Teacher was earning during the 1967-68 school year and traces the same teacher's earnings through the next three years.

When you consider that about 80 to 85 per cent of a District's Educational Fund goes into teacher salaries, you can appreciate why school taxes have soared in recent years. It seems to me that the taxpayers have a right to urge caution in the settlement of contracts this year.

Wanted: Pen Pals

I believe you are kind enough of me to take up your valuable time. I saw the name and address of the Herald by chance in a reference book at the American Embassy's library in Korea and it made me write this letter.

I have my husband working for an oil company and a baby. Through my college days I was very interested in correspondence with foreign friends. Leaving campus, I became an English teacher at Dong Yung High School in Korea. Hoping to have an experience of using English practically, my pupils are very eager to find someone in an English-speaking country, especially in your country to correspond with. They would like to exchange the topics and information on each other's school, home, community and country and to discuss many problems the world is facing.

I am sure that this kind of faithful private communication between friends of around the same age will contribute to the improvement of friendship between the two countries and to the world peace. It will also help my pupils brush up their English. I also think they might have fun swapping items in their hobby collections.

I am convinced that they will be the faithful friend to any boy or girl who wishes to be their pen friend. I hope you can perhaps help make my name and plea appear in your esteemed paper. I wish your paper further prosperity, and hope this letter will find you in good health and happiness.

Truck Ban Endorsed

Permit me to second the idea for banning trucks on the expressways during rush hours. It's a common sense solution to an illogical problem and one that exists only because the politicians are more interested in appeasing truck lobbyists than they are the public.

Finds Happy Three Hours

We drove down to Arlington Heights on the 24th to attend the production of "Finnian's Rainbow" at the Hersey High School Theatre. Our granddaughter was in the chorus.

I have never spent a more entertaining and happier three hours in my life. The talent these young people possess is just

The FENCE POST Letters to the Editor

"something else." Besides one can appreciate how hard they worked to perfect the whole performance.

Great credit must be given to the production crew. Everyone with great talent for casting, production, direction, designing, choreography, etc., must have combined their efforts in molding all this talent into an artistic and joyful presentation. Everyone that had anything to do with producing this show must be very happy and proud of the success of their efforts. I am sure the people of Arlington Heights appreciate them and are proud of them too.

The musical director and his orchestra must be given credit for the tempo that kept the play moving. They did a fine job (ah, that drummer).

We were pleased then to watch for the Marching Band at the All Star game, and also enjoyed that very much. We felt as though we knew them all.

It seems I have heard that only 3% of today's young people are trouble-makers. Certainly all the young Arlington Heights people that took part in these two programs are of the other 97%. Too bad that the 3% usually get the headlines.

Space Mission Value

I am writing in favor of our Space Committees. I think it's great. Some people don't.

By spending the money for these Apollo missions, we are finding out more about our earth and universe. These clues might help us win our war of poverty and starvation.

People are poor and hungry, not because of $445 million to pay for a moon shot. It's because of us. How many of you have gone into a slum and held out your hand? Why are you living a good life? Not because of $300 million you got from NASA. No, you've been given the chance. Now it's your turn.

Dupe The Public?

Residents of Buffalo Grove (who pay for trees, shrubs and sod die) watched their trees, shrubs and sod die last year because of lack of water. Added to this, the village finds it easier to fine conscientious citizens for watering on wrong days rather than provide adequate wells.

If leaders were concerned for the public's welfare, they would refuse to issue building permits which make more of a crisis until adequate water supplies are provided for present and future residents.

Doesn't the village have adequate brains to dig a couple more holes in the ground in order to get more water, or is this just another way for our glorious leaders to make more money and dupe the public?

Word-A-Day

Reform Vs. Unity Splits Democrats

by BRUCE BLOSSAT

Two strong trends, in clear conflict with each other, are tugging at the Democratic party. One is bent toward smoothing over differences for the big presidential struggle of 1972. The other gives party reform top priority, even if the push for it enlarges those differences.

Seven months of 1971 travel with the active Democratic presidential candidates in nearly half the 50 states showed the unity urge to be very powerful. Here in Illinois, in Minnesota, California, New York and other places, the word is plain:

"People in the party don't want another Chicago, another 1968. They don't want any more big battles. The sooner they get a chance to line up behind one guy for the presidential nomination, the better they'll like it."

What this means is that if one candidate jumps off into an early 1972 lead by winning most of the March-April primaries, hundreds and hundreds of party leaders at all levels will quickly move his way. They are just looking for the excuse to move.

This urge to develop a united front is not limited to conservative party wheel-horses and other traditional types. It embraces a lot of liberals in the crucial big states, including some with a substantial wish for reform.

More important, however, they fear another political bloodbath of that sort could cost them the next election. And, taken together, the unity types are governed by one overriding, pragmatic purpose — to beat President Nixon.

The headline party reformers, on the other hand, are postponing their worry over Nixon. What they want first is 100 per cent compliance with agreed reforms on the part of the 50 state Democratic organizations.

Most of the proposed changes have to do with opening up party procedures to allow for freer, more current, more balanced selection of national convention delegates.

The militant reformers are quite right in saying that only a handful of state organizations are today in evident compliance with the McGovern-Fraser commission reform guidelines. The commission's own July 16 report cited nine in this category, including just one (Ohio) of the most populous 10.

Another five, including New Jersey, have "unofficially complied," whatever that means. Some 28 states have assured the national party they will be in full, official compliance by the end of 1971. Deducting for overlaps, that could raise the compliance total to almost 40.

Business Today

by BERNARD BRENNER

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, a chief sponsor of a multibillion-dollar credit bill to promote economic growth in rural America, has accepted a White House challenge to a showdown on another plan which President Nixon favors.

Humphrey heads a Senate subcommittee on rural development. He has scheduled sessions beginning Sept. 20 to wind up hearings on Nixon's proposed $11 billion rural development revenue sharing program — part of a package administration plan for reorganizing the federal government and sharing its revenue with states.

Aides said Humphrey feels the subcommittee and the full Senate Agriculture Committee will reject Nixon's rural revenue sharing plan. This would clear the way for further action on the credit bill which Nixon has opposed, but which already has attracted 46 Senate sponsors headed by Humphrey and Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the Agriculture Committee.

Humphrey scheduled action on the Nixon bill because, he said, it had become obvious the administration was not interested in talking about any rural development plan until Congress acts on the revenue sharing bill.

The Talmadge-Humphrey credit bill would set up a new national network of lending agencies to furnish credit for a wide range of rural development projects, including creation of new non-farm jobs in rural areas. Nixon, in comments last week, said the same needs could be better served under his revenue sharing plan by allowing states to create whatever new credit agencies may be needed.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, ranking GOP member of the Senate Agriculture Committee and a chief sponsor of the Nixon rural revenue sharing bill, said it was "too early" to predict its fate.

Miller added, however, that he does not see revenue sharing and new credit legislation as "either-or" issues. The Iowa believes Congress must act in both fields if it wants to do a full job of meeting needs of rural communities.

"What is important is that revenue sharing is only part of the overall rural development picture . . . I think there probably will be some separate legislation forthcoming on the subject of credit," Miller said.

Economy Recovering From Setbacks?

Some signs of improvement in Chicago economic activity have become evident in early 1971, report economists at The Northern Trust Bank. Home building has responded strongly to easier credit conditions, with new permits surging 31 per cent above the 1970 level in the first quarter.

But even as these developments have taken place, Chicago's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate inched upward throughout the first quarter, reaching 4.3 per cent in March. Activity in the important steel industry is expected to slow later in the year — as the result of liquidation of excess inventories built up by major consumers in anticipation of a strike. For this and other reasons, a strong and broadly based advance is not likely to be quickly achieved.

"Thus, while 1971 should be a year of improvement for Chicago," Northern Trust economists conclude, "rapid economic growth probably lies farther out on the horizon."

During 1970, "the softness of the local economy was most evident in the manufacturing sector," according to "Business Comment." Factory payrolls declined an average of 3.8 per cent, with the durable goods industries — which employ only about two-thirds of the area's factory workers — accounting for 80 per cent of Chicago's manufacturing layoffs. In fact, every local durable goods industry except steel employed fewer people last year. The largest setbacks occurred among the makers of lumber and wood products, furniture and fixtures, and apparel and leather products.

LAST YEAR'S broad business slump even reached into non-manufacturing industries in Chicago — the primary source of new jobs in the 1970's. Employment in this broad sector rose by only 0.6 per cent and, excluding government workers, was virtually unchanged. The volatile construction industry was hardest hit, posting an 8 per cent decline in employment.

Total nonfarm payroll employment in the eight-county Chicago metropolitan area averaged 0.9 per cent fewer persons in 1970 than the previous year, while the number of jobs across the nation increased 0.6 per cent. More favorably, the Chicago-area unemployment rate averaged 3.5 per cent last year, well below the national jobless figure of 4.9 per cent.

Inflation affected the consumer in Chicago much as it did in the rest of the nation. The local consumer price index advanced 5.8 per cent, consistent with the gain nationally. Meanwhile, the gain in consumer income was muted by the rising unemployment, as well as by a shorter average work week for those who held on to their jobs. As a result, Northern Trust economists note, "when inflation is taken into consideration, many families found that their purchasing power actually decreased in 1970."

The large falloff in construction jobs in Chicago is not surprising, "Business Comment" explains, in view of the depressed state of home building last year.

While the number of new housing permits issued nationally rebounded 5 per cent in 1970, the Chicago area experienced a 26 per cent decline.

Construction of single family structures was down approximately 21 per cent for the second consecutive year, while the number of new apartment units authorized fell 28 per cent in 1970.

Industrial and commercial expansion continued at a high rate in the Chicago area in 1970. New construction projects were announced for a record $1,488 million, up $58 million from the previous year. New commercial building projects — with office buildings providing the greatest thrust — increased $40 million to $705 million.

Sola Basic Earnings Slightly Lower

Sola Basic Industries first quarter net earnings per share dipped slightly over the corresponding period last year on a sales volume down about 12 per cent, Pres. Frank H. Roby reported.

Net earnings for the quarter, ended June 30, 1971, were $759,034 or $0.23 per share on sales of $22,144,000. Corresponding earnings figures for the year earlier period were $803,456 or $0.25 per share on sales of $25,173,094 when adjusted for an acquisition which was treated as a pooling of interests.

Commenting on the results, Roby said, "They are reasonably satisfactory in a very difficult business period. As we anticipated, shipments during the first quarter were lower than normal, primarily because of depressed business conditions which have prevailed for several months in some durable goods markets important to our company. "Fortunately," he continued, "other markets Sola Basic serves, such as construction and communications have remained relatively strong. The company's market diversification, the timely expense reductions made during the last fiscal year and improved efficiencies at recently modernized facilities have allowed earnings to remain at near the year earlier levels despite the significant overall volume reduction."

"There are some signs of future volume improvement," Roby said. Sola Basic's order backlog increased over $1,000,000 during the quarter as a result of a noticeably stronger incoming order rate; and incoming order level for the month of June was the highest in the last seventeen months. There are indications that this upward trend will become more pronounced as the year unfolds, but the change may be gradual."

Sola Basic Industries, headquartered in Milwaukee, has twelve domestic divisions all engaged in the production of equipment for the distribution, control and use of electrical power at nineteen domestic and thirteen foreign locations. The company has facilities in Elk Grove Village.

Personal Finance

by RICHARD PUTNAM PRATT

Perhaps it's a mercy, but many of us barely comprehend the degree of financial exposure we submit to in the ordinary course of life.

Oh, we understand the obvious things, like the size of judgments that can be lodged against us in auto accidents. And we cheerfully accept the fact that it will probably cost some $30,000 to rear a child to well-educated maturity.

But what about the fat mortgage on your home? Don't forget that it represents a chunk of debt that can easily rank in the $30,000 class these days. If a husband dies, that's a staggering burden for a widow.

True, the house itself is security for the debt. In theory, you simply sell the house and use the proceeds to pay off the loan.

But if the house is sold, the family will have to find other quarters. This may be undesirable, even if it is possible. Also, the house may bring a poor price, thus wiping out the family's important equity.

One way to avoid all of this exposure is to buy what's commonly called "mortgage insurance." Properly figured, this kind of coverage will yield enough cash at any moment in time to wipe out all mortgage debt and leave the widow with a home that's free and clear.

What's commonly referred to as mortgage insurance is more properly called "decreasing term insurance." It's a special kind of protection that works beautifully in these cases, but also has other applications.

Here's how it works: Let's say you buy a house that requires a $20,000 mortgage loan. The bank lends you the money, and gives you 20 years to pay it off.

Next you call your insurance agent and tell him you want to buy a decreasing term policy. He sells you a 20-year policy with an original value of $20,000, equal to the amount of the mortgage.

As you pay off the mortgage, bit by bit, the payout value of the policy is also decreasing. After 10 years, for example, the policy will have a value of about $10,000, or half the original amount.

Ideally, the policy's value will be down to zero at just about the time the mortgage is finally paid off.

In real life, things won't work out quite that neatly. For one thing, a $20,000 mortgage isn't reduced at a constant rate over the full term.

In the early years, when you are paying a lot of interest on just about full principal, reductions in that principal come slowly. Later in the term of the mortgage, interest payments are reduced, the principal payments stepped up. At the end, it comes out even.

But even in your mortgage insurance coverage won't match the loan balance exactly at any particular point, it will come close.

And that means a home that's free and clear.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Four years ago I had cancer of the cervix and was treated with cobalt for one month, but did not have a hysterectomy. I am still in my 40s. Is it possible for me to get pregnant again?

Dear Reader — Usually heavy doses of radiation, like the cobalt treatment you have had, stops all ovarian function. It has the same effect in this regard as surgical removal of the ovaries, including inducing an artificial menopause.

I never tell anyone they cannot get pregnant. You should have an examination and find out. Pregnancy after radiation, if it is possible, is not always wise because radiation increases the likelihood of having a deformed baby. Since the rest of your letter states you have children perhaps your concern is to prevent pregnancy.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Will you say something about our stomachs? My husband has been in constant distress going on four years. After X rays, his doctor says his stomach problems are anxiety and pain is not physical. His diet has not been restricted. I can't understand why his doctor doesn't prescribe a limited diet. My husband also worries he'll lose weight if he is on a limited diet and he is thin enough already. Every time the TV is on there is an ad about gas bubbles, stomach distress, so it must be common.

Dear Reader — Your husband's doctor probably told him that there was no physical cause for his pain, like an ulcer, that was causing his discomfort. All pain is physical, even if the cause is anxiety — and it hurts just as much.

The most common cause of indigestion in our society is coffee, cigarettes, alcohol, cola drinks and stress. The later often goes along with the other bad habits. Anyone with indigestion — certainly for four years — should stop all of these at once. Individuals can develop chronic gastritis (inflammation of the stomach) from these habits, and improper eating. This problem does not show on an X ray. It is cured by changing one's habits. If the difficulty persists, then it is time to think about medicine. The wrong kind of foods can cause indigestion but the items mentioned are much more often at fault. The stomach is a pretty tough organ if you give it half a chance.

As I have mentioned several times some people have an intolerance for milk — after stopping the bad habits it is worth a trial to stop milk entirely.

Chronic frustration can and does cause stomach problems and leads to ulcers. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

$1,000 Gift To Hospital

The Avon Corporation of Morton Grove has added to the health services of the Northwest suburbs recently with a gift of $1,000 to Northwest Community Hospital.

Robert Grobler, general manager of manufacturing and Charles Gustafson, personnel manager of Avon, presented the check to Malcolm MacCoun, president of Northwest Community Hospital.

"This gift, like all benevolent contributions to the hospital, will go for capital expansion and equipment that will benefit tens of thousands of area residents for years to come," MacCoun said.

The hospital is in the midst of a multiple expansion program that will almost triple the patient capacity by 1975. A nine-story addition is well under way and a single-story wing is scheduled to be open for patients early in September.

Avon, Inc., nationally known manufacturer of cosmetics, has contributed to many of the hospitals serving the residential areas where the Avon employees reside.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

There is an old rhyme that dates back to the days of bridge. It goes "Eight ever, nine never." This means with a combined holding of eight cards in a suit, you should always finesse for the queen while with nine, you should play for the drop.

That was a pretty good rule in bridge, since you would have little information about the division of the other suits. It is also a very good rule in contract, when you have obtained little or no information from the bidding or the early play. The "ever" part is generally correct when you hold eight but the "never" part when you hold nine is not too much of a good thing.

The winning player should pay attention to the bidding in deciding what to do.

If today's hand were to be played in the final round of the blue ribbon pairs, the chances are that every South player would play and make four spades by finessing against East's queen.

The reason why all these experts would play for the 3-1 spade break is that they would assume that the vulnerable two-heart overcall showed a six-card suit. Therefore, East would have three more

SUBURBAN LIVING

'Torch-Bearers' Next For Cabaret Theater

George Kelly has nothing resembling serenity in his rollicking comedy, "The Torch-Bearers." An hilarious account of what happens when a group of rock-bound amateurs attempt to produce a play for the locals, the comedy is filled with flubs, hysterics and small-time temperament.

Village Theatre, in its continuing summer fare of cabaret theater presented Wednesday evenings at the Village Inn in Palatine, will produce an excerpt from "The Torch-Bearers" during August.

POLLY JOHNSON, a veteran of Village Theatre comedy, will play the lead ing role of Mrs. Panpinellin, a pompous director. Members of the cast are Roger Krupa, Ginny Hawley, Barbara McKee, Doris and Gene Kaczor, Terry Hysell, Mike Leach, Kim Abbott and Heleta Bodkin.

Directing "The Torch-Bearers" is Herb Braden. Chris Bauske is in charge of costumes and Judy Neubauer, sound. Stage manager is Wendy Gruen and production manager is Carolyn Burkett.

The hour-long entertainment, geared to family groups, opens this Wednesday and will also be staged Aug. 18 and 25. Reservations, Village Inn Pizza Parlor, Dundee and Rand, 359-4255.

'Jesus Christ Superstar' At Ravinia Tonight

Ravinia has scheduled two performances of the rock opera, "Jesus Christ Superstar." The first performance is tonight, 8:30, and the second will be tomorrow, 10 a.m.

Featured in the cast will be Yvonne Elliman, who will recreate the role of Mary Magdalene which she portrayed on the Decca recording of the work.

Carl Anderson appears in the role of Judas Iscariot. A resident of Washington, D.C., Anderson was most recently the lead singer with the rock group, "The Second Eagle."

The role of Jesus Christ will be played by 20-year-old Jeff Fenholt. He is a native of Ohio and was performing the role of Claude in the national touring company of "Hair" when he auditioned for this role in Los Angeles.

"Randall's Island" is the featured rock band for this touring production, which also includes a 32-piece orchestra.

PRIOR TO TONIGHT'S performance, there will be "Poetry Gala" in the marquee on the north lawn of the Park led by Gwendolyn Brooks, poet laureate of Illinois and Pulitzer Prize winner. Poets Walter Bradford and Michael Mesic will be participants. The poetry event celebrates the Illinois Arts Council's Poets in the Schools Project and is free to Friday evening's Ravinia audience.

There will be no performance Sunday so the New York City Ballet Company can move into the stage area to prepare for eight performances starting Monday.

Weekday performances begin at 8:30 p.m. Next Saturday, Aug. 14, the ballet company will perform both at 2 and 8:30 p.m. Another matinee will be staged next Sunday, Aug. 15, at 2 o'clock.

HANK DE GROH, VICE PRESIDENT of Village Theatre, takes his turn on stage at the Village Inn as Swirnov in Chekhov's one-act play, "The Bear." In August, the cabaret theater will be performing Act II of "The Torch-Bearers." All productions are staged Wednesday evenings.

VT's Cabaret Theater

New Channel To Community

by GENIE CAMPBELL

There is a certain phenomenon occurring at the Village Inn Pizza Parlor in Palatine Wednesday evenings. It begins when a makeshift stage lights up in the back room and table conversation hails.

The generation gap is suddenly tucked away as grandparents, young adults and elementary school kids all sit spellbound together.

There is no magic script connected with Village Theatre's cabaret theater that performs at the pizza parlor on the average of three Wednesday evenings out of each month.

It's just that the audience is relaxed, many members are enjoying their dinner, and when you're nose to nose with the performers and able to catch every animated expression . . . you can't do anything else but laugh.

AND THE KIDS? They're intrigued with the whole idea of live theater itself. It's a brand new experience for most of them.

It all began last spring when Marty Weisberg, owner and manager of the Village Inn Pizza Parlor on Rand Road near Dundee, was approached by Village Theatre representatives. They suggested the idea of staging one-act plays at his restaurant.

Marty, who is always experimenting with new talent, decided to give it a whirl. He isn't sorry. Village Theatre and Village Inn have been a winning Wednesday night combination ever since.

EXCERPTS FROM the "Fantasticks" were performed in June by the group, followed by two one-act plays by Chekhov, "The Proposal" and "The Bear," during July. Beginning next Wednesday, the second act of "The Torch-Bearers" will be enacted for three straight weeks. The hour's worth of entertainment begins at 8:30 p.m. There is a slight admission charge.

Profits from the cabaret theater are entirely directed to Village Theatre's building fund. However, in addition to money, the theater venture is also important in uncovering new talent.

Persons participating in the one-act productions are actively involved with Village Theatre's workshop. It caters to those people who are unable to be cast in major productions because they either are not the type or don't have enough experience.

THE SHORT ONE-ACTS at the Village Inn have managed to even attract new members for Village Theatre. Three persons cast in "The Torch-Bearers" joined the theater group after seeing VT perform on a Wednesday evening.

"It's a way of letting the community know we're here," said Daryl Schultz, workshop chairman for the incoming season. Betty DeGroh, who just completed her term of office as workshop chairman, helped instigate the cabaret theater.

"Although we've been in existence now for 22 years, a lot of people don't know what Village Theatre is," said Schultz. "Some of the children in our audience have never even seen live theater before. They become absolutely bug-eyed over our productions."

"OUR CABARET THEATER does not detract from our main attractions at all," continued Schultz in referring to VT's regular season of productions. "As long as we have talent left over, we will utilize it."

The plays presented at the Village Inn are geared to a heterogeneous group and therefore are more comically oriented. The kids are delighted by the animated expressions alone, regardless if a line or two goes over their heads. exaggeration becomes the key to a farcical approach that brings out a broad kind of humor.

"They're not designed for a lot of thinking . . . just to sit back and enjoy," said Schultz of Chekhov's plays presented last month.

"ONE REASON that community theater has problems is because there really is no community identification. We have no roots with any one suburb," continued Schultz. "It is a problem with all suburban theater groups that draws members from all over."

The minor but steady income realized from the weekly productions cannot be downgraded. While an actual theater for Village Theatre is still pretty nebulous and in the future, it is not impossible.

Theater groups seldom can book schools more than two weekends in a row. How is VT to pick up more patrons if they are unable to seat them?

Photos By Dan Cocha

ANIMATION IS an important part of VT's cabaret theater. It keeps the attention of all kids and adults gather in the one-act play, "The Bear." Profits from Village Theatre's cabaret theater are all being put into a building fund started several years ago.

He is an Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps cadet and upon graduation will receive a commission in the Air Force.

Wheeling High School Sweethearts Married

A romance that started at Wheeling High School for Christine Ann Moore and Donald A. Lemke led them down the church aisle on July 3. The couple, now graduated, were married in St. John's Lutheran Church and are still living in their hometown while working in the suburban area.

Christine is the daughter of the William L. Moores, 84 W. Wayne Place. Donald's parents are the Martin Lemkes, 1033 Wheeling Road.

The two families, their relatives and friends gathered at St. John's for the 4:30 p.m. nuptials and then at the Holiday Inn at Northbrook for the dinner reception for 250.

The bride chose a yellow and white color scheme for the double ring ceremony. She wore a white organza gown trimmed with Victorian lace on the high collar, the cuffs of the long sleeves and on the chapel train. A Juliet cap of white daisies held Christine's shoulder-length veil in place. She carried a white Bible with three white orchids attached to it. As something old she wore her great-grandmother's cameo.

TWO OF HER WHEELING friends, Judy Larson and Cathy Miller, were

A Reading Is Wedding Highlight

A highlight of the June 26 wedding of Barbara Pautz and Knute J. Murray was a reading by bridesmaid Julie Tollefson with the bride's brother, Tom Pautz, playing background music on the guitar. Barbara and Knute were married in St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Val Pautz, 421 N. Dwyer. Knute's mother is Mrs. Willard Murray of Ripon, Wis.

The couple met at a friend's wedding, and since their own nuptials they are living in Belgrade, Minn., where the groom is employed. Barbara earned a degree in June from Northern Illinois University. Knute is a graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa.

FOR THE SIX O'CLOCK ceremony, the bride wore a white organza gown with a yoke of Venice lace and deep cuffs of the lace of the full bishop sleeves. Her veil was a mantilla edged with Venice lace and held in place by a Juliet-style floral lace cap.

Barbara carried an arrangement of red rosebuds, white daisies, blue delphiniums and baby's breath.

Her attendants were gowned in green, gold and navy printed rayon dresses with an ivory colored sheer yoke and long full sleeves. They wore matching Juliet caps and carried a single long-stemmed flower made up of white camellias and gladiol petals tipped in green.

Mr. and Mrs. Knute J. Murray

Linda Boldy of Park Ridge, a sorority sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Janet Klingberg, the bride's cousin from Prior Lake, Minn., and Julie Tollefson of Arlington Heights were bridesmaids.

THE GROOM'S BROTHER, Daniel Murray of Ripon, was best man, and his cousin, David Brye of Decorah, Iowa, was an usher along with two of the groom's friends, Richard Kups, Chicago, and Paul Onerheim, Arlington Heights.

For the double ring nuptials and a reception in the church hall, the bride's mother wore a yellow chiffon dress and had a yellow and red rosebud corsage pinned to her white purse. The groom's mother was unable to attend because she was visiting in Oslo, Norway.

ZION PASSION PLAY

By Marilyn Hallman

The adult life of Jesus Christ is being dramatized each Friday and Sunday evening at 8 p.m. during August at Zion, Ill. More than 150 actors present the Passion Play in an outdoor amphitheatre. With dramatic lighting and stereophonic sound, the drama begins with the Sermon on the Mount and continues, for two hours, through the "Hallelujah Chorus" and the Ascension.

Tickets are $2.50 for box seats, $2.00 for adults, and $1.25 for students and children. They are available by reservation (call 746-1411) or at the door. Zion is two miles north of Illinois Beach State Park on Lake Michigan. The amphitheatre is in the center of Zion on Dowie Memorial Drive just west of the Christian Catholic Church.

Sells Blankets To Indians

by HELEN HENNESSY

His Navajo friends call him "brother," and for more than half a century R. M. Bruchman has been a living legend among the tribes around Winslow, Ariz.

"They insist I was stolen from a tribal camp as a baby and raised to deny my Navajo heritage by my Mexican captors," Bruchman mused. "I gave up trying to change their minds years ago despite the fact my birth certificate says I was born in London, England."

The 88-year-old Bruchman has lived among the tribes of northeastern Arizona's vast Navajo and Hopi Indian reservations for more than 70 years. In spite of his age he is one of the most active and popular traders in the area.

THE NAVAJOs say he speaks their language like an Indian. And Bruchman's mastery of the language has permitted him to become close to the Navajo people. His understanding of their customs has contributed to his many years as a successful Indian trader. "The Navajo are a polite and cultured people," he explained, "and their concept of good manners can make the white man seem offensive."

"Of course, some of the old customs are disappearing and the younger Navajos approach trading just as a white man does and with less of the courtesy shown by their elders."

Bruchman said there have been changes in the types of goods the Indians barter over the years during which he has been trading. "I used to trade corn and other foodstuffs for such things as wool, handwoven rugs and handmade jewelry. Today the Indians buy cameras, tape recorders and radios with the cash I give them for rugs and jewelry."

"BUT THERE ARE some goods as valuable to them today as they were 40 to 50 years ago. Pendleton blankets and shawls have been important to them ever since I received my first shipments about 1910."

"The blankets and shawls are probably the only products produced by the white man that have become a part of the Indian culture. They like the quality, designs and colors. And that's not surprising because these blankets and shawls have been made especially for the Indians since the early 1900s.

"When a Navajo child is born, he receives a Pendleton blanket. When he dies he is buried wrapped in the same blanket."

So it seems the white man makes blankets to sell to the Indians. Weren't you taught it was the other way around?

ONE ASPECT OF trade that has become an accepted part of Indian economics is pawning. However, Bruchman explained, the Indian views pawning as a form of safekeeping rather than as a way to obtain money. "The most valuable items to the Indians are their handmade jewelry and their shawls and blankets. I always take those items in on pawn," he added, "because I know they will always be recovered as soon as possible."

Bruchman said that soon after he moved to Winslow, the government began placing more and more controls on the Indians. "The government was trying to 'civilize' the Navajo," he scoffed. "Years ago a government man came to the reservation and saw the Indians spinning wool for rugs by hand. He went back to Washington and pretty soon a big shipment of spinning wheels arrived.

"THE INDIANS really appreciated the spinning wheels because it meant they didn't have to go out to look for firewood on cold mornings."

"What that government man ignored is the fact that a Navajo rug represents a prayer and you can't make a prayer with a spinning wheel. It has to be done by hand or the prayer won't be answered."

He recalled another amusing incident. "Another government man came out to inspect the Navajo sheep and decided the grade of wool wasn't good enough. He said he would have about 50 American sheep shipped out here and told the Indians to breed their own animals to produce better wool."

"Well, when the government sheep arrived, they were nice fat things — and they were delicious."

June Wedding Unites Pair

A high school romance was climaxed with the June wedding of Cherie Ann E. Westedt, daughter of the William Westedts of Arlington Heights, and Michael Redenbaugh, son of former area residents, the David Redenbaughs of Albany, N. Y. The couple's wedding took place in St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, followed by a champagne reception for 125 guests in the church hall.

Attending the bride were Nancy Dabbert and Joann Meierhofer of Arlington Heights and Michele Redenbaugh of Albany. Attending the groom were Steven Sackett of Rolling Meadows, John Freismuth of Wheeling and Paul Ellingsen Jr. of LaJolla, Calif.

Cherie, a graduate of Arlington High School, is now completing the licensed practical nursing course at Harper College. Michael, a graduate of Wheeling High School, studied at Harper College and is now employed at the Norton Co. in Des Plaines.

The newlyweds are making their home in Schaumburg.

Charlotte Reid Sees Challenge In FCC Position

by MARGUERITE DAVIS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charlotte T. Reid said even before she took the oath of office in 1963 to begin serving in the House that she would not be a one-term congresswoman. It took a president, nine years later, to change her career.

The Illinois Republican was, and is, warm, friendly, and as one reporter commented, "living proof that being a pretty widow is no political liability."

Mrs. Reid's colleagues generally agreed that she likely could remain in the House as long as she wished. Her northern Illinois district was considered safe GOP territory, and she was well liked in Congress. In 1967, she was appointed to the influential House Appropriations Committee. A smooth political future seemed assured.

Then President Nixon asked her to serve on the Federal Communications Commission.

MRS. REID WAS reluctant to leave the House.

"It's challenging, exciting, gratifying, even though at times it was frustrating," she said. "And I wanted the appointment to the appropriations committee — it controls the purse strings, and I have a feeling for fiscal matters."

Nixon persuaded her. "When the President asks you to serve in a certain capacity, it affects your decision," she said.

Mrs. Reid served as staff vocalist for three years on a radio network (NBC) before her marriage to the late Frank R. Reid in 1938, but she said this had nothing to do with her nomination.

"I never intimated that my short period in broadcasting as a singer qualified me for service on the FCC," she said. "But I do believe nine years of legislative background will give me good experience for the commission."

SHE SAID SHE AVOIDS political labels. Although she acknowledged she may be considered a conservative Republican, "I don't plan to approach commission work in a partisan manner." She said she now is studying background on controversial issues like Community Antenna Television (CATV) and pay TV, but it will be a while before she takes a firm stand.

"I'm an advocate of the public interest," she said. "I'll study each issue."

"I'm going to miss my work in the House, but there is excitement in a new challenge," she said.

They Met On A Ski Trip

If it wasn't for their interest in skiing, Mary Ann Scesniak of Elk Grove Village and Raymond Przytula of Chicago may never have met. Fortunately, the couple joined the same ski trip to Northern Michigan and a romance began.

Mary Ann, daughter of the Victor Scesniaks, is a fifth grade teacher in Wood Dale Dist. 7. She has a degree from Bradley University and before that attended Good Counsel High School, Chicago.

Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brycky of Chicago, has a degree from Northern Illinois University and is working on a master's at Loyola University. Meanwhile, he is also employed by Zenith Radio Corp. in the city.

THE COUPLE EXCHANGED vows and rings at 5:30 in the afternoon of June 26 in Queen of the Rosary Church in Elk Grove. The Rev. William G. Smith of Princeville, Ill., officiated.

Mary Ann chose a gown of white silk organza trimmed with Austrian lace at the Empire waist and on the A-line skirt. The lace was accented with a floral pattern of tiny pearls. The gown, with its round neckline, long sleeves and cathedral train, was made by a friend of the bride. With it, she wore a double veil, one in cathedral length and the other fingertip, which was embellished with small motifs of the lace. Her bouquet was centered with a white orchid and surrounded with white roses, lilies of the valley and greens.

Her attendants wore yellow voile gowns, the bodice of pure yellow and the skirt in a yellow and white butterfly print. The girls carried baskets of yellow daisies and white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Przytula

MARY ANN'S college roommate, Susan Miller of Chicago, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids included her two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Richard Scesniak of Kent, Ohio, and Mrs. Thomas Scesniak of Oak Park; and two of her cousins, Debra Scesniak, North Little Rock, Ark., and Janet Ceh, Berkeley, Ill.

The groom's cousin, Fred Krakowiak of Chicago, was best man. Guests were seated by the bride's brothers, Richard and Thomas Scesniak; Jack Law, Alsip, Ill.; and Jerome Refacz, Palos Hills, Ill.

Also in the bridal procession were the bride's two god-children, Janice Madsen, 7, of Marinette, Wis., and Scott Madsen, 8, of Porterfield, Wis. As flower girl, Janice wore a miniature of the adult attendants. Scott was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue dress and coat ensemble with a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother appeared in sea foam green dress and coat and also had a white orchid.

A reception for the newlyweds took place at Mr. Duke's in Wood Dale, where 250 guests greeted them. They then left for a honeymoon in Hawaii and San Francisco and are living in Addison, Ill.

Mount Prospect Woman Named To Safety Post

The first woman to be appointed to a safety inspection post in the U.S. Department of Labor's new Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) is Mrs. Josephine P. O'Brien, of Mount Prospect, will serve in Chicago as OSHA safety assistant. She will inspect industrial plants throughout Illinois to determine their compliance with federal safety standards established under the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970. The new law went into effect April 28.

Mrs. O'Brien is currently receiving intensive training in Washington to be followed by on-the-job training in Chicago.

Mrs. O'Brien, of 1414 Cypress Drive, has a varied background in federal employment. Most recently she served as an industrial specialist for the Defense Contract Administration Services Region.

IN THIS POST, she surveyed plants to determine their contract capability, assessing their security, safety from fire, in-plant safety measures, and general ability to supply materials.

A native of Philadelphia, Mrs. O'Brien attended Temple University there and Harper College in Palatine. She and her husband, Raymond, a sales official, have six children aged 14-25 and two grandchildren. Mrs. O'Brien is a member of the League of Women Voters and an active bowler.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: I've got a set of white nylon uniforms that have become dingy and a bit yellowish. Surely there's some reliable way to get them white again. — Alison Mathews.

Add a cup of dishwasher detergent and a cup of bleach to a gallon of hot water and soak the uniforms for 30 minutes. Besides nylon, this also works on Orions and cottons. Use a plastic pail, not a metal container. Finally, wring out the clothes, put them through a regular cycle of the washing machine with regular detergent and add a cup of vinegar to the final rinse.

Dear Dorothy: What can be done to discourage starlings from roosting in the large maple in our yard? My walk, sidewalk and drive must be scrubbed daily and are still discolored and unsightly. — L. W. Perry.

Every city hall in the country would like to know the answer to this one. You might try the old home remedy of putting moth crystals in a few nylon stockings and draping them over the branches. Maybe the smell and the simulated snakes might drive them away.

Dear Dorothy: Some time ago I remember a reader wanting to know how to get the scum out of the baby's bottles. In case anyone is interested, I watched a young mother do this so very simply. She soaked them in a solution of hot water and dishwasher detergent, turning once

Birth Notes

Arts Festival Set At Arlington Towers

A wide variety of exhibits by amateur and professional artists, photographers, sculptors and other craftsmen will be featured at the arts festival being held in the Durante Room of the Arlington Park Towers Hotel, Sunday, Aug. 15.

Special guests at the festival will be Ann Sothorn and Ray Raynor, current stars of the production, "Personal Appearance," now playing at the Arlington Park Theatre.

Francois the Clown will entertain with his balloon sculpture and guests will be greeted with a Callopie Serenade. Admission is free to the general public.

Reservations are still being accepted from those desiring to exhibit at the festival and all inquiries should be directed to James Bressler, Arlington Park Towers, 394-2000.

Still Time For Entries In Sunday's Flower Show

Buffalo Grove Garden Club's second annual standard flower show takes place Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's School Hall. Horticulture classes are open to the public, and the entire show will be open to visitors from 1:30 to 6 p.m.

"Everything Is Beautiful" is the title of this year's show. The artistic design section will include an arrangement interpreting the theme, using materials showing a large amount of water; a line arrangement; and one staged before a triptic using decorative wood with fresh plant material.

The table section will feature a buffet table depicting a baby shower, a candlelight supper for four, and a Sunday brunch.

THE HORTICULTURE section will contain over 125 classes of flowers, plants and vegetables.

House plants must be registered and placed Saturday evening between 7 and 9. All other entries must be registered and presented to the placement committee Sunday between 8 and 11; anything later will not be judged.

Exhibitors must have grown their horticulture exhibits themselves and must furnish a clear glass jar or bottle for each. House plants must be the property of the exhibitor and in his possession for at least 90 days. Flowering and fruiting plants, branches and shrubs must be in bloom at time of the show.

Exhibitors are limited to one entry in each class but may enter other classes. All rules and regulations can be obtained by calling Mrs. Dale Stephens, general show chairman, at 537-0362.

Thumbing through an encyclopedia of antiques can be more fun than the housework, and that's how I came upon this alphabetical list of out-of-date, unusual and antique terms. Some of them are quite descriptive of a life style that has changed considerably since the days of our forebears.

For instance, Ale Shoes. These were shoe-shaped containers for heating ale, with a long handle at the heel portion. They were inserted into the fire and were made of iron.

A Boultinge is a hair sieve, made before metal screening devices were in common use, woven of horsehair.

But you've eaten many Codlings and never knew it — this was the old name for green peas.

Did you know that "just a Drop" used to be a real liquid measurement? It's one 16th of an ounce.

Election Coffee — this was used by the Democratic party (my encyclopedia may be written by a Republican) as a vote getter in the old days. A gold dollar was at the bottom of each cup given away.

Reproductions of Franklin Stoves are still made. The first ones were actually the invention of the French in 1710 and improved upon by Benjamin Franklin.

If you have a 100-year-old home, it may be put together with Gadaails — long, hand-wrought nails.

And possibly your grandmother wore Hair Jewelry, which was made of real human hair (usually from a deceased loved one) woven intricately into brooches, rings and bracelets.

Inch Pins aren't at all what they sound like. They were the delicacy of the pioneers, sweetbreads of the deer.

A Jenny Quick was a pressing iron, first cousin to a sadron.

For K, we have Kissing Bridge. Any covered bridge was so called in the early days, for obvious reasons.

Lion Passant is a mark on the silver, used by the English since the 16th Century. The lion always faces left.

A Macaroni was a fop, or one who adopted fancy dress or uniform. Hence, Yankee Doodle "stuck a feather in his cap and called it macaroni."

A Nunchon is a word that makes a lot of sense. It's the noonday lunch or mid-day bite, and since it's time for mine, I'll leave the second half of my antique alphabet for another column.

If you have a question on antiques or collectibles, please write Grace Carolyn Dahlberg, in care of Paddock Publications, Suburban Living, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

'Round The Corner

The annual Gold Coast Art Fair is Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 13-15.

Although Chicago area artists lead in number, the Gold Coast Fair is also attracting a large number of out-of-town artists including residents of Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and New York, plus 11 other states. Two artists from Toronto will represent Canada, and traveling the farthest is artist Jean-Claude Gaugy of San Francisco, Calif.

Artists will be exhibiting their work in the Rush Street area of Chicago. Admission to the fair is free.

The 1971 beneficiaries of the show will be the Night Pastor program, the DePaul Settlement and Day Nursery and the Near North Montessori School.

Exhibiting from the northwest suburban area are Arlington Heights residents, Lucille E. Anderson, Betsy Harrington, Palanda Graves and George Anderson.

Exhibitors from Mount Prospect are Christi Hansen, Diana Weber, Bernice R. Smith, Arlene Flora Kargacos and Evelyn Mitchell. Donald James Zolan and K. Dawn Butler of Schaumburg will also be in the fair.

The run of "Allie" has been extended for an additional week at Pheasant Run.

The comedy starring David McCallum is being held over through Aug. 15. This changes the dates on the next production, "Poor Richard," starring Richard Basehart. It will run Aug. 17 through Aug. 29.

The Chicago Park District is presenting "The Front Page," a comedy by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, at Theatre on the Lake, Fullerton Parkway and the Outer Drive, next Tuesday through Saturday, Aug. 14. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Admission is $1.50.

Bonsai Exhibit

D. Hill Nursery in Dundee is sponsoring an exhibition of Bonsai trees Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 20-22.

Small evergreens are grown in a handful of soil and are trained to look like full-grown trees. More than 200 Bonsai trees are expected for the exhibit.

Hill's has invited Kaneji Domoto, an authority on the ancient Oriental art-form, to lecture and give demonstrations throughout the three-day event.

Prospect exhibitors may contact Gay Laubach, secretary of the show, 426-3451. The location of the D. Hill Nursery is at the intersection of Routes 31 and 72.

THE PADDOCK BILLBOARD

Awarded Ribbons

At the recent Community Arts League Art Fair in Wheeling, ribbons and a purchase prize were awarded to six artists. For outstanding work in the crafts and sculpture categories, blue ribbons were awarded to Richard Erickson of Palatine for sculpture, Sherri Kenny of Wheeling for filament artistry and Kathy Kiestler of Des Plaines for ceramics. For outstanding work in the drawing, painting and etching categories, the three blue ribbons went to Charles R. Flory of Morton Grove for watercolor; Jeanne Kramer of Des Plaines, also for watercolors; and Milvie Wheeler of Riverwoods for oils. THE PURCHASE award from the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank went to Charles R. Flory. The award was chosen and presented by bank official Marshall Balling. The art fair sponsored by the Community Arts League was held in conjunction with the Bratwurst and Beer Fest presented by the Wheeling Historical Society last weekend.

New Theatrical Group Stages 'After The Fall'

A recently organized community theater group, The Contemporary Players, will be staging Arthur Miller's drama, "After the Fall" tonight and tomorrow at Forest View High School. "After the Fall" was first presented in 1964. It is a portrait of the lovely, tormented Maggie, a character based on Miller's second wife, Marilyn Monroe. However, the play also dips into the character of Quentin, a contemporary man who is struggling desperately to find himself.

In this production which begins at 7:30 p.m. both tonight and Saturday, the part of Quentin is played by Charles Wilde of Mount Prospect, and Maggie is being played by Kathy Dolan of Arlington Heights. QUENTIN's first wife is being played by Laurie Hysell of Mount Prospect and his wife-to-be by Pam Gaudner of Arlington Heights. His mother and father are being portrayed by Margaret Cadle of Arlington Heights and Joe Hammond of Mount Prospect. Quentin's brother is Dean Ennes of Mount Prospect. Guy Di Cara of Arlington Heights plays Lou, a close friend. Other members of the cast include Sue Lubeck, Cindy Dolven, Carolyn Dews, Diane Frantell and John Tofflon. Charles B. Wilde, who formed the theater group, is also directing the premiere production. Tickets, 956-0648.

Park Hosts Band Concert

The eighth of a series of 10 summer concerts by the Palatine Village Band is being presented this evening at the Palatine Hills recreation area. "Music Under the Stars" begins at 8 p.m. The schedule of 10 pop concerts in the park will continue through Aug. 20. The 60-piece concert band under the baton of Rufus E. Bowling, summer director, will feature an evening of current popular music as well as popular music of the past. "Tiger Rag," "Caravan," "Tea for Two," "Theme from Love Story," "High Chaparral" and three numbers from the rock musical, "Hair," will be included in the program. Guest soloist will be Stanley Louiseau, trumpeter, a member of the Chicago Civic Symphony and a performer with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. A GRADUATE OF Butler University and a high school band director, Louiseau will play "Concerto for Trumpet" by Franz Josef Haydn with band accompaniment. Membership is open to area musicians for the remainder of the summer series and for the winter programs. Information is available through Al Isaacs, 359-2818, personnel director.

Electronic Equipment Plays Part Music School Moves With Times

by HELEN HENNESSY

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The settlement house has long been a place of refuge for the poor, the immigrant, the underprivileged child of every race, and so it is usually located in ghetto and slum areas.

"Welcome. Come in," said Harris Danziger, director of the Third Street Music School Settlement, holding the impressive door of the school. Once three red brick townhouses in what was then elegant old New York, the school now stands smack in the middle of the East Village, known far better for its drug addicts than for its serious music.

"This is an interesting street," Danziger said. "Next door we have the New York headquarters of California's notorious Hell's Angels motorcycle gang. But they don't bother us at all.

"Yet right over there," he pointed to a yellowish town house a short distance away, "is the house Adlai Stevenson was born in."

INSIDE THE RAMBLING school there was no formality. Kids of all ages scampered through the building, carrying everything from violins to oboes. The instructors wore bright-colored shirts, some had long hair and beards. But they are indeed professionals. And among some of the recent alumni now making out standing contributions to the world of music are Anthony and Mario di Bonaventura, Jeanette Scovotti, Ray Lev and Samuel Duskin, to name a few.

Third Street was founded in 1895 by Emilie Wagner, a young college graduate, who moved to the East Village and gave piano lessons to neighborhood students for 10 cents if they had it, for nothing if they didn't. It was the first music school settlement in the United States and is now the model for 50 others in such major cities as Cleveland, Chicago, San Francisco, Portland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester, Los Angeles, New Haven, Newark, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C.

"NOTHING IS different but the cast," Danziger said. "Whereas in years past our students came from predominantly Russian, Polish, Italian and German backgrounds, the underprivileged of their day, now 23 per cent of our enrollment is comprised of blacks and Puerto Ricans, today's minority groups.

"In order to communicate, we had to change with the times," he added. "A child who grew up on Verdi or Tchaikovsky at home had little difficulty coping with Mozart and Beethoven. But what of the Now-generation kids whose background is rock, calypso and folk music?"

How did the school get around the problem? Simply by teaching and using rock, calypso and folk music as a major communication vehicle. And they taught these along with Bach, Beethoven and Brahms.

"AT A RECENT student concert," the director said, "the audience heard a selection by Orlando di Lasso, a 15th century composer, and then the chorus suddenly shifted to a song from 'Hair.'"

The school is a labor of love. The fees are nominal and nonexistent if a promising student can't pay.

Some of the greatest names in music have given inspiring support. Over the years, personal counsel and concerts in its behalf have been given by Paderewski, Ernestine Schumann-Heink, Alma Gluck, Albert Spalding and many others. "A good teacher," Danziger said, "is one who learns. We have many such teachers. We learn building on the past, meeting the future."

Their new methods of teaching music prove his point of meeting the future. Preschool children learn to "feel" music in a hand-clapping rhythmic technique. Electronic synthesizers are used as a musical counterpart to clay in art classes.

And television cameras are used as monitors in classrooms, especially in violin classes. The resulting videotapes visually show the student his mistakes.

"IF A STUDENT can't see himself playing the violin," Danziger said, "and you complain about the way he stands or holds the instrument, he simply thinks you're picking on him. But when he can see himself in the camera, he says 'Yorks, did I to THAT?' He learns much more quickly."

The techniques and dedicated teachers of Third Street Music School can be found in its counterparts across the country.

For the children of impoverished areas, it's a wonderful chance to develop their talents and to meet other children with whom they will have a common interest. The streets outside may be less than paradise, but inside the school they can find friends, joy of expression and perhaps the beginning of a profitable career.

Helping Our Adolescents Grow Up

The Causes of Emotional Stress

The teen-ager is being viewed with alarm pretty generally these days. There's all kinds of talk about his bizarre behavior, "rebellion" and waywardness.

How does he get that way? How much do we really understand about the fundamental physical and emotional changes he is undergoing? And what can — or should — parents do to help the boy or girl sail smoothly through this phase?

Of course, countless thousands of adolescents are not rebellious, not wayward, and do not engage in bizarre behavior. But many of these, and many of their less tranquil colleagues, also know too little about just what goes on in their bodies in the period known as puberty.

Q—What is adolescence?

A—The process of maturation — in other words, of growing up — both physiologically and emotionally. It should be viewed as a phase rather than as an event.

Q—When does adolescence normally begin?

A—The range of adolescence is most variable. Generally, most girls start adolescent development about two years earlier than boys; the average age of onset is 12 years for girls and 14 for boys. However, perfectly normal young people may start to manifest adolescent changes several years before the average, or several years after the average. Neither variation means that the youngster is abnormal physically, sexually, mentally, emotionally or socially, and it is extremely important that both the young person and the parents understand this. Undue emphasis on conforming to a non-existent "normal" standard can create unnecessary anxiety among parents and can damage the teenager's image of himself.

Q—What causes the physical changes that occur during adolescence?

A—They are intimately related to the glands of internal secretion (endocrine glands). The pituitary gland secretes hormones which stimulate the gonads or sex glands — that is, the ovaries in girls and the testes in boys. The gonads in turn secrete sex hormones which bring about bodily changes.

Q—What changes take place in the boy?

A—There is a spurt of overall growth, an increase in the size of the sex organs, increased muscularity of the legs, and appearance of hair in the pubic areas, armpits and on the face. There is also marked deepening of the voice. Sexual fertility usually does not appear in the boy until most of the other changes are complete.

Q—What changes take place in the girl?

A—Perhaps the significant change is the occurrence of the first menstrual period. There will be some slimming at the waistline and lilling out at the hips, and development of the breasts. Like the boy, the girl experiences a growth spurt during this phase, but it terminates in about two years, while the boy continues to grow until he is about 21. The girl also develops hair in the pubic areas and armpits, and her voice deepens somewhat to a more adult timbre.

Q—What causes acne in adolescents?

A—It is triggered by the hormonal activity which is involved in the entire maturation process. Hormonal stimulus results in enlargement of the oil glands of the skin, and sometimes the openings of the glands are inadequate to carry off the increased secretion. This results in inflammation and sometimes a secondary infection which can cause scarring. The lesions are unsightly and cause the child considerable distress. Acne is usually aggravated by emotional tension and by improper diet.

Q—Is acne a serious disorder?

A—In almost all cases, acne clears up after adolescence without causing physical damage except, sometimes, the possibly permanent scarring, a risk that can be reduced by proper treatment. However, the disorder can cause a great deal of emotional damage, since it blights the appearance of young people at a time when they are particularly concerned with how they look. Some are so distressed that they become withdrawn, and deny themselves the normal social development they should be experiencing. This, surely is a compelling reason why parents should send the youngster to the doctor for treatment.

Q—How can acne be treated?

A—One of the most important steps is to pay careful attention to diet, avoiding all rich and fatty foods. Vitamins A, B-complex and C can also help. The doctor can treat plugged oil glands and or infection and thus help reduce the risk of scarring. If scarring does occur, corrective surgery can produce excellent results.

Q—Why is obesity a problem among adolescents?

A—There are a number of reasons. Often the child whose mother has encouraged him to be big and fat in early childhood has acquired the habit of eating more food than he needs. In other cases, the teenager overeats because this type of indulgence is part of his social life, and he is strongly inclined to follow the activities of his peers. Some adolescents eat endlessly to offset the feelings of tension and insecurity which may plague them.

Q—How can teenagers be helped to escape obesity?

A—Primarily, of course, the diet should be properly balanced — a prudent combination of protein and carbohydrates, limited fat, abundant fruit and vegetables. Almost all the things which teenagers indulge in at snack time are not only fattening, but contribute to acne: milk shakes, ice cream, chocolate, candy, nuts, hamburgers, hot dogs, french fries, potato chips and pastries. They ought to be fully aware that if they persist in this they are inviting the very obesity and skin problems they would like to avoid. The child himself should bear the responsibility in limiting his diet.

Q—Is smoking a health hazard for adolescents?

A—Of course it is, even though most of the health problems blamed on smoking may not show up for a good many years. However, since most habitual smokers start during adolescence and then find the habit extremely hard to break, the only sound attitude, in terms of the long-term health of the young person, is never to start smoking. It might be pointed out that most adolescents who smoke come from homes in which one or both parents smoke. Further, children are being encouraged by the very persuasive advertisements which emphasize the adult quality of smoking, and the nonchalance which this is supposed to symbolize. Adolescents are likely to look upon smoking as something that emphasizes their adult status.

Q—What underlies the emotional turmoil associated with adolescence?

A—Perhaps one of the most prevalent elements is the adolescent's inner conflict over many matters, including the fact that he is in transition from the child he no longer is to the adult he is yet to become. He wants the best of both worlds — the world of independence in which he can make his own plans and can behave as a grownup, and the world of dependence in which all of his material and emotional needs are met by solicitous and ever-present parents. It is not abnormal for adolescents to feel very intensely about many things — himself, his friends, his family — and for those feelings to shift abruptly from day to day.

Q—Why are some adolescents hostile toward their parents?

A—This hostility often reflects the teenager's uneasiness as he prepares for adulthood. Eager though he is to be on his own, he has misgivings about the pending separation from his home and family. One way in which he seeks to make this separation tolerable is to take the "sour grapes" attitude that the home he is leaving is old-fashioned or shabby, and that his parents are of another generation with no understanding of his feelings.

Q—Are adolescents ready for sexual activity?

A—Biologically, this is time in which their sexual drives (at least for the males) is at its peak. But in terms of social standards, as well as economic and emotional realities, teenagers are not ready for the consequences of that drive, in marriage or parenthood. It is this conflict which plays a significant part in the emotional tensions of adolescence.

Q—Why are some teenagers sexually precocious?

A—It is little wonder. Children are often taught through very early years to become sexually more provocative; in adolescence, they are given strong motivation to stop being children and to be aware of their sexual identities. Girls are expected to abandon tomboy habits and to cultivate femininity; which often means clothes, cosmetics and hair styles explicitly aimed at sexual stimulation. Sometimes parents seem to goad their youngsters in the competition for popularity — a battle which often leads them to overt sexual acts.

Q—Should dating be permitted?

A—Yes, because it permits the teenager to develop adult behavioral traits, and to become accustomed to association with the opposite sex short of the point of sexual intimacy. The child who does not develop friendships with those of the opposite sex is most unfortunate. However, the early process of "going steady" and limiting all forms of social contact to a single partner limits the child in his social development and his later selection of a marriage partner.

Q—What about sex education for teenagers?

A—This should start long before adolescence. If the parents have not been perfectly frank and informative with their young children, they may well find that by the time they are adolescent they have acquired their sex information elsewhere, sometimes from actual sexual experience. Parents who are uncomfortable discussing sex with their children should examine their own attitudes to determine whether they are completely mature or whether they themselves have lingering adolescent doubts, fears and guilt. To an increasing extent, schools are developing good programs of family life education, through which trained persons can help parents and teenagers work together to develop informed and constructive attitudes toward sex.

Q—How can parents cope with rebellious adolescents?

A—It's not easy to be parents, with the difficult task of encouraging the adolescent's emotional growth and development, being understanding and controlling their own feelings at the same time. If they can manage to muffle their injured feelings, yet stick by their convictions and values, the family outlook will be improved.

The youngster is all too vulnerable to feelings of guilt about what he says and does to his parents, and if feelings get out of control on both sides, the relationship may be permanently damaged. Many parents find that the most successful strategy is to apply the light touch in dealing with their teenagers, handling situations with humor that is neither derisive nor defensive. Love, a sense of concern, and responsibility can help the entire family weather the crisis of adolescence.

Shamed Soldiers Also Casualties

by TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Thomas Thompson, 21 years old, has just returned from the war in Vietnam as an uncounted casualty who has a wound that can't be seen.

He has been kicked out of the Army. What he did was break the rules. As a front-line combat soldier, early this year, he became depressed to the point of not thinking and not caring. He felt it was wrong for him to be fighting while others like him, back home, were not. He felt he was being picked on, not only by the military in general, but by his own unit in particular. So he went AWOL, for six weeks, to brood.

He didn't hurt anyone. He didn't steal anything. But he erred too seriously for the Army to forgive. And he was "gotten rid of" for good of the service.

"U D."

Undesirable discharge.

And so now, for him, the world is made of ice. "I keep moving, but I don't get nowhere." He has become somebody for the local police to keep their eyes on. He is not officially eligible for any of the federally "guaranteed" benefits for veterans. And whenever he tries to get a job, as he says he does every day, the foreman looks at his papers, head shaking, and says in a tone that would freeze Florida: "Sorry, we don't have anything available for your kind."

UNDERSTANDABLY, Thomas Thompson is again depressed. But this time, perhaps, with more justification. "I don't like all this talk about my 'kind,'" he says. "I did wrong, maybe, but that don't mean I'm any 'kind' like a crook or something."

He's right of course. If fairness is the criterion, Thompson's "kind" should not be readily labeled. The public idea that anything other than an "honorable" military discharge is contemptible is inaccurate and, often, damaging.

Last year, according to the Department of Defense, 1,156,558 men were discharged from military duty. Of these, 54,502 were released under conditions "other than honorable." This doesn't mean, however, they were all creepy crawlers.

The services have five forms of discharge. Honorable, general, undesirable, bad conduct and dishonorable. Only the latter pair are punitive; they usually involve felonious wrongdoing and comprise only a tiny minority (4,049 last year) of all military releases. The other discharges are all administrative. This means they are nonjudicial, or catch-all. Ergo, a man can be released on the general or undesirable clause for such "offenses" as being a homosexual, taking part in political activism, or, as is by now well known, smoking marijuana.

THUS IT SHOULD be clear that a man with a less than honorable discharge isn't necessarily a baddie.

As it is, however, much of the public feels otherwise. It is no secret that a "shamed soldier" has an uphill time of it in the nation. Employers often withhold jobs because "we don't want anybody the Army doesn't want." Landlords hesitate to rent living quarters for the same reason. Depending on the severity of his discharge reason, a drummed-out soldier is not classified as a veteran by the Veterans Administration, is not eligible for disability benefits from the military, will not be accepted for membership in most civic-fraternal organizations, and in the overall is effectively locked out from any sympathetic public sentiment.

"I'll tell you how bad it is for me," says a sad-faced Thompson. "I ain't even had the guts to tell my dad about the discharge yet. Like, he was in World War II, and that kind of thing. If he knew about me, he'd kick me out of the house."

As harsh and (often) unjustified as the public attitude is toward men like Thompson, it is not likely to change anytime soon. Oh, there is some movement for fairness: Some few men within the Veterans Administration are quietly working toward relaxation of the VA ban against shamed soldiers, and new rules are being written to help men discharged from service for narcotics involvement.

BUT IN THE main the public's hard attitude remains stiff. With all the current congressional interest in veterans, for instance, there is no hint of extending any rights to vets with black discharges. Says an aide to Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Calif.): "The public wouldn't stand still for it. Neither would the veterans groups. The idea prevails that if a man can't get clean marks in service, he doesn't deserve help."

Therefore, back to Thomas Thompson, at age 21 a man on the outside of opportunity. He doesn't deserve help? He's a former soldier who in many instances of combat, gave the nation the best he could give. He's a young man who before he entered the Army was never in any serious trouble. He's a worried human being who wants to get married, to get a job and live in some security. Granted he made a mistake. But it still will be cruel, if usual, to condemn him for it forever.

THE SOLDIER COMES HOME

A DUSTY COMPLAINT

Dear Sirs:

I just came from the shower after washing a ton of dust off my body and I'm still incensed about the Recreation Park field. Why wasn't it watered down (for Sunday's finals of the Legion Ninth District playoff tournament)?

Our family came directly from church to see the big double-header, and five hours later, we were almost covered with park district topsoil.

I was told that the Arlington Heights team had a groundskeeper. Why didn't he prepare the field properly? Surely the park district could have found the means for watering down the diamond for such a big pair of games.

I'm almost tempted to send the cleaning bill to the park district or to the groundskeeper. Now I know how the moon men feel after walking around in the lunar dust.

Name Withheld by Request

Arlington does have a groundskeeper. I asked him why the dust wasn't watered down and he told me that there isn't a hose available to do the job. Everybody ate dust that day because the wind was blowing in. I agree that it was a disgrace for such a big pair of games. Maybe next year the park district could work something out with the fire department so that the field won't soil any more dresses.

LIONS NOT REWARDED?

Dear Sirs:

I was one of those who followed with great interest the American Legion (Ninth District) playoff tournament.

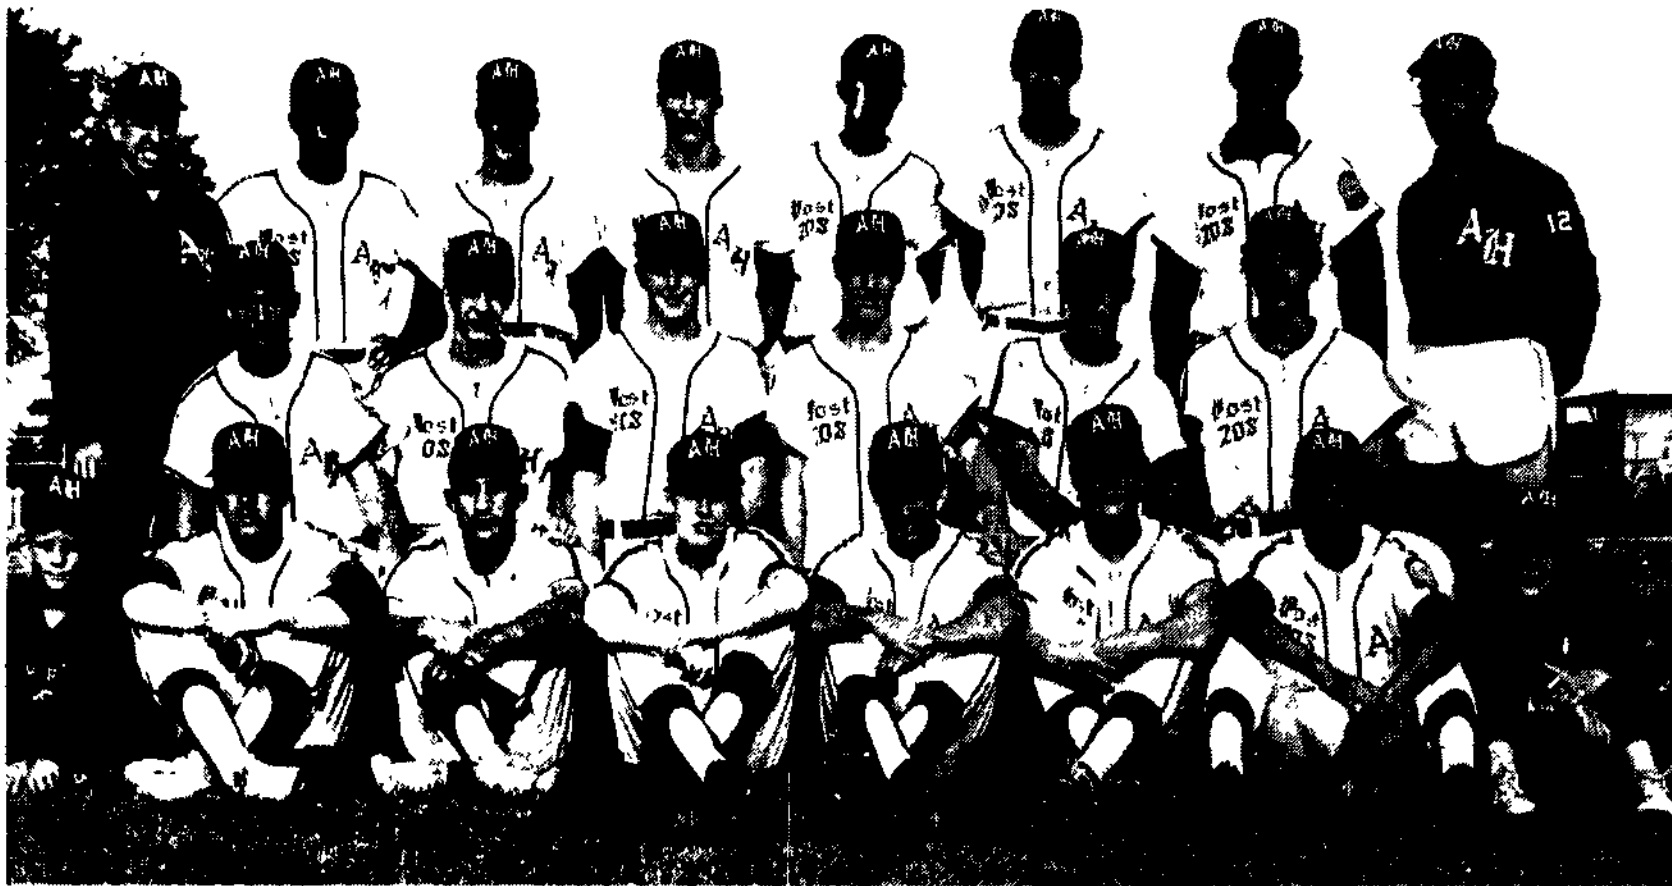

Arlington pulled out a couple of exciting games to win, but I still feel the Logan Square Lions were the best team in the league and deserved to go to the County playoffs. They proved it over 18 games with their 16-2 record, while Arlington only had to win four games to advance.

I don't want to take anything away from Arlington because they are a good team. But it does not seem fair to the Lions not to get any reward after playing great ball for two months. Why isn't the league winner sent to the Counties? Or why don't they get a playoff against the tournament winner?

J. R. Arlington Heights

The same questions have been brought up in past years, as they were again this year. They sound like something that should be examined in a column. Watch for it in these pages next Tuesday. In the meantime, we feel the entire league should be behind Arlington through the current County tournament. They earned their victory by the method agreed upon by the league before the season. And they beat the Lions head-to-head when it counted.

team that finished first in the regular season, 9-8 at Recreation Park. Sitting, from left, are bat boy Bob Whisler, Bob Leja, Bruce Frase, Gene Elsborg, Chuck Dillon, Jeff Chase, Gabino Galindo and bat boy Dick Duell. Second row: Bob Fitzgerald, Bob

Kickin' It Around

BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

THIS ISN'T GOING to be easy.

I spent three weeks away from the typewriter, away from sports, and now I'm supposed to write a column.

Where do you start? What's been going on? Who's on first?

I didn't look at a newspaper while relaxing on the beaches of Martha's Vineyard. I didn't listen to any sports reports on the radio.

I know it must boggle the mind, but a person can live without daily reports on the White Sox and Cubs, and live very nicely thank you. The peace and quiet is delightful.

I picked up a paper last weekend and found I hadn't missed much. The Cubs are still on their roller-coaster ride and the White Sox continue to prove they can lose momentum faster than any team in baseball.

Nothing has changed in Chicago, but the big weekend news came from Arlington Heights and San Francisco. It was surprising news.

I shouldn't really be surprised that Arlington won the Ninth District American Legion tourney and advanced to the Cook County finals. I've lived around here too long to ever underestimate a team coached by Lloyd Meyer in any tournament.

This guy works wonders with his teams, but the challenge appeared too in the season. San Francisco has Willie McCovey at first base and Willie has knee problems, but Willie Mays and a newcomer named Ed Goodson had filled in very capably.

When I returned I expected to find Greg Luzinski up with the Phillies, joining Fritz Peterson and Paul Spittorff as area products in the major leagues. But Luzinski has Deron Johnson standing in his way, and Johnson just doesn't slow down. Deron could be the key man in the big Phillies trade in the winter months, but right now Luzinski will just have to wait despite another fine minor league year.

Kingman, meanwhile, went on a batting surge in July and on the last Friday of the month the Giants recalled him as they carefully examined their position in the race and their depth at first base. Dave had 26 homers and 99 runs-batted-in for Phoenix in about 110 games, figures that even Willie Stargell would have to applaud.

Stargell was around to watch Kingman over the weekend.

Dave's grand slam homer his first major league four-bagger, keyed a seven-run rally as San Francisco belted Pittsburgh, 15-11. Dave wasn't through. He blasted a pair of two-run homers, powering the Giants to an 8-3 second game win over the Pirates on Sunday.

Three homers and nine runs batted in. Not a bad weekend's work. Even Willie Mays must have been impressed. Willie McCovey must be worried, or at least mildly concerned.

The Giants aren't surprised. They did make Dave their first pick in the 1970 free agent draft. He's been a pro just a little more than a year, but he hit 15 homers in 60 games last summer in Class A ranks to excite San Francisco officials.

"He's one of the strongest men I've ever seen," said Phoenix General Manager Rosy Ryan. "He has a chance of becoming one of the game's great sluggers."

I'll never forget the way Kingman's college coach Rod Dedeaux talked when Dave was slamming the ball for the University of Southern California.

"Dave has wanted to be a pitcher all his life and he was hesitant about moving," the USC coach said. "But I told him he has a chance to be a great one—I mean somebody like Musial or Mays or Aaron — and he changed. He may have more potential than any hitter I've coached."

Musial, Mays and Aaron. When somebody puts you in that category, you have to be flattered.

Making his home run total in the Pacific Coast League even more impressive was the fact that his home park is one of the largest anywhere with dimensions of 369 down the foul lines, 412 in the power alley and 430 to center.

What if Kingman had a chance to show his stuff in Chicago's cozy Wrigley Field?

He gets that chance this weekend when the Giants visit the Cubs. Let's hope San Francisco's Charlie Fox puts his young slugger on display before the hometown fans.

I guess I didn't miss much on vacation.

It's my first week back and Arlington Heights is involved in the Cook County American Legion finals and Dave Kingman is coming to town with the San Francisco Giants.

It looks like the fun this summer is just beginning.

Arlington Splits; Handles Cicero, Falls To Wilmette In County Play

Arlington Heights took care of the defending champs but couldn't handle Wilmette yesterday in the opening round of the Cook County American Legion baseball tournament.

Coach Lloyd Meyer's Merle Guild Post 208 topped highly regarded Cicero in the morning opener, 3-1, but fell to slugging Wilmette, 12-3, in an afternoon contest in the tourney action at Argo High School in Summit.

Arlington is now faced with a win or else situation in the County finals. Faced with elimination with one more loss, Heights will return to action Saturday at 1:30 p.m. against the winner of the Cicero-Thornton game.

Wilmette worked over Arlington starter Bob Leja and relief pitcher Jim Hopkins in the second contest yesterday with only Dave Lundstedt experiencing any mound success in a game that featured 22 hits, many of the extra-base variety.

Wilmette opened the scoring in the first inning but Heights bounced back to tie the count on a two-out triple by Mark Leonhard and a bad throw. Arlington had two runners on in the first inning and Lundstedt tripled with one out in the second, but they couldn't push anything across.

Steve Sholl, who had four hits in the game, rocked a grand slam homer in the fourth following an error and two walks, and Wilmette had a comfortable 5-1 lead.

Meyer's crew added singletons in the fourth on a triple by Jim Bokelmann and single by Jim Locascio and in the fifth on Leja's double and a hit by Bruce Frase. They had trouble mounting any attack over the final four frames although they did load the bases in the eighth.

Wilmette rapped five hits good for five more runs in the seventh and a double and triple figure in a two-run eighth.

Leja went 6 1/3 innings for Arlington and yielded nine hits. He walked four and fanned seven. Hopkins followed and Lundstedt worked the final 1-2/3 innings.

Leonhard and Frase each had two hits for Arlington.

Score by innings:

Wilmette	.....	001	400	528	—12-14-2
Arlington	.....	001	110	000	—3-8-1

In the Cook County opener yesterday Arlington marched into a lead it never relinquished in the first inning against always-powerful Cicero, the defending champ.

With one out Steve Koch walked and moved to second on an error. Bruce Frase slapped a single that sent Koch across with the first run.

Post 208 added another marker in the third and once again Koch started things off when he reached on an error. He moved ahead on a wild pitch and when Mark Leonhard's drive was mis-played into a double, there were runners on second and third.

Winning pitcher Jim Bokelmann drove Koch across with a sacrifice fly, a play which Cicero bitterly contested after a throw to third had caught the runner coming down. Cicero argued that the third out had been made before the runner crossed the plate.

In the fourth Arlington kept pecking away at Cicero's starting pitcher Bob Arkema. Leja walked with no outs, Jim Locascio also walked, and Leja moved around on an error when a throw to third on a routine fly got past the third baseman.

That was the extent of the Heights offense in this tourney opener although it was more than enough. A single by Locascio in the ninth was the only other hit.

Bokelmann got out of several jams in pitching the victory, his second over Cicero this summer. Jim yielded seven hits and struck out eight while walking four.

The fast-balling Arlington right-hander got out of his most serious jam in the seventh when Cicero put runners on first and third with no outs. Jim got the next hitter on a pop up and then a grounder and another pop killed the threat.

Cicero had runners on first and third in the fourth with one out but two pops ended the excitement, and the defending champs were thwarted again in the sixth when a nifty relay from Koch to Frase cut down a runner at the plate.

Cicero finally counted in the eighth following back-to-back singles. A relay on an attempted double play sailed past first and the run scored. But once again Bokelmann escaped without any additional problems.

Jim yielded a walk with two outs in the ninth but was equal to the task once again in nailing down a very important victory.

great this time. Superb Logan Square and streaking Palatine stood in the way, two powerful clubs with impressive credentials.

Arlington survived, adding yet another remarkable chapter to their amazing success story over the years in American Legion baseball. So much for that surprise.

"Rookie Slams As Giants Beat Pirates 15-11."

That was the next fascinating piece of news on my first weekend home in three weeks.

The headline itself didn't reveal the name of this rookie, but you didn't have to read very far in the wire service account.

"Rookie Dave Kingman's grand slam home run and..."

There it was. Dave Kingman. Yes, the Dave Kingman who played at Prospect High School and with the Arlington Legion team, the Dave Kingman who was more noted for his pitching talents as a prep but who also walloped many prodigious blasts they still talk about at Prospect.

Before I left in early July I knew Kingman was having a decent year with Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League, not hitting for the great average but delivering the long shots and driving home the runs. He obviously was just warming up.

I never expected him to make the climb so quickly, particularly to a pace-setting club with two months remaining

THOMAS OUT OF LINE

Dear Sir:
I think they ought to throw Duane Thomas out of football.

He wanted to break a contract with the Dallas Cowboys but the Cowboys said they wouldn't and instead traded him to the Patriots. Now Thomas has walked out of the Patriots' training camp.

I always thought that a contract — a multi-year contract in Thomas' case — should be binding. If the Dallas organization would have broken the contract, you sure would have heard Thomas crying about it. But Thomas thinks that it is all right for him to break the contract.

If Thomas doesn't like the way the NFL runs things, he should get out of football.

Terry Wyatt
Hanover Park

We couldn't agree with you more. If Thomas had any amount of confidence in his ability to do well in his rookie season, he should have insisted on a larger contract before he signed out of college. But he did sign that multi-year contract and Pete Rozelle should make him stick to it.

In our opinion, Rozelle, in being fair to the Patriots, should kill the trade between Dallas and New England if Thomas does not report to camp. Also, Rozelle should blackball Thomas from the NFL if he does not play by the contract rules.

3rd Straight Week 2 Teams Tied In Friday League

For the third consecutive Friday the two leading contenders in the Friday Night League at Arlington Country Club have ended play deadlocked in first place.

Despite being position night in last week's play which pitted the two contenders head-to-head, Paul's Jewels and Acacia Park Auto still played to a 3½-3½.

Plans are being made to have the teams match cards at the end of tonight's play to decide who will represent the league in the Paddock Inter-League Handicap Golf Tournament.

If by matching card the teams are still tied, a coin toss will decide the league representative.

In other league action, third-place Arlington Bank edged by Don Russ Insurance, 4-3; Team No. 2 beat Joy-Di, 4½-1½; Park Ridge Auto won over Don Ashton Mason Contractors, 4-3; Schaeffer Auto defeated L-Nor Cleaners, 6-1; and Sylvia's Flowers beat Jayar Hoag Chemical, 6-1.

Low gross honors went to Tolo Silva who carded a 37 and low net honors went to Dennis Faron who shot a 54-24-30.

Birdies were carded by Bob Reno on the par 5 13th, by Les Hostetler on the par 4 14th, John Hansen on the par 3 16th and Silva on the par 4 17th.

Inverness Tourney Site

The 36th Junior Open Championship of the Chicago District Golf Association will get underway at Inverness golf club in Palatine on Monday when 162 amateurs between the ages of 14 and 21 begin a 54 hole contest for the Walter G. Leininger trophy.

The entire field will play 18 holes on Monday and Tuesday (Aug. 9 & 10). On Wednesday (Aug. 11) the low 60 scorers and ties compete for the championship. Inverness golf club measures 6478 yards with a par of 35-37-72.

Area players in the field are Joseph Castrogiovanni of Hanover Park, Harry Kramer of Palatine, Mario Vitale of Prospect Heights, Scott Anderson of Arlington Heights, Brian Brown of Palatine, and Ken Mattini of Wheeling.

Junior Bowling Booms

Membership in the American Junior Bowling Congress reached a milestone this week when the 600,000th youngster participating in the program this season was registered.

The junior program has nearly doubled since the American Bowling Congress and Women's International Bowling Congress took over joint financial and administrative responsibilities seven years ago. AJBC developed out of a high school league formed in Chicago in 1936 by Milton Raymer, a teacher at Tilden Tech. and later the AJBC executive secretary. It became a National Bowling Council project in 1946 and continued under NBC guidance through the 1963-64 season when the membership was 313,848. Participation has increased each year since then, with 535,277 being last year's peak.

AJBC is administered from ABC's national headquarters in Milwaukee under the direction of a board of ABC and WIBC officials. President of the board is Mrs. Alberta E. Crowe, who also is president of WIBC.

Versatile Lucas

Jerry Lucas, coming from San Francisco to New York in the NBA, brings along a unique talent. Besides being able, instantaneously, to unscramble the letters of any word into their proper alphabetical sequence (a talent he demonstrated on the Johnny Carson show), big Jerry's a card trick magician with photographic memory. He figures it'll take him the next six months to memorize the first 52 phone numbers (one for each card in a deck) of the New York city phone book! . . . He was already one-fourth through the San Mateo phone book when he left . . .

Hold That Plate

Dave Roberts, San Diego pitcher, when being approached by catcher Bob Barton after walking two consecutive batters: "There's nothing wrong with my control. It's the plate that's moving. Put your feet on it and hold it still."

Handsome Pensions

The National Football League Players' Association hasn't done a bad job on its pension fund in the short time it has been involved with the owners. At age 55, a former pro grinder with five years of service gets $465 a month and at 15 years he gets $1,090 a month. The baseball pension plan starts earlier. A four-year man gets $240 at age 50 and $339.45 at age 55. A 15-year-man in baseball gets $700 at age 50 and $950.61 at 55.

Agnew An Angel?

The California Angels have invited Vice President Spiro Agnew to throw out the first ball at one of their upcoming games but they were prudent in choosing the date. It will be helmet night and all fans will be protected from any errant Agnew tosses by plastic souvenir batting helmets.

Race For 2nd Place In VFW Golf League

With only four more weeks of play remaining in the Arlington V.F.W. Golf League, it is beginning to look like five teams will be battling for second and third place as Drake Decorating strengthened their hold on first place with a one sided 19-5 win over Nebel Insurance.

Kolman Plumbing faltered Monday night by losing to Convenient Foods 20-4 but managed to stay in a tie for second place with Cake Box team who in turn split their match 12-12 in competition with Village Pipe and Cigar.

Wayne Rolfs and George Hanke fired one over par 37s to share low gross while Hanke's team partner Leo Larson with a round of 42-13-29 and Bud Erickson's 47-18-29 easily captured low net honors.

Arlington Sweeps Past Downers Grove Netmen

Downers Grove was no match for the Arlington Tennis Club in recent action in the Northwest Suburban Tennis League.

Arlington swept to four shutout victories of 5-0 on every level, thus not losing any of the 20 matches.

In Men's A action, Barry Magee won a 6-1, 6-3 victory at No. 1; Lothar Peistrup was a 6-4, 6-2 winner at No. 2; Jack Lafey won the third match 6-3, 6-2 and Doug Tollman was the fourth singles winner, 6-3, 7-5.

The doubles team of Magee and Peistrup was pushed to a rare three-setter before finally prevailing 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

The Men's B team won every match in two sets. Ed Heffern won at the first spot 6-2, 6-1; Greg Harris was No. 2 winner, 6-2, 6-0; Dick Ackermann took the No. 3 contest, 6-3, 7-6 and Mel Haycraft downed his foe in the fourth match, 6-3, 6-3.

The Juniors took the first three singles matches by lopsided scores with only one point being allowed. Jim Merkel racked up a 6-0, 6-0 shutout at No. 1; Don Rodig whitewashed his opponent by the same score at No. 2; Bob Blomquist was a 6-0, 6-1 winner in the third contest and Bob Stubing outlasted his man at No. 4, 10-9, 7-6. The doubles team won by default.

In women's competition, Clara O'Connor took the first duel 6-3, 7-5; Noni Adashek was No. 2 winner, 6-3, 6-0; Gretchen Lewis won at No. 3, 7-5, 6-2 and Karen Zmrhal was the fourth victor, 6-1, 6-1. The doubles unit of Lynn Schwabe and Ginger Loughman took a 6-1, 7-6 victory.

Milton Richman

NEW YORK (UPI) — It has been 20 years since Joe DiMaggio peeled off his blue pin stripes for the last time and called it quits but that doesn't seem to matter.

That same old magic is still there. Everywhere he goes, people mob him.

Nobody is asked for his autograph more than Joe DiMaggio. That takes in anybody you care to name — in sports, politics or the theater. Everybody wants the signature of baseball's "greatest living player."

Regardless where he ventures, Joe D. instantly is recognized by young and old alike and as soon as he is, somebody invariably asks him for his autograph. All it takes is one. That does it. That's the signal. Then everybody else rushes up and the patient DiMaggio simply stands there and signs . . . and signs . . . and signs . . . and signs some more.

There is no reason for Mrs. Robinson ever to worry her little head about Joe DiMaggio.

He has not gone away. Not by any means. He's more popular and in greater demand today, if possible, than he was in his heyday with the New York Yankees 30 years ago.

Joe DiMaggio is 56, nearly completely gray now and more distinguished looking than ever. He's public relations consultant for Hughes Sports Network and a perfect example of his personal magnetism was his appearance at Monmouth Park race track one day last week.

He was at the Monmouth, N.J., track for the Joe DiMaggio Purse at the end of which he was supposed to present a trophy to the winning owner.

As he got ready to do so, some of the patrons at the track caught sight of him. Goodbye.

"He was mobbed by so many people on his way down from the grandstand to the winner's circle he almost didn't make it," says a friend who was with him. Joe Nachio, former President of the Panama Winter League.

"He couldn't move," Nachio says. "The people wouldn't let him. They all wanted his autograph. The track officials pleaded with the people to quit asking him for his signature so he could go on downstairs but nobody paid any attention. And as long as the people kept asking, he kept signing. You know how he is. He can't say no to anybody. I know him 25 years and he hasn't changed at all. I always say to him 'you don't live your own life, you live everybody else's.' He does. He's always doing something for somebody else."

Joe Nachio recalls a trip he and DiMaggio made to Nicaragua a couple of years ago. DiMag was asked to throw out the first ball for the Nicaraguan baseball season and while there he was invited to do some fishing in the interior about 80 miles away.

"It was wild and very primitive," Nachio says about the place they went to. "We took an airplane which landed in a pasture. From there we had to drive 20 miles over dirt roads. Most of the natives we saw en route also were primitive. But they recognized Joe. From inside their bamboo huts, straw-thatched dwellings and mud buildings they kept calling out 'Joe DiMaggio! Joe DiMaggio!' I never saw or heard anything like it in my life."

Actually it wasn't a whole lot different when DiMaggio showed up at Shea Stadium to participate in the Mets' Old-Timers Game.

He tried ducking through a side door but it was no use. He was immediately recognized by two kids whose eyes grew big as balloons and in no time flat there were 35 others around sticking a scorecard, a piece of paper, a baseball, anything, under his nose for him to sign.

"I've never seen him lose his equanimity or his cool," said his friend, Joe Nachio, who was waiting for him. "Even when he isn't feeling well he'll stop to sign an autograph or shake hands."

DiMaggio finally got inside the park. He was perfectly calm and all the commotion was there although he fished some antacid wafers out of his pocket and said:

"I guess I'd better take one of these." Tom Morgan, the ex-Yankee pitcher who was a teammate of DiMag's, also was at Shea Stadium Saturday and remembered how it was 20 years ago.

"It was almost impossible for Joe to leave the park after a ball game," he said. "He'd wait around the clubhouse three hours and there'd still be 100 fans waiting for him when he came out. They'd all want his autograph."

Morgan, who scouts for the Yankees now, laughed.

"I can't really blame them," he said. "I've got his autograph back home myself."

ARE YOU IN THE MARKET FOR A HARDTOP?

Every Volvo has six steel pillars supporting the roof. Each one is strong enough to hold up the weight of the entire car.

Of course, this kind of strength isn't built into a Volvo just so it will hold up a lot of cars.

The Volvos we sell are built strong so they'll hold up a lot of years.

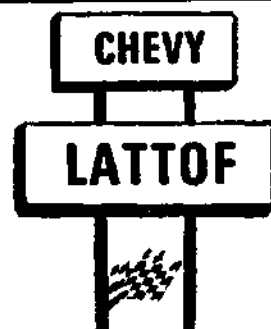

Exactly how many we can't guarantee. But we do know that in Sweden Volvos are driven an average of eleven years.

So come in, look at our Volvos and decide if you're honestly in the market for a hardtop. Or if what you really want is a hard top.

Haines Red-Hot, Fires Low Gross, Net Scores

Len Haines Jr. recorded both low gross of 34 and low net of 30 over the par-35 front nine at Thunderbird Country Club in the Arlington Heights Twilight Golf League last week.

Don Hodges fired an eagle to finish up his round on the 440-yard par-four ninth hole. His second shot carried 180 yards across a lake.

There were also nine birdies by nine different golfers — John Andrup, Chuck Staadt, George Blaaz, Haines, Cecil Jamison, Fred Grant, Jack Leslie, Tom Douglas and John Coffey.

City Welding continues to lead the 12-team alignment by a comfortable 17 1/2-point margin over Control Equipment. The Welders earned a spot in the 30-plus team Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap Tournament Aug. 15 at Buffalo Grove Golf Club.

Leaders in each flight and their point totals are: No. 1, Andrup (87 points), No. 2, Ted Binzel (83 1/2), No. 3, Hank Styczkowski (77), No. 4, Coffey (84), No. 5, Grant (86 1/2), alternates, Bill Turner (80 1/2).

'Palmer' Sponsored Team Tops Mt. Prospect League

With a sponsor like Arnold Palmer Cleaning Center backing you, it's no wonder that team No. 11 is leading the Mount Prospect Monday Night League.

The Arnold Palmer team has 79 points compared to second-place Winkelmans' Shell Service with 77. Pickett Paint is right behind with 75 1/2.

Gene Goodman paced the low gross shooters with a 40. He was helped to the fine round by birdies on No. 13 and 17. Also recording birdies were Dick Koci on No. 5, Carl Lenz and Larry Springer on No. 11, Dick Brastad on No. 12 and Bob Kramer on No. 15.

Bill Quirk was the low net winner with 45-18-29.

It's Still Run, Run, Run, For Jack Bastable

JACK BASTABLE, former Wheeling High School star, has made a name for himself in the Central Illinois Collegiate League this summer. Although he's been working in center field for Peoria, Bastable also is a highly regarded catcher and third baseman.

by DICK LIEN

Peoria Journal Star

There are stories about Peoria Pacer center fielders.

About how Bradley's Dick Baldwin, who was left-handed, threw out a runner at the plate in almost the same motion as he caught a line drive running into left field.

About how Notre Dame's John Counsell survived a gruesome collision with the right fielder to hold a fly ball and run in from his position with a uniform leg flapping and five spike wounds in his thigh.

About how Los Angeles State's Bill Carroll accepted 101 chances in 46 games one season and made only two errors.

And when he leaves this summer, there surely will be stories about the current occupant, Missouri's Jack Bastable.

This former Wheeling High School star and resident of Arlington Heights has been challenging Central Illinois Collegiate League fences as successfully as opposing runners have failed in challenging his arm.

"It's a whole different ball club with Jack in center field," says Pacer coach Pat Daugherty.

"He gets the greatest jump on the ball of any player I've had in 15 years of coaching," Daugherty adds and says another thing: "On a personal level, he's the finest kid, the finest man, I've ever coached."

Scouts have similar opinions.

"Nobody in the league out-hustles him," says Art Stewart of the Kansas City Royals. "He does all the physical things, and he's got that attitude too. He's tremendous in center field."

To qualify for endorsements like these, Jack Bastable is hitting .290 with five doubles, five triples, six home runs and 32 runs batted in and has thrown out six runners at the plate.

He runs everywhere someone else would walk, packs equipment bags after games and does other things coaches tend not to forget.

"You'll find guys on the bench who'll help with equipment," Daugherty says, "and you respect them for it, but for a regular, anyplace . . ."

All of which will make it that much less exciting when Jack Bastable, who plans to be the starting running back in Missouri's football offense this fall, leaves the Pacers before the season ends.

"This is a great league . . . the toughest college ball I've ever played," Bastable said after Sunday's 4-0 victory over Springfield at Meinen Field, "but getting ready for football will take some conditioning."

"It wouldn't be fair to the rest of the team for me to start the weight program I'm going to start and still try to play baseball every night."

So probably within a week Bastable will be gone, trying to get himself ready to take the place in the Tiger Backfield of Joe Moore, whose talent this fall belongs to the Chicago Bears.

"Football is a whole different sport," he said. "It's kind of hard to mix it with baseball."

But Bastable has been trying, working out on Pacer off days at Bradley University's football facility at Meinen. Mostly he's been kicking, which he did on extra points and field goals for 60 points as a Tiger sophomore last fall. He led the team in scoring.

"It gets lonely kicking by yourself," he said, "but sometimes kids in the neighborhood will come over to shag."

A 5-11, 195-pounder who'll be a junior at Missouri, Bastable was an All-State football player and also All-Mid-Suburban League in baseball and basketball.

In high school he played for two former Peoria area athletic greats, Ron DeBolt and Mike Owens, and this summer is living in Peoria with DeBolt's parents.

Owens, the former Bradley star, was Wheeling's basketball coach and DeBolt coaches baseball there. Both of them, plus Peoria Manual coach Ed Stonebeck, recommended Bastable to Daugherty.

Though his play last year was confined largely to kicking ("To protect my leg, they told me."), he has a shot at a starting tailback spot under new coach Al Onofrio despite missing spring practice to play baseball.

"Coach Onofrio is really a tremendous person," Bastable said. "He's a disciplinarian along with being a great guy."

"He treats the players as if they were his own sons and expects 100 per cent in return. One of the players got hurt in spring practice, and Coach Onofrio sent someone over to the hospital with a steak dinner. That's the type of guy he is."

Onofrio takes over at Missouri this fall after Dan Devine became head coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers.

Bastable played third base for the Tigers last spring and led the team with a .325 average, and though he has taken to center field like a veteran he'd like to come back to Peoria as a catcher.

"This big park (Meinen) gives you a lot of room to roam around in and it's fun," he said. "In center, you get a real good shot at seeing the ball come off the bat. But I'm going to catch at school next year."

If Bastable sounds too good to be true, it should be reported here that he falls short of perfection.

He is, in fact, the only Pacer to miss a bus this summer. He was in church at the time, thinking a 2 p.m. Sunday game at Macomb started at 5:30.

"He was waiting for us when we got back," said Daugherty, "and he felt awful about it."

"But that was the day Macomb beat us 16-4, and even if I did end up with a pitcher playing center field I told him to forget it . . . that I didn't think we'd have won that day if he'd brought Aaron and Mays with him."

"Vida Blue, maybe . . ."

Rifles Win Statistics Battle, Lose War To Racine, 12-10

The final statistics should have proved the Lake County Rifles to be the victors over the Racine Raiders in their first exhibition game Saturday, but instead the scoreboard showed a 12-10 Racine win.

The Rifles chalked up 12 first downs to Racine's nine, gained 119 yards on the ground compared to their 64 yards, accounted for 86 yards in the air compared with Racine's 80, and only punted five times while Racine found themselves in the positions three times.

The Rifle final attempt to score came with 11 seconds remaining in the contest on a 40 yard field goal attempt by Frank Gellings which was wide to the left. Gellings a newly acquired soccer-style kicker from the University of North Dakota, also punted five times for a 31-yard average and accounted for the field goal in the second quarter and the extra point after the touchdown in the final quarter.

A couple of costly errors were indirectly responsible for both of Racine's scores in the first and second quarters. Near the end of the first quarter, in the still scoreless contest, the Rifle punt was partially blocked by Racine's Ron Hart, and then returned to the 13 yard line by Bill Arnold. Two plays later, with 2:57 left in the quarter, found Chester Bell scoring a TD on a 10-yard run. The extra point attempt was wide to the right.

The second score was set up with the help of a pass interference call on Rifle Mike Dougherty which moved the ball from the 43-yard marker to the 35-yard line. The ensuing play found Racine quarterback Rocky Falaschi hitting Rick Johnson on the 18 yard line. The second score came a couple of plays later, when Falaschi hit Larry Weiss in the end zone from 12 yards out with 5:59 remaining in the first half.

The Rifles seemed to move the ball better on the ground than in the air in the first half, but could never put it together enough to score. Veteran Rifle quarterback Lee Rice started for the squad, but could only come up with a couple pass completions for six yards.

Defensively in the second quarter, Rifle Oscar Young intercepted a Falaschi pass on Racine's own 33-yard line and brought it into the 17-yard line, which set up the field goal by Gellings

Late in the second period, Johnny Dobbs came into quarterback the club and moved the team downfield nicely using Karl Maio and Ron Jurewicz, only to get the ball down to the 10 yard line where Dobbs fumbled to Racine.

The dynamic duo, Jurewicz and Maio, accounted for 119 yards rushing, with Jurewicz averaging four yards and Maio three yards a carry. Both rushers, along wide receiver Bill Potter, were instrumental in setting up the lone Rifle touchdown which came with 9:02 remaining in the game. Maio scored the TD on a hand-off into the end zone. After the extra point was good by Gellings, the score stood at Racine 12, Lake County 10 and remained that way for the remaining minutes of the game.

Head coach Gerry Sandberg was disappointed in the loss of a moral victory more than anything else.

"The fumbles hurt us, and our execution was a little rough in the first half," Sandberg said. "I think that we definitely showed promise for the future, and we showed that in the second half when the defensive squad constantly held the Raiders."

The help that we needed in our kicking game should come from Gellings," Sandberg continued. "He did a good job for us up here, and I'm sure he'll fit in well."

The Rifles have their first home exhibition game this Saturday against West Allis. Game time at Carmel High School Stadium is 8:00 p.m.

Johnson's, Rich Port Capture Park Honors

Johnson's Sporting Goods from West Park and Rich Port Realtor from South Park have won the championships at their respective parks. American League Champions, Johnson's Sporting Goods, edged National League Champs, Jaycees, 4-2 to take the West Park title.

Bob Nelson and Rich Slapke combined to pitch a four hitter for Johnson's with Nelson getting the win and Slapke picking up the save. Ken Kuecker pitched all the way and took the loss for Jaycees. Frank Vaia hit a home run for the Jaycees in a losing cause.

Rich Port Realtor won the South Park Championship by soundly defeating Meyer Material 9-0 behind the pitching of Tim Willet who struck out 12 batters. Meyer Material had won the first half league and Rich Port had gone undefeated to win the second half and finished the season with a 13-1 record.

Meyer Material (South Park) will play Johnson's Sporting Goods (West Park) and Jaycees (West Park) will play Rich Port Realtor (South Park) in the first round of the city 4A Championship on Tuesday night with the winners playing on Wednesday. The annual All-Star game between the 14-year-olds from each league will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

*Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices for 1971 Duster and Vega 2-door coupes with equipment listed. Prices include Federal Excise Tax and 1 percent state and local taxes. Excludes on charge optional equipment other than that listed above. Equipment required by state law and on Duster new vehicle preparation charges.

Duster 2-Door Coupe

They've certainly had time enough to learn by now. That with compacts, it's not just the low price, but what you get for the low price that really counts. And when you compare our Duster to their Vega, and see how much more Duster gives, you'll know you've come to the right place. Because Duster not only has more room, more trunk, bigger tires and brakes and more power than Vega, it's still just as easy on gas as it is on your budget. The big difference between Duster and Vega? Find out at the right place... it's not the price.

Record sales mean record resale value.

People are going for Duster in record numbers. Sales are up 58% for first quarter-'71 model year. And if you think we're leading the dice, last year they were 181% ahead of comparable sales the year before. Which is a big reason why Plymouth's small cars are leaders in their field in resale value.

Check us for our price, you'll see...

Appeal Made For State Football Playoff

by Larry Mlynecak

It is about time that the Illinois High School Association put itself to work and establish a football playoff.

No less than 26 states have taken the time, the effort and the courage to run a state football playoff.

Illinois, unfortunately, is not one of them.

The IHSA goes to great pains to hold state championships for cross country, basketball, gymnastics, swimming, wrestling, golf, baseball, track and tennis but does not do the same for football.

The Illinois High School Football Coaches Association has recently approved a proposed playoff setup. But this approval means little, since it is merely a recommendation by the coaches' association to the IHSA.

Actually, the IHSA is not the only organization standing in the way of a playoff. There are a number of steps to go through before a playoff could be a reality.

The first step has already been completed — the football coaches association has approved the playoff.

The second step — approval by the athletic director's association — is almost sure to pass.

The third step — approval by principals across the state — has a 50-50 chance of passing.

The fourth step — approval by superintendents across the state — has, according to most observers, little chance of passing.

"Most of the superintendents and many of the principals do not want the season to run any longer than it does now," said one suburban head football coach. "They don't want it to run into the basketball season. They are also afraid that enough money may not be raised to hold the playoff."

In rebuttal to those superintendents and principals, I would like to offer these opinions:

First, the football season does not run too long. Most teams only play eight games — which is actually a short season — and a three-game playoff (for only two teams who go all the way to the championship game) would make it an 11-game season, which is not all that long. The state champion in a number of states plays 13 or 14 games.

Second, the basketball season is far too long as it stands now. The basketball season could be moved back a week or two into December and, by playing more Friday-Saturday back-to-back games, a 20-game schedule could easily be completed by the time the state basketball tournament gets underway.

Third, the worries about money seem to be unfounded. Each game in the state playoff should generate a great deal of enthusiasm from fans throughout the state and these fans would support the playoff games. Attendances would be large and they would pay for the playoff, particularly if such stadiums as those at Northern Illinois, Northwestern and Southern Illinois were used for semi-final and final games.

The proposed state playoff has been quite well prepared and includes the following by-laws:

(1) Only those schools that request to be included in the playoff will be eligible to compete. (Therefore, if a school does not want to be a part of the play-offs, it is not forced to compete.)

(2) A school's classification would be determined by its enrollment. Class 'AAA' would be made up of school with enrollments over 1,200.

Class 'AA' would be made up of schools with enrollments from 400 to 1,199.

Class 'A' would be composed of schools with enrollments under 399. Under this classification (based on 1970 statistics) there would be 162 schools in 'AAA,' 154 in 'AA' and 178 in 'A.'

All of the schools in this area would be in Class 'AAA.'

(3) The state would be divided into eight districts according to classifications. Each district classification would have particular boundaries according to the number of schools in certain areas. The attempt has been made to put an equal number of schools in each district.

(4) Eight 'AAA' district winners would play in four different games to earn berths in the semi-finals. The winners in the semi-final games would play in the finals. The same would be true for 'AA' and 'A.'

(5) Sites for the game would be selected by the IHSA after the qualifying teams were determined. The school with the largest stadium facility which is in the playoff would be the site for the sectional in most cases. (Semi-final and final games may be held in college stadiums).

(6) The eight district champions would be determined by an elaborate — and, seemingly, very fair — point system. Each school would receive 20 points for a win and five points for a tie. Each team would lose 10 points for each defeat. If a team competes against a school of a lower classification (other than conference games), it will get only 10 points for a win, lose five points for a tie and lose 20 points for a defeat. A team's total points would be divided by the number of games played to get a rating. The team with the highest average number of playoff points per game would represent its district in the state playoff.

(7) If two or more teams finish with identical averages, but competed against each other, then the winning team would get the playoff berth. If they played to a tie, or did not meet at all, then the representative of that district would be determined by totaling the wins and losses of their opponents and the one competing against the toughest schedule would get the playoff berth.

Based on 1970 statistics, Arlington would have been the champion in District 2 AAA, in which most of the area's schools would be involved.

Arlington and New Trier West both had 8-0 records and both had an average of 20.0. But Arlington would have gained the berth in the playoff since Arlington opponents had a 30-32-2 record while New Trier West's foes had a 27-35-2 record.

Arlington would have played LaGrange, which had the most points in District 1 'AAA' in the first round of the playoff. Other first round games would have had Hinsdale Central against Thornridge, Rockford East against Peoria Richwoods and Danville against Alton.

The winner of the LaGrange-Arlington game and the winner of the Hinsdale-Thornridge game would meet in a semi-final. The other semi-final games would have the winner of the Rockford-Peoria game against the winner of the Danville-Alton game.

The semi-final winners would meet for the state championship.

I find it difficult to believe that these games, which would put together such undeniably outstanding football teams on the same field, would not catch the interest and enthusiasm of fans throughout the state and fail to draw.

I see no reason why each and every game would not play to capacity — yes, even flowing — crowds.

"How Many Years Will An MG Last?"

That's almost impossible to answer because the original MGs, over 20 years old now, are still on the road.

Not only are yesterday's MG TCs, TDs, and TFs still on the road, they're still increasing in value. We at Koske Import Motors frequently find the 1949 through 1955 MGs cost more today than one of our new MG Midgets.

Of course, the '49-'55 MGs are classics now. Limited production, styling and engineering made them classics. The same ingredients are present in today's MGB, MGB-GT, and Midget. And all MG generations are still on the road. Drive one today at Koske's — and ask how you can win a free MGB.

Celtics Kick Past Kickers

The Palatine Celtics Intermediate (age 13-16) soccer team won an exhibition match over the Northwest Kickers, 2-0, before more than 5,000 fans Saturday.

The large gathering was due to a match that followed between Hannover of Germany and Leon of Mexico, won by Hannover 2-1. The games were held at Hanson Park in Chicago.

The Kickers had finished second to the Celtics in the Greater Chicago Youth Soccer League last spring.

Palatine's goals were scored by Brad Byker and Lance Gackowski, with goalie Brian Sculpino recording the shutout. The team was coached by Jim Kinsella.

Union Oil Golfers Enjoy Great Day

Six low gross shooters led by Russ Anderson's 75 and Charlie Kleinhofen's 77 followed by 78s earned by Dick Iverson, George Perini, Dennis Harrod and a great 79 by Lou Mehl helped make Union Oil Men's Golf outing at Woodridge Golf Club last Saturday a planned success.

Blue skies and moderate temperatures made for a fine golf outing. Following a buffet dinner, awards and prizes were given to every golfer.

Low net winners were Chuck Kullaek, 57; Les Schalla, second, with 58; Randy Johnson, third, 59; and Tom Miller and Ed Brooks tying for fourth place winnings with 60.

Tallies showed that 38 golfers had scores of 90 or under and only 14 had scores over 100.

Dick Iverson won two specialty awards getting longest drive and closest to the pin on selected holes for the day.

THE MOST COMPETITIVE DEALER IN BARRINGTON!

The idea behind the Volkswagen Squareback Sedan.

Twenty-Three years ago, we had an idea for a small economy car.
And it came out looking like a bug.
Twenty years ago, we had an idea for a giant station wagon.
And it came out looking like a box.
Then we had an idea for a sedan that combined all the economy of our bug with a lot of the capacity of our box.
So you'd expect it to come out looking half bug, half box. Right?
Wrong.
Our Squareback Sedan looks like a small station wagon.
But by squaring off its back and adding a trunk in front, our little sedan can give you over twice as much carrying space as the biggest domestic sedan.
Years ago, we learned the important thing isn't the way a car looks on the outside, but how it works on the inside.
And so it's just as true today as it was then: You can't judge a Volkswagen by its cover.

MUSTANG LEAGUE
Final second-half records are listed with overall season record in parentheses.
American League — Barrington Truckers 9-0 (12-0), Glenmar Credit 5-3 (13-5), Don Klein State Farm Insurance 5-4 (8-10), Chaslet Ford 4-3 (8-10), Duffy Decorating 2-7 (6-12).
National League — Homefinders 3-1 (12-6), Parkside Gardens 4-6 (8-10), R & M Decorating 3-6 (8-10), Palatine Standard 3-6 (6-12), Janel Draperies 1-8 (3-15).

Tournament Results
Duffy Decorating defeated Don Klein State Farm Insurance 15-12 for the championship of the league tournament.
In semi-final games, Don Klein beat Glenmar Credit 5-1 and Duffy downed Barrington Truckers by the same 5-1 count. To advance to these games, Don Klein edged Palatine Standard 3-1 and Duffy trounced R & M 9-2.
In first round contests, Barrington shaded Homefinders 5-1, R & M nipped Chaslet 5-2, Glenmar beat Parkside in still another opening game, 5-3, and Don Klein whipped Janel 17-5.

Duffy Decorating 711 210-15-6
Klein State Farm Ins. 209 113-12-8
In the playoff championship game, Duffy blasted a home run and Bob Kane a double for the winners. For the losers, Russ Simek cracked two triples and Tim Peterson and Mike Krueger had two-baggers.

Duffy Decorating 302 000-4-3-1
Barrington Truckers 301 000-4-3-1
Hush Duffy and Doug McBride combined for a no-hitter in this semi-final playoff game that snapped Barrington Truckers' 10-game winning streak. Duffy also led his team's attack with a home run and single that drove in all three runs, Jim and John Bjork also pitched excellent ball for Barrington, striking out just five hits between them.

Duffy Decorating 310 130-5-6-0
R & M Decorating 010 002-3-4-2
Hush Duffy and Doug McBride also combined for the pitching win in this quarter-final contest. They allowed only four hits. Duffy helped his own cause with a three-run triple, John Hogan had two hits including a triple and Bob Kane doubled. Mike Francis made a fine defensive play at third base. For the losers, Ron Morowski had a triple and Joe Mengher collected two hits, including a two-bagger.

Chaslet Ford 010 000-5-3
Parkside Gardens 011 003-7-6
Four Parkside pitchers threw a three-hitter. Charles Schira of Chaslet Ford and Doug Hives of Parkside Gardens blasted home runs. John Selsky and Hives played fine defense.

Palatine Standard 305 000-5-6
Parkside Gardens 111 00-14-6
Saniore tripled for Standard and Selsky and Bill Carr doubled for Parkside.

Glenmar Credit 000 210-3-3
Barrington Truckers 113 155-11-9
It was the 18th straight victory for the Truckers to complete their regular schedule perfect. Jim Bjork led with two for two at the plate and was the winning pitcher. Brad Kost and John Bjork had triples.

Barrington Truckers 030 002-5-8
Homefinders 210 100-4-6
Jim and John Bjork each had two hits and Jim was the winning pitcher. Jim Chino doubled.

Palatine Standard 001 210-2-3
Klein State Farm Ins. 209 002-5-6
Tom Peterson's two hits included a triple, while Steve LeBreck had a double and two hits. Mike Krueger picked up his second win in two nights by fanning six in three innings. LeBreck also struck out six in the last three frames. Jim Milano, Peter Burns and Leonard Stein paced Palatine Standard.

Glenmar Credit 000 100-1-3
Klein State Farm Ins. 211 015-5-5
Pitching dominated this game as Steve LeBreck and Anthony Floretti limited Glenmar Credit to three hits. Bill Martin and Don Sullivan were almost as tough for the losers, allowing five hits.

Janel Draperies 310 213-8-4
Klein State Farm Ins. 104 025-17-10
Brad Morawski, Mark Rogers, Steve LeBreck and Anthony Floretti doubled for Klein while Mark Hesch, Lou Carmichael, and Brad Berta had extra-base hits for Janel.

Special Olympics Today For Mentally Retarded

The Chicago Park District is holding the State Special Olympics for mentally-retarded children today (Friday) at two sites.

Track and field events will be held at Hutchinson Field, adjacent to the Grant Park Band Shell, from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Swimming events will be at Eckhardt Park, 1330 W. Chicago Ave., from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

About 1,500 retarded children from Illinois will participate in the fourth annual event for gold, silver and bronze medals, as well as scores of ribbons.

Opening ceremonies will be at 11:30 a.m. with the lighting of the Olympic flame by two torch-bearing athletes, flag raising, national anthem, invocation, the release of 1,500 balloons and the introduction of dignitaries.

Guests of honor will be Mayor Daley, Governor and Mrs. Ogilvie, Lt. Governor Simon, Park District president Dan Shannon, president of the Olympian program Jack McHugh, and other dignitaries and sports celebrities.

Sports clinics will be held in basketball, volleyball, dancing, crafts and art, fishing, football throw, bicycle rodeo, floor hockey, picnic games with prizes, traveling zoo and trampoline.

Both boys and girls ages 10 through 19 will be competing.

Campbell, King Low In 'Y'

Bruce Campbell and Art King were the one-two scorers in low gross and low net last week in the Northwest Suburban YMCA Twilight Golf League.

Campbell shot a 39 and King 40 in the gross department and King turned in a 33 to Campbell's 34 in top net scores.

Mike Gotham recorded a 42 gross, while Harold Peterson and Steve Stadnick had 36 nets.

Team No. 6 opened a two-and-one-half-point lead in first place with C. E. Jensen & Sons and Kunkel Realty tied for second. There are close battles for position throughout the standings.

Five birdies were carded last week — by Wally Busch on the eighth hole, Bart Kenny on the fifth, Milt Koehler on the 12th, Stadnick on the 13th and King on the 13th.

'Meet The Stars' Outing

Nationally ranked women professionals from the Virginia Slims clay court tennis championships in Lake Bluff will feature a "Meet the Stars" outing Friday evening, Aug. 20, at the new River Trails indoor tennis center just south of Mount Prospect.

The stars will give instructional tips and head a program including a management effort to help members find playing partners, free tennis merchandise at a series of drawings, refreshments and the appearance of River Trails' own head pro, Bob Sorensen.

Prizes will include apparel, luggage, racquets, balls, tennis lessons and tickets to the seven-day Virginia Slims tournament which will run from Monday, Aug. 16, through Sunday, Aug. 22, at the Bath and Tennis Club, 106 Green Bay Road, Lake Bluff.

The Lake Bluff field is expected to include Margaret Court of Australia, Billie Jean King, Nancy Richey Gunter, Francoise Durr of France, Rosemary Casals and Chicagoland's Barbara Mueller and Sue Eastman.

Harry Young Jr., River Trails president, said the tourney and personal appearance should give women's tennis a tremendous boost as well as afford the new facility a chance to meet its members.

"This is Chicagoland's top outdoor tournament of 1971," Young declared, "and we want to bring a taste of it to the northwest suburbs."

Gates Priest Wins Pezoldt Golf Tourney

The 1st annual Hank Pezoldt Tournament was held at Lake Opeka on Monday, August 2. It was fitting that Gates Priest, Hank's golf partner for some years, won the honors. The highlight of the tournament, however, was John McKee's hole-in-one on the 8th hole.

The participants, all 60 years of age or older, and handicap scores were:

Gates Priest	48
John McKee	53
Ed Tarsa	54
Hans Jensen	54
O. Blume	56
Ed Ball	57
Herbert Rosen	57
L. Fryby	57
J. Biba	58
A. Dittmer	59
C. Parriett	60

Two Tied In Chemplex Golf

After the completion of the twelfth round at the Golden Acres Country Club in Schaumburg, the Chemplex Twilight Golf League found itself with two teams still occupying first place.

Sharing the lead are Team No. 5 (John Bestmann, Mutsu Shida, Hank Gudrian and Gene Sterbis) and Team No. 2 (Jack Blanchard, Larry Dowd, John Bennett and Ken Chao). Team No. 6 trails the leaders by just two points, with only two rounds remaining.

Because of the first-place deadlock, Teams No. 5 and No. 2 will match scores in the next round, with the team low net determining who will represent the League in the forthcoming Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap Golf Tournament.

Ray Cameron of Team No. 3 shot a low of 41 and thus joins Jack Jacobs, Bill Hicks, and John Bestmann for season low gross.

Holly Fairchild of Team No. 4 recorded a low net of 33 (44-11) for the week. Ken Chao's season's low net of 24 looks as though it will stand through the remainder of the season.

The only birdies of the evening were made by Jack Jacobs on hole 2 and Larry Dowd on hole 9.

Flight leaders are: Flight A — Carl Snyder-Flight B — Larry Dowd; Flight C — Jack Montealeone and Sven Solvik (tied); and Flight D — Ken Chao and Gene Sterbis (tied).

Going To Bat Against Injuries

by WARREN FROELICH

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Sports fans tired of spending $4 and more for box seats to see benchwarmers perform, general managers exasperated at spending $100,000 for gimpy superstars and players themselves worried that an accident may cost them their jobs have expressed increasing concern over health care for athletes.

To help combat growing frustrations, football team doctors about five years ago formed the Association of Professional Football Physicians. They've since experimented with equipment changes, discussed the pros and cons of artificial turf and have attempted, with varying degrees of success, to prolong the professional lives of their athletes.

Baseball team doctors recently took a cue from football and formed the Association of Professional Baseball Physicians (APBP). The purpose of the organization, composed of all the major league team physicians, is to discuss baseball ailments like "pitcher's elbow" and provide medical service for ballplayers away from home.

Under the new organization, for example, if Willie Mays pulls a ligament in Cincinnati, or Al Downing develops arm trouble in St. Louis, or Cookie Rojas gets spiked in New York, the team physicians from these on-the-road cities will supply their services free of charge.

Previously, according to Dr. Joseph Finegold, team physician with the Pittsburgh Pirates, if a player was in another city and was injured, he couldn't count on special medical care. "If any of them got hurt," Dr. Finegold says, "the best they could do was to go to an emergency room and get pot luck." Now they can get specialized treatment from someone acquainted with ailments that strike baseball players.

The APBP grew out of a meeting between Dr. Leonard Wallenstein, team physician and now president of the physicians' group, and three other physicians, Finegold, Dr. Charles McKenzie of the Minnesota Twins and Dr. Peter Lamotte of the New York Mets, during the 1970 World Series.

According to Dr. Wallenstein, the group formed "to get better communication between the team doctors and to standardize treatment for the ballplayers." This is the only group of its kind in baseball.

So far, however, the organization has made few long-range plans in research areas.

For example, the group does not plan to study drug abuse in the major leagues, an issue raised by Jim Bouton and others. Bouton said in his book, "Ball Four," that pitchers, as a case in point would take any type of pill if it would help them win 20 games.

Team physicians, while acknowledging that they have heard of drug abuse on other teams, deny that such things exist on their club. Most say that baseball players are not the type of people to freak out — from drugs at any rate. The big problem, according to an expert in athletic medicine, is "still beer and liquor."

While most reject the existence of widespread drug abuse on their own teams, physicians, on their own, do educate their players into the hazards of "uppers" and "downers." They point out that while the drug may help out temporarily, pep pills and others could lead to depression and ultimately throw off an athlete's timing for good.

The organization may pool their resources together and sponsor several research projects that might prolong the professional career of a future Koufax.

Research into the chronic ailments of baseball players is scanty as compared to injuries from football and other contact sports.

But doctors do know that pitchers, for example, are prone to tendonitis, arthritis and "pitcher's elbow."

Recent research suggests one way to prevent many of these diseases in big leaguers is to prevent little leaguers from developing their skills too fast. Thus, a leading authority suggests, "A boy should wait until he is in high school before throwing a curve ball."

A. J. Foyt Ready To Race At Wisconsin State Fair

An auto race in Milwaukee without A. J. Foyt would be equivalent to playing basketball without a bat.

For more than 10 years, Foyt has thrilled auto racing fans at Milwaukee with a driving skill that has earned him a popularity unequalled since the late Tony Bettenhausen.

Aug. 15 will be no exception as the five-time USAC national driving champion is one of the first drivers to enter the 11th annual Tony Bettenhausen Classic At Milwaukee's Wisconsin State Fair Speedway.

The winner of two champ races here during his career, Foyt will drive a turbocharged Ford Coyote of his own design in quest of his first victory on the 1971 Marlboro Championship Trail.

Currently in fifth place in the Marlboro point race, SuperTex will compete against some of the finest speedway drivers in the nation.

Heading the list of drivers already entered in the $60,000-plus race are Bobby Unser, Lloyd Ruby and Billy Vukovich.

Twenty-six of USAC's championship drivers will take the green flag for the start of the 200-mile race at 2 p.m. CDT.

The Bettenhausen Classic is one of three national events held in conjunction with the 1971 Wisconsin State Fair.

Tickets for the race are available from Wisconsin Auto Racing, 1200 South First Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53204.

SANDY KOUFAX was forced to retire at 31 because of an arthritic condition, prematurely ending one of baseball's most brilliant pitching careers. There is hope for future Koufaxes, however. A group of team doctors has formed the Association of Professional Baseball Physicians, devoted to studying injuries and ailments peculiar to baseball.

New Kind Of Old-Time Religion

by LEE MUELLER

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Unable to find peace in their mundane pursuits of sin, sex, drugs and Blood, Sweat and Tears, many American youths today are turning to God for solace. The movement is looked on with approval by most adults, who take comfort and satisfaction from their children's recognition of acknowledged spiritual forces.

But old-time religion is one thing. What about a gang of chanting, baldheaded, tambourine - thumping, saffron - robed weirdos with pasty complexions? What about them?

They call themselves the Hare Krishna Movement and you can see them on street corners throughout the country, smiling and thumping and more or less soliciting funds. Members live in "temples" throughout the world and belong to the International Society for Krishna Consciousness, the purpose of which, of course, is to promote consciousness of Krishna, the society's god who first spoke in India about 5,000 years ago.

Krishna consciousness is simply that. The brain becomes stuffed with Him. There is room for little else. Devotees walk about all day, chanting, "Hare Krishna, hare Krishna, Krishna, Krishna, hare hare, hare Rama, hare Rama, hare Rama, hare hare" — a minimum of 1,728 times a day. "They are forever chanting my glories," Krishna said, and it still seems that way. Krishna people use "Hare (har-ra) Krishna" for both hello and goodbye and then walk away, chanting softly, as though memorizing aloud: "Hare Krishna, hare Krishna, Krishna, Krishna, Krishna..."

"YOU HAVE to hear God before you can see him," said Rupanuga Das, 31, standing inside the four-story building that is the Krishna temple in Brooklyn. "The holy name of our Lord is the same as the Lord himself. The problem in this century is the lack of god-consciousness. We want to make people happy, and anybody who hears the name of God is benefited by it," Krishna consciousness, he says, is experienced as a process of self-purification.

Americans, however, have always been a little uncomfortable with unorthodox religions. It is rumored, even, that enlightened as we all are, religious prejudice still exists in certain portions of the country. Fortunately, there is little in the Krishna believers to inspire fear or suspicion or prejudice — except maybe their appearance.

What had things can you say about a gentle people who do not believe in drinking, smoking, drugs, divorce, gambling, coffee or tea? Extramarital affairs do not exist in the Krishna movement and even after marriage, sex is attempted only for the procreation of children. Even television is forbidden, unless a devotee is scheduled to appear.

WHO MIGHT not approve? Well, Kate Millett might not. In the Krishna movement, the husband's role is to provide — and the wife's role is to follow and serve her husband, no questions asked. Together, they raise Krishna-conscious children, who, presumably, learn to thump tambourines and further the cause.

Krishna believers obviously are not adverse to making a buck. True, the long lock of hair on top of male members' otherwise shaved heads is a safety measure so that if they ever fall into the pit of "material consciousness," Krishna can yank them out of it by the hair of the head. True, Krishna members have pasty complexions because the women don't wear makeup and because there is little time between those 1,728 Hare Krishnas for sunbathing. But women sometimes wear gold rings rough their right nostrils and saffron robes don't grow on trees. Even Krishna must have known about capitalism, 5,000 years ago.

Strolling troubadours receive considerable amounts of money in contributions and there are other profitable enterprises working for Krishna. Apple Records, the Beatles' outfit, has released an album of Krishna chants by London devotees. Royalties go to the movement.

HARE KRISHNA temples also are large suppliers of wholesale incense. Meanwhile, the Brooklyn temple operates a publishing facility which turns out spiritual literature (a lifetime subscription to "Back to Godhead," the movement magazine, costs $222) and is starting a catering service.

Krishna food, incidentally, consists of only fruit, vegetables, grains, cheese and milk products (no eggs). Persons invited into the temple are expected to take off their shoes outside (shoes are considered dirty) and have a seat on the floor. Visitors must eat with their hands off paper plates.

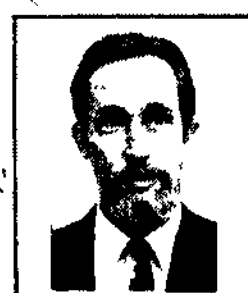

The Brooklyn temple has very little furniture, not because items like chairs and beds (devotees use sleeping bags) and bar stools are considered immoral, but because they take up space that can be used for other endeavors.

If this sounds as though the entire Krishna movement might be slipping into the material pit, let Das — a former Washington D.C. social worker — explain:

"THE IDEA is not to give up material things, but to use them in Krishna service... There is no danger of our being corrupted by our business enterprises."

Das admits that his background as a social worker is useful at times since many youths who live in the temple (the average age is 22) are former drug users or came from unhappy homes. He maintains that things are going as well for Krishna in the youth market as they appear to be going for Christianity.

"We've been around for five years now," he said. "We're not just some hippie fad."

The Lighter Side

by Dick West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I was aware, of course, of a lot of the gags about drive-in movies. Like "the film may be rated 'G' but the audience is rated 'X'."

Having led a somewhat sheltered life, however, I did not realize the extent of the situation until a recent evening when I took my family to the Passion Pit Drive-In to see Shirley Temple in "Curly Top."

"Two adults and two children," I said, pulling up to the ticket window and tendering a sum that would have covered the entire production costs of an early Fatty Arbuckle two reeler.

"Two adults and what?" the cashier said.

"Two children's tickets. Isn't the admission price cheaper for children under 12?"

"I DUNNO," the cashier said. "I've never sold any before. Maybe you had better speak to the manager."

At the cashier's direction, I pulled my car out of line and parked beneath a blow-up of Francis X. Bushman leering at Theda Bara. Ere long we were joined by a ferret-faced individual wielding a flashlight.

"I'm the manager here," he announced, flicking the beam about the interior of the auto. "What seems to be the trouble?"

"There's no trouble," I assured him. "It was pretty dull night on television so my wife and I decided to take the kids to see..."

"Hold it!" the manager interrupted. "Is this woman in the car with you your wife?"

"Of course."

"Well, if you're married, what are you doing at a drive-in?"

"We want to see the movie."

The manager's jaw dropped in astonishment.

"That's the first time I ever heard of anybody going to a drive-in to see a movie," he said.

"I DIDN'T mean to upset you," I said, "but we don't often get a chance to see a revival of 'Curly Top.'"

"This isn't a revival," the manager said. "We've been showing the same film since the theater opened in 1938 and nobody has noticed."

"Nevertheless, it's a fine movie for children and I want mine to see it."

"Sorry," the manager said. "The movie is okay but this is a 'B' rated theater."

"What does that mean?"

"No minors admitted unless wearing blinders."

Where has all the money gone?

It just goes.
You shake your head.
You see it slip out of your hands and you worry.
Instead of worrying, why not do something about your money? Save some. Painlessly.
Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.
Your money will add up faster than ever before, because now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds. Now U.S. Bonds pay 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.
Get a grip on your money the Payroll Savings way. It's an easy way to see your money grow instead of go.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

SHEAR

Jay Allen

While some television programming insiders say that the day is near when "the ratings game" won't dictate program scheduling as much as it does today, one wouldn't believe it by recalling some of the failures from the past season. The most graphic example of that, if not the most controversial, was the dropping of "The Senator" portion of The Bold Ones.

What's even more interesting is this coming season's lineup of shows, with more movies...more dramas...less corn-ball homespun variety-type programs...and a re-arrangement of time slots that will have many people deciding which of "their favorites" to watch.

Just as many tube-gazers complained this past year when two good movies were shown opposite each other at the same time, this coming year will see that happen again.

Furthermore, some strong-rated shows will be given new prime time positions to rival other top programs. One time slot this coming year, for example, will see NBC's Ironside, ABC's Mod Squad, and CBS' Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour all pitted against each other for the ratings.

All three shows have shown great popularity with viewers, and it goes without saying that one will suffer like it has never before experienced.

It should prove exciting. And frustrating for many viewers.

The first television network to start promoting its new shows is NBC, with spot promotional material starting in late July for the upcoming NBC Week.

The other stations are just now starting to go at it full blast, bending our ears about their fall television menu.

You may recall this column devoted space a few weeks ago to public service announcements, and more specifically, the U.S. Army's departure from using the free spot commercials to 13-week, $10.6 million TV-radio advertising schedule.

Preliminary reports indicate that the campaign was a success, so much in fact that the Army has asked the Defense Department for more money for another $3 million. This would be used, according to reports, for a one month campaign which would be run after the Labor Day holiday. The Defense Department has not yet okayed the money, but it probably will if further study of the recent drive brings out any additional bright plusses about response to it.

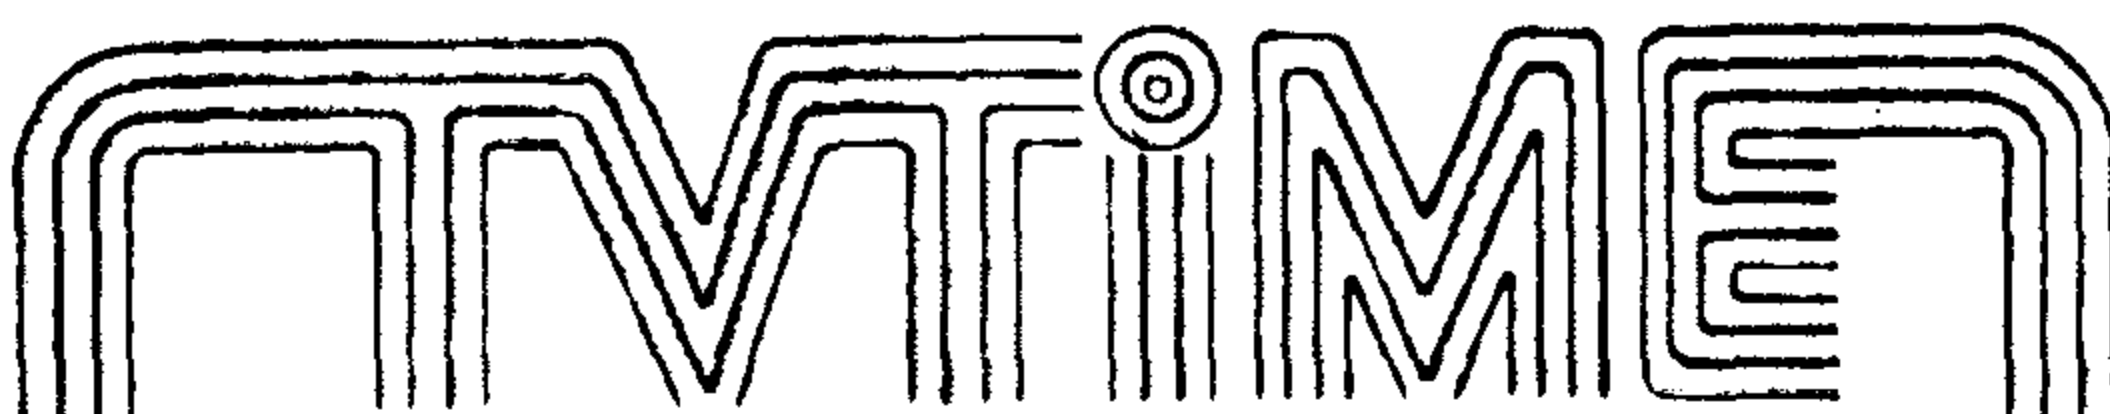

The greatest response for enlistments in the Army were for the combat arms fields, which the TV spots heralded, reports indicate. These were up over 100 per cent over the previous year.

Old shows never really die. They just get picked up in syndication, or in some cases are revived after being put to rest for several years.

The latest remake will be remembered by some of our readers—Topper. To be dubbed "Topper Returns," the show will be based upon the Clifton Webb ghost-comedy that proved to be so popular in the mid 1950's.

Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006

How old is Jack Lord? There is a rumor going around that he is 50 years old. Is this true?

—Debbie Farace
Schaumburg

ANSWER:

Not true. Lord is 41.

* * *

My friend and I have a little argument going. He says Fred Gwynne, who played Herman on THE MUNSTERS, is dead. I say he is still living. Please help.

—Brian Daley
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

Stop arguing. Gwynne is certainly not dead.

* * *

Could you please tell me how old Elizabeth Montgomery is? And how do they manage all of the disappearing and tricks on BEWITCHED?

—J.G.
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

Miss Montgomery is 37.

The tricks are fairly easy, when you have a camera and can edit the tape. For example, if they want someone to disappear, they simply shoot some film of the scene with the person in it. They stop the camera, the person leaves, the camera restarts. On tape it looks as if the person had disappeared.

* * *

Is Joe Pepitone single? If he is, does he have a steady girl?

Also, how old is he?

—P.B.
Mount Prospect

ANSWER:

Pepitone is divorced. He dates often and with several girls. The Cub star is 31.

* * *

Could you please tell me what happened to Oliver O. Oliver on BOZO'S CIRCUS? My sister keeps bugging me.

—R.H.
Wheeling

ANSWER:

Ray Rayner, who played Oliver, left the program in March to devote more time to his other show business pursuits. He can still be seen on his morning program on WGN-TV, Channel 9.

* * *

I think Robert Wagner is just adorable. Please give me some information on him. Will IT TAKES A THIEF be on again?

—Chris Barouski
Schaumburg

ANSWER:

Wagner is 40 years old. He is presently dating Tina Sinatra, the youngest daughter of Frank Sinatra. They are reportedly planning to be married.

IT TAKES A THIEF will not be back, except in reruns. Wagner has formed his own production company and is currently involved in films.

* * *

I would like to know the address of GARFIELD GOOSE in Chicago.

—J. Shepard
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

Write to the King of the United States at WGN-TV, 2501 W. Bradley Place, Chicago.

* * *

Please answer the following question: Why are THE FLYING NUN, THE MUNSTERS, GET SMART, THE AVENGERS and especially SCREAMING YELLOW THEATRE on Channel 32?

All my friends feel the same way as I do. We think these shows are really great, but hardly any of us have Channel 32 on our television sets.

—B.F.
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

The first four are programs which were cancelled by the networks and purchased by Channel 32 to broadcast in rerun. SCREAMING YELLOW THEATER is the station's horror movie program.

If your television sets don't have UHF, you'll have to wait until you get new sets to view Channel 32, a UHF station. For the past several years, all TV sets are sold with a UHF tuner.

* * *

I am crazy about Bill Bixby of THE COURTSHIP OF EDDIE'S FATHER and I would like to know how old he is and if he is married. Where can I write to him?

How old is Danny Thomas and where can I write to him?

—Robin Schler
Buffalo Grove

ANSWER:

Bixby, who is in his late 30's, was married this summer to actress Brenda Benet. It was the first marriage for both.

Thomas is 56. You can write to both him and Bixby in care of ABC, Television Center, Los Angeles, California 90028.

* * *

I read your Mailbag every week and I enjoy it. Also, on LET'S MAKE A DEAL, when people are "zonked," like with a giant high chair, baby elephant, etc., do they really keep those things?

—L.C.
Palatine

ANSWER:

Thank you for the compliment. No, those who are "zonked" do not keep the items they "win."

How old are Tony Randall and Jack Klugman of THE ODD COUPLE? Where can I write to them?

—Becky Wallis
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

Randall is 50, Klugman is 48. Write to them in care of ABC, Television Center, Los Angeles, California 90028.

- ** Fair
- *** Good
- **** Excellent

FRIDAY

- 8:30-***"Brainwashed" 7
(B&W-'61-French) Stars Curt Jergens, Claire Bloom, Hansjorg Felmy. While undergoing intense Nazi interrogation, an Austrian man struggles to keep his sanity intact. Heavy—very heavy, but it could've been better. Until 10:30 a.m.
- 2:00-***"Dead to the World" 9
Stars Reedy Talton, Jana Pearce, Ford Rainey. Intrigue clouds the career of Foreign Service Officer Cornell. Framed for treason, blamed for murder, he eludes the police so he can hunt down the real culprits. Directed by Nicholas Webster. Terrible mystery. Until 3:30 p.m.
- 3:30-***"Francis in the Haunted House" 2
Starring Mickey Rooney, Virginia Welles, David Janssen. "Francis" the talking mule witnesses a murder and helps a young man who is accused of the crime catch the real criminal. Until 5:00 p.m.
- ***"Whispering Smith" 7
(48) Stars Alan Ladd, Brenda Marshall, Robert Preston. The soft-spoken special govt. agent heads out west to investigate robberies. In digging up clues he finds his friends to be involved with the crooks. Well-acted. Until 5:00 p.m.
- 6:30-***"Everything's Ducky" 9
(61) Stars Mickey Rooney, Joanie Sommers, Buddy Hackett. Brash young sailor and his side-kick, stationed at a rocket site, meet a talking duck who is smarter than they. All three wind up in nose cone of satellite as it circles the earth. Until 8:00 p.m.
- 8:00-***"Term of Trial" 2
Trial
Starring Laurence Olivier, Simone Signoret, Sarah Miles. A mild-mannered schoolteacher is trapped by one of his students. Until 10:00 p.m.
- 10:30-****"A Farewell to Arms" 9
(B&W-'32) Starring Helen Hayes, Gary Cooper. Great film with Hayes stealing the show.

Story deals with a tragic war time romance. Until 1:30 a.m.

***"Horrors of the Black Museum" 32
(59) Stars Michael Gough, June Cunningham, Graham Curnow. London is fear struck, and Scotland Yard baffled, by a series of strange murders. Stories of the atrocities, by crime journalist Edmond Bancroft, arrive at conclusions missed by the "Yard"...because the journalist is committing the fiendish crimes to create material for his writing. Until 12:15 a.m.

12:00-****"Men of the Haunted House" 2
Starring Van Johnson, Walter Pidgeon, Louis Calhern, Keenan Wynn. Life aboard the U.S. aircraft in the Sea of Japan during the Korean war. Until 1:40 a.m.

1:00-***"Dingaka" 5
(65) Starring Stanley Baker, Juliet Prowse and Ken Gampu. Dramatic story of a native accused of murder and subsequent trial and defense. Sketchy plot, good photography. Until 2:40 a.m.

***"The Coconuts" 7
(29) Stars Groucho, Harpo, Chico, Zeppo Marx, Kay Francis, Oscar Shaw. The Marxes first "in a barrel full of monkey shines" suffers from stagy filming and stale musical subplot. Left all alone the guys become a real riot. Crazy nonsense! Until 2:45 a.m.

2:00-***"Mr. Wong, Detective" 9
(38) Stars Boris Karloff, Grant Withers, Maxine Jennings. Dayton of the Dayton Chemical Company comes to see Mr. Wong and tells him that his life has been threatened, that he suspects his two partners, Wilk and Meisle, who have had him sign a paper leaving everything to them, or to the surviving partner, in case of death. Until 3:25 a.m.

SATURDAY

- 9:30-***"Blondie Goes To College" 9
Feature I-(B&W '42) Penny Singleton, Arthur Lake, Larry Simma. Pretending they're not married, Blondie and Dagwood go back to college. The school's ace athlete falls in love with Blondie. Dagwood has his own troubles with a pretty coed.
- ***"Lord Of The Jungle" 9
Feature II-(B&W '55) Johnny Sheffield, Wayne Morris, Nancy Hale. When a group of hunters try to exterminate a herd of elephants, Bomba comes to the animals rescue and attempts to trap the rogue elephant causing the trouble. Directed by Ford Beebe.
- 1:00-***"The Spider" 32
Feature I-(B&W '58) Stars Ed Kemmer, June Kenny, Gene Person. Citizens of the small, isolated community of River Falls are terrorized by an enormous monster spider. Until 2:45 p.m.
- ***"Snow Creature" 32
Feature II-(B&W '54) Stars Paul Langton, Leslie Denison. An expedition to the Himalayas succeeds, bringing back an enormous Yeti beast/man to the U.S. He escapes and holds the country in terror. Until 4:00 p.m.

6:00-***"Killers From Space" 32
(B&W '54) Stars Peter Graves, Barbara Bester, James Seay.

7:00-***"On The Beat" 9
(B&W-'62-British) Norman Wisdom, Jennifer Jayne, Raymond Huntley. If ever a man was told to "go chase yourself" and did it, that man is Norman Petkin, London Bobbie. Repeatedly rejected as a member of the force, Norman finally makes it. Reason: He greatly resembles the head of a troublesome gang of jewel thieves—and the Yard wants to use him in a wild scheme to trap the thieves. Until 9:00 p.m.

7:30-***"Sebastian" 5
Starring Dirk Bogarde and Susannah York. Lilli Palmer and Sir John Gielgud also star. A brilliant British mathematician hires a young woman to work in his top secret department of the Civil Service where she begins training to become a decoder for British Intelligence. Until 10:00 p.m.

8:30-***"Night Creature" 7
(62-British) Peter Cushing, Yvonne Romain, Patrick Allen, Oliver Reed. British creeper takes patience to watch, will only be enjoyed by horror buffs.

10:30-***"The Challenge" 7
(B&W '60-British) Jayne Mansfield, Anthony Quayle, Carl Mohner. Gangland leader plans a big heist. Cast performances uplift flick. Until 12:15 a.m.

***"Devil's Messenger" 9
Feature I-(1961) Lon Chaney, Karen Kadler, John Crawford. The devil sends a beautiful murder victim as his emissary to earth with an envelope containing a formula for human destruction.

***"The Unknown Terror" 9
Feature II-(B&W '57) John Howard, Mala Rowers. American search party in South America country encounters mysterious scientist working with abnormal fungus creatures that devour humans. Directed by Charles Marquis Warren. Until 1:30 a.m.

11:00-***"Tulsa" 2
(1949) Starring Susan Hayward, Robert Preston, Chill Wills. A fiery redhead, made wealthy by oil, is so impressed with her power that she almost loses the man she loves. Until 12:55 a.m.

11:30-***"The Sand Runs Red" 32
(B&W '66) Stars Helmut Lange, Christine Nielsen, Ellen Schwiers. In the bleak desert oil fields, where thieves and cut-throats mingle with honest men, a map of an ancient king's tomb is found, a map that leads to treachery, murder and violence. Until 1:15 a.m.

12:15-***"Dunkirk" 7
(B&W '58-British) John Mills, Robert Urquhart, Ray Jackson. Documentary-style drama recounting 1940 evacuation of allied troops. Relying too much on newsreel footage. Until 2:40 a.m.

SUNDAY

- 10:30-***"Fort Massacre" 32
(1958) Stars Joel McCrea, Forrest Tucker, Susan Cabot and John Russell. In this true and stirring story, a Cavalry officer leads his rebellious rag-tag troopers in a murderous desert campaign to gratify his blind hatred of Indians. What more can you expect of such a cast! Until 12:00 p.m.
- 1:00-***"Ruthless" 5
(B&W-'48) Starring Zachary Scott and Diana Lynn. Scott plays the big man—stepping on everyone's toes to make a name for himself. Tired and predictable! Until 3:00 p.m.
- ***"Showdown" 7

Rte. 58 Opened To 4 Lanes Near Woodfield Mall

To drivers who have slowly and jerkily traversed the portion of Rte. 58 under construction in Schaumburg from Meacham Road east to Rte. 53 for the past year, Thursday, marked a dream come true.

The State Highways construction crews took away road barriers and exposed a newly paved four lane road that must have seemed at least a mile wide.

Ray Harris, regional project engineer for the Highways department in Chicago said, "We are just as happy as the drivers who have faced the burden of construction these past months.

"We met our deadline and opened the full strip of road way for traffic on schedule with the Woodfield Mall Shopping Center opening," said Harris.

This morning's traffic report included the information that four full lanes of traffic were flowing smoothly. "Traffic lights, all operational, and turn lanes were channeling shoppers into the Woodfield Mall while through traffic kept its moving pattern," said Harris.

"We made every effort to meet Woodfield's opening, when the traffic was expected to become heavier," said Harris.

Curbing and gutter work is still in progress and work on the median strips is just beginning.

Harris said this work will not interfere with traffic flow and no further blocking of lanes is anticipated in that section of Rte. 58.

However that portion of Rte. 58 between 190 and Algonquin Road is still under construction.

Harris said the north lanes are completed and will be opened to traffic this week. "Next step is tearing out the south lanes and repaving that portion," he added.

"Rte. 58 at that location should be completed and ready for full four lane use by late fall," Harris said. Harris noted that portions of Higgins Road are still under construction but added that Higgins south of the Shopping Center has been completed for a year and a half and accepting traffic well.

This morning's rush hour traffic flowed smoothly through the Meacham and Rte. 53 intersections of Rte. 58 and offered a sharp contrast to the past years snail pace method of transportation.

Twin Lakes Wildlife Could Be Harmed By Green Paint

Ducks, ducklings and fish in North and South Twin Lakes could be harmed by continued introduction of a green material thought by Hoffman Estates residents living in the area to be paint.

Through the efforts of homeowners whose property abuts both lakes, the ducks were placed at the site almost two years ago.

Fowl population at the Twin Lakes area is estimated at about 20 including young birds, according to one homeowner who complained of the situation this week.

Last winter the same area was affected by a substance identified as crankcase oil which had apparently been poured into a nearby sewer.

All lake sites in Hoffman Estates Park District are essentially retention ponds and fluid from one circulates through all, resulting in possible pollution of the entire pond system.

Both park and village officials have repeatedly stressed that disposal of chemicals cannot be conducted through sewers.

It is there recommendation that items of this type be sealed in jars or cans and disposed of with refuse placed for scavenger service pickup.

Residents of the Twin Lakes area remain certain that water contamination is being done inadvertently by a resident unaware of the nature of the retention system.

Thus far only one of the young ducklings has gotten into a slick of the green material but after a careful washing and drying appears to be in good condition.

$10,000 Theft Suspect Held By Police

Police in Clinton, Okla., have captured the man believed responsible for the theft of $10,000 in jewelry, plus appliances and credit cards, from a Hoffman Estates woman Wednesday.

Henry Beninga, 48, whose last address was 5306 N. Pueblo, Chicago, is being held by Clinton police on a warrant from Hoffman Estates police charging him with grand theft. Lt. William Freund of Hoffman Estates said another charge of grand theft also will be filed. Meanwhile, he is contacting the Illinois state's attorney's office to determine extradition procedures. Lt. Freund commented this is the first case in which Hoffman Estates has sought to have someone extradited from another state.

Police said Beninga uses numerous aliases, including Cris Morgan, Cris F. Beninga and James C. Morgan. He allegedly used the last alias in Hoffman Estates.

When Beninga was apprehended, said Lt. Freund, he was driving the auto he allegedly stole from Mrs. Martha Balcar, 186 Bradley Ln., Hoffman Estates. In the car, said Lt. Freund, were the jewelry, radio, television set, silver and credit cards she also reported stolen.

The charge already filed against Beninga, and listed on the warrant, alleges he stole the jewelry, furnishings and credit cards. The charge yet to be filed will list theft of the car.

When Mrs. Balcar reported the theft, she said she had intended to marry the man she knew as James Morgan. When he asked for her car keys, he told her he would have repair work on the auto done for her. She gave him the keys, along with her home key, she told police. When she returned home, she found the items missing.

Nine Girls Enter Miss Hoffman Estates Pageant

Nine contestants had been confirmed as entrants in the 1971 Miss Hoffman Estates Pageant with several more applicants expected prior to yesterday's deadline for signing up, according to Jaycee Jerry Lavey, chairman of the event.

A 1971 graduate of Lake Park High School, she will enter Illinois State University, Normal, this fall.

ALL CONTESTANTS, their mothers and hostesses met with Lavey Wednesday night to review plans for the pageant and confer with Mrs. Edward (Mollie) Lewis, who is serving as chairman of hostesses and girls.

Winner of the 1971 pageant will have the use of an automobile, courtesy of Roselle Dodge Motors, during her reign and will receive a $500 scholarship.

During the next few weeks the contestants will be preparing their talent presentations and several rehearsals will be scheduled in addition to a formal rehearsal Friday, Aug. 27

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who admits leaking the top secret Pentagon papers to the press was ordered by a federal judge to appear in California on charges of illegal possession and distribution of the 47-volume study of the Vietnam war.

Working with surprising speed and ease, astronaut Alfred M. Worden wrapped up Apollo 15's spectacular lunar expedition in high style with man's first walk in deep space to retrieve priceless film of the moon.

Wholesale prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years in June, the government reported. The White House conceded the report was bad news but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

General Motors Corp announced "tentative" increases in the prices of 1972 model cars which would average 3.9 per cent, or $176 more than similarly equipped 1971 models.

The World

South Vietnam's highest court ruled that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had failed to qualify to run as a candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential elections in opposition to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

At least 36 persons were reported killed and 76 injured in a collision between passenger and freight trains south-east of Belgrade.

The State

Gregory Hansen, 15, Rockford, was arrested in connection with two of four recent slayings. He was charged with the murders of Herman Kasch and his wife Mary.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The War

A newspaper report that North Vietnam would release 183 POWs to be flown home to the United States next week brought a chorus of denials from the governments and airline involved but left questions unanswered about what actually happened.

B52 bombers struck into Cambodia against Communist positions in a region where heavy fighting has driven thousands from their homes. In ground action, Communist forces attacked a Cambodian post just 15 miles from the capital city of Phnom Penh.

The Weather

Chilly weather swept through the Midwest and Northeast again, while showers and thunderstorms spread from southern New England through the mid-Atlantic and Gulf states. Temperatures around the nation ranged from 43 at Houghton Lake and Marquette County Airport at Marquette, Mich., to 93 at Needles, Calif.

Temperatures from around the nation:

Injunction Against Local 8

A temporary restraining order, enjoining Local 8, Industrial Workers Union, AFL, from committing acts of violence and from mass picketing, has been granted to Hunter Automated Machinery Corp., 2222 Hammond Dr., Schaumburg.

The local is striking Hunter, seeking recognition as bargaining agent for machinist employees at the manufacturing firm. Picket lines have been manned at the plants since July 23. The union is alleging Hunter has intimidated employees from joining the local, and that the local has a great enough membership among employees to demand recognition.

Hunter alleges the union has not proved it does have sufficient employee members, and has asked the union to seek a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) election by which employees can vote on whether to join the union.

Hunter sought the order, appearing Monday and Tuesday before Circuit Court Judge Samuel B. Epstein, Chancery Division. The company presented testimony by employees who said they had been threatened by union members.

Also testifying was Schaumburg Police Chief Martin J. Conroy, according to Hunter's attorney, Don Lyon of Lyon and Wurman, Skokie.

Joseph Cicero of Chicago, attorney for Local 8, reported he presented testimony from other employees, and union business agents, showing the company and employees have "nothing to fear."

THE RESTRAINING order against the union was served Wednesday, on order Judge Epstein. It enjoins the union from violence or threats of violence, and from blocking entrances to and exits from the building.

Commenting on the order, Lyon said, "If there wasn't any evidence this type of activity existed, the judge wouldn't have granted" the order. Cicero declined to comment on the order, except to say Judge Epstein is a "good judge."

Lyon emphasized the company is remaining "neutral" in the union dispute, seeking only to allow the employees to choose in "a calm and peaceful election... in solitude" whether they wish union representation or prefer to bargain for themselves.

Tuesday, while testimony still was being presented, Lyon said employees who crossed picket lines testified they had been threatened with physical violence.

POINTING OUT the company has no evidence the union may have been connected with certain events, Lyon said Tuesday some vandalism has occurred since the strike began. The firm had not experienced similar vandalism before the strike, said Lyon. Among incidents he mentioned were breaking windows, jimmying locks, slashing tires and shooting through one window. Police have received a complaint from Hunter of a window being broken by air gun pellets.

Cicero said the union has not been responsible for "any violence," and the order was unnecessary.

The union also has filed charges, this time with the NLRB, alleging Hunter threatened the job security of employees who joined the local. An NLRB investigator visited the picket lines Wednesday, gathering testimony on the charges, and will likely visit company management next week, said Cicero. Any NLRB decision on the allegations will likely be delayed several months, said Cicero.

Glaucoma Screening Offered Next Week

A proclamation endorsing Hoffman Estates Lions Club free glaucoma screening service next week was issued by Mayor Frederick E. Downey Monday.

The document proclaims the week of August 8 through 14 glaucoma week in Hoffman Estates and encourages all residents to join in the observance.

Screening will be conducted Thursday, Aug. 12 and Friday Aug. 13 in Golf-Rose Shopping Center Mall area.

Eye Alternatives To 2,000-Acre Sludge Farm

Faced with a $30 to $50 million price tag for land purchase, the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) is considering alternatives to a 2,000-acre sludge farm in Schaumburg Twp.

Ed Karolewski, MSD real estate officer, said yesterday the MSD engineering staff is looking into piping the treated sewage to another location, perhaps as far away as Fulton County, near Peoria.

Last week, a land appraisal firm told the MSD board it would cost between $30 and $50 million to purchase 2,000 acres of land near the proposed Salt Creek water reclamation plant, between Route 53 and Meacham Road, south of Schaumburg Road in Schaumburg Twp.

"It sounds like a lot of money," remarked Karolewski, who was scheduled to confer yesterday afternoon with the MSD engineering department on the matter.

Karolewski said the decision, which could be made on a "high priority basis" by the MSD board, was a matter of economics and land usage.

HE EXPLAINED piping the sewage — in the form known as "sludge" — to a location distant from the Schaumburg Twp. plant would require money for constructing the pipeline. It was a question of weighing the cost of the pipeline versus the cost of on-site sludge treatment.

Land usage is the second important factor, he said. The high cost of the land — it would average between $15,000 and $25,000 per acre, the report states — reflects the high-grade land here and the demand for it, Karolewski said.

The MSD currently operates an experimental sludge farm in Fulton County, where sludge is transported by barge for recycling into a fertilizer-like product.

Sludge from the other sewage treatment plants in the Chicago metropolitan area is currently carried by pipeline to the West Southwest plant in Stickney. The alternate method of treatment mentioned by Karolewski would involve using the piping system, and he conceded the Salt Creek sewage "could end up down there, in Fulton County."

He said the Fulton County land was purchased for $2 million, but the development of environmental protection steps skyrocketed costs, and he added that such costs would occur on top of the $30-$50 million here for an on-site sludge farm.

THE APPRAISAL report, prepared by William A. McCann and Associates, noted land in the area is not readily available and that "acquisition of sufficient area to meet the MSD needs could involve lengthy condemnation proceedings."

So, at the present time the MSD staff is looking into alternatives for a sludge farm to serve the Salt Creek water reclamation plant, currently being planned. Plant completion is at least three years away, Karolewski said.

Village Officials Invited To Library

Hanover Park village officials have received formal invitations to the Aug. 23 session of the Hanover Park Public Library Association.

According to Ronald Robinder, library board chairman "the library board is anxious to discuss the future of the library with the village administration."

The library is housed in temporary quarters in the church building at 6800 Pine Tree Street, where the board meetings are held.

Board Asks OK For Zone Change

Approval of a zoning change to allow construction of a planned unit development (PUD) in conjunction with Centex-Schaumburg Industrial Park was recommended by the Schaumburg Zoning Board of Appeals Wednesday night.

Plans show 867 apartment units in two and three-story buildings.

The zoning board recommendation will be considered by the village board Aug. 17.

The recommendation carries several stipulations attached by the zoning appeals board. The developers and beneficiaries of a trust which holds title to the land may form a separate corporation, and accept stockholders, but must maintain controlling interest in the PUD.

The beneficiaries are Bennett & Kahnweiler Assoc., the Fritzkler family and Centex Corp. Bennett & Kahnweiler is an industrial and commercial property developer, with 24 projects in the Chicago area. Centex is a publicly owned corporation that builds and develops residential and industrial properties.

RESTRICTIONS PLACED on the PUD, other than that on primary ownership, were as follows.

The petitioners will seek approval from the county for a deceleration lanes on Wise Road. The proposed PUD is to be located on Wise Road about a half mile west of Roselle Road.

A proposed donation to Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54, termed acceptable by the district, is to be adjusted in light of changes in the bedroom mix of apartments to be built.

A donation to the Schaumburg cultural center is to be arranged.

The developer is to post fire lanes, and authorize the police department to ticket offenders parked in fire lanes on the private property.

Each phase of the development is to be approved by the village board before it is started, and the bedroom mix shall not exceed 15 per cent three-bedroom in any phase.

CONSTRUCTION MUST start within a year and be completed within five years. The petitioners are to grant 50 foot right-of-ways from the center of Wise Road to their property.

Parking on the east side of the PUD is to be separated from single-family homes bordering the development by plantings at least three feet tall in a 10-foot strip of land, and it is to be landscaped.

All apartment buildings must have adjacent parking areas.

Approval was granted over the objections of several homeowners attending the hearing, many of whom had attended previous sessions of the same hearing. They based their objections mainly on a comparison of tax values and tax burdens, saying the property should remain zoned industrial, as it now is, rather than being changed to allow apartments. Industrial would bring higher tax value, and would not require such services as schools, said the homeowners. The village already has sufficient areas zoned for apartments to handle future needs, they claimed.

JAMES DANA, representative from Bennett & Kahnweiler, presented the brunt of final testimony before the board. Approval of the PUD had been delayed to Wednesday night when the board requested comparisons of assessed value and tax proceeds on the land zoned industrial or for apartments.

Dana presented several comparisons. Zoned for apartments, the assessed value of the land, with state equalization figures applied, would be $5.95 million. Zoned for a single large industrial building, the value would be from $3,501,545 to $4,458,000, depending on the size of the building. If the land was subdivided into one-acre industrial sites, the value would be $4,554,000, said Dana.

Also testifying for the petitioners was Seymour Goldstein, architect, who discussed parking and drainage. He explained that he and his staff had recomputed the number of parking spaces that would be available, and by using a different parking pattern had added spaces, using less land. Russell Parker, board chairman, said he was certain the village would require more parking than was shown in plans. Goldstein said it can be provided, but doing so may require slight shifts in the placement of buildings. He

THE FIRST phase of a 60,000 square foot shopping and office center is under way at Schaumburg Road and Carver Lane. The first tenants are expected to move into the $1.5 million center late this fall. The 30 stores will include a White Men Pantry food store, cleaning and laundry center, ice cream shop, Chinese and Italian food carry outs, plus drug, pet, paint and clothing stores. On hand for the groundbreaking Tuesday were, left, Mayor Robert O. Atcher and developers, Jim Teufel, Bill Cleton and Jerry Greenberg.

Club For Retired Seeks New Members

The American Association of Retired Persons, Chapter 545, invites all area men and women over 55 years of age to join the organization.

The group's prime function is to provide social activities and companionship for older people in the area.

Upcoming activities include a third anniversary dinner-theatre party at Shady Lane Theatre, a corn roast picnic and participation in an all-community bazaar.

The group meets the fourth Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m., Church of the Cross, 541 West Higgins Rd., Hoffman Estates.

Social meetings with games are held every Thursday, 7:30 p.m., at the Hoffman Estates Park District Vogeley Recreation Center, 650 West Higgins Rd.

Other activities include needlework and art session held on the first and third Wednesday at the Vogeley Center, 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

For additional information, contact William Peters at 837-5771.

Village Engineers OK Miller Units

Harza Engineering Company, consulting engineers for Hanover Park, returned a favorable recommendation on the proposed retention facilities for the Miller Development approved for construction at Irving Park and Wise roads.

A report submitted to the village trustees states the facilities are adequate compared to the present conditions and adds that the development will reduce the runoff and flooding from storms equal to, or more severe than, a three-year frequency criteria.

The engineer does note that his only objection to the plan of the 100-acre site sent at the regular session of the village Flood Study Committee, but have not directly reported to the village board until this date.

Representatives appeared at Wednesday's session at the request of the trustees because "we are paying the $25,000 cost for the first phase of the study and want reports made directly to us."

The report was submitted verbally and Harza noted final written reports will be submitted in October.

Harza representatives said their first study includes the portion of the village that includes multi-family and commercial development was filling in of a portion of the flood plain at the north end of the Miller development.

Miller will place townhouses within 30 feet of the river bank and require up to 12 feet of fill to raise the first level several feet above the 100 year high water profile, said Harza.

Harza added however that this 100-year flood profile they use as a criteria of design would be greatly reduced if a large retention basin were constructed either on the Miller property or upstream.

north of Lake Street including Schaumburg.

The $11,000 Schaumburg flood study, paid by the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, is included in Harza's report.

Harza was hired at the request of the Hanover Park flood study committee to conduct the study of village flooding problems. Officials and various groups blamed different conditions as the cause of flooding.

Village trustees objected to Harza's practice of submitting reports to the flood study committee, and at Wednesday's session changed the procedure.

This month's flood study committee meeting, usually the first week of the month, has been rescheduled to the end of the month.

That session will be a joint one, and consist of representatives of Harza Engineering, the flood study committee and village trustees.

Future reports from Harza will be submitted the same way, at joint session of all three bodies.

At the end of the study, the village plans to invite MSD and Milwaukee Railroad representatives to the session.

The MSD is a major landholder of a portion of land around the west branch of the DuPage River, blamed by some as responsible for some of the flooding; a Milwaukee Road culvert has also been blamed as holding back creek water that subsequently backs up and floods.

Harza was not ready to include specific information at this time, but agreed creek depending could be part of the solution.

The Visible Results

Board Will Vote Monday On Budget For 1971-'72

This is the first of two articles on the Wheeling Village budget, which will be considered by the village board Monday night.

by ANNE SLAVICEK

If you let your dog run loose you may meet the new village dog catcher.

If you decide to build a home there will be a village electrical inspector to check it out.

Or if there's a persistent hole in your street it may be repaired better than ever before because of a new vibra-roller machine.

Those will be just a few of the easily visible results of various items included in the Wheeling village budget for 1971-72 which comes up for a vote at Monday's village board meeting.

The budget, an orderly stack of white papers which measures more than half an inch thick, is the "working" guide to the various village services and programs.

THIS YEAR, FOR the first time, the budget approval is following the approval of the village's appropriation ordinance, the document which sets the legal maximum amount that can be spent by the village during the year.

The proposed budget presented to the board by acting village manager George Passolt is currently almost identical in figures to the $2,304,949 appropriation ordinance adopted in July. That is about $200,000 more than last year.

But the final document, and the final decision on any of the programs, new positions, or equipment, will be agreed on only after the village board gives its approval to the budget.

As in past years the board is expected to change some figures, eliminate some programs and ask questions about others in a review of the document Monday night.

Some of the proposals which will most affect Wheeling residents are included in the budget sections dealing with village police, fire, public works, and building departments.

A VARIETY OF equipment requests including $8,100 for monitor alert radios and other items totaling $19,013 are included for village board consideration but did not receive the acting manager's recommendation.

Village police department budget figures increased from $479,710 last year to a request of $521,208 this year.

Included in the increase is the new animal warden for half a year and two additional policemen to man an accident investigation and prevention unit.

The budget proposes a total of 25 patrolmen on the department, six sergeants (the existing number), three lieutenants (there is one now), and the chief.

Text of Wheeling's appropriation ordinance is on Page 9, Section 2 in today's Herald.

Increased funds for impounding of stray animals, overall department pay raises, and $3,850 for new weapons and leather goods for the policemen also are included in the proposed budget with increased uniform allowance funds and four new cars. The cars include one additional squad car, the accident investigation unit, and replacements for the chief's and investigative division cars, Passolt said.

OFFICE EQUIPMENT totalling $1,891 and four additional police radios are a part of the recommended budget along with specialized police equipment totalling $5,526.

In the village building department there are funds to hire the new electrical inspector. In addition to the new employee, there are raises for the current employees, equipment for the office and field work of controlling building, enforcing zoning regulations, and issuing various permits.

Those changes brought this year's proposed building department budget from the $37,435 budgeted last year up to $67,315.

In the village public works department total budget figures included in the road and bridge fund and in the water and sewer fund rose to $606,859 compared to last year's total of $594,593.

The budget increases reflect the addition of two full time employees, a maintenance man and an assistant mechanic, in the road and bridge department, as well as five new part time workers in that department for street and sidewalk work.

INCREASED FUNDS for the diseased tree spraying program, sidewalk repairs, a replacement truck, the new "vibra-roller" for patching streets, a drill press, and electric garage doors are also part of the higher budget.

Included in that fund and in the water and sewer fund is $19,500 for a heated four-stall garage to be built behind the current municipal building.

A note in the budget points out that the garage should be constructed so it can be easily enlarged. "The idea is to make this in the future public works department complete with offices," the note says.

A replacement truck for the water and sewer department, $20,000 to replace a pump in village well number 5 are also shown in the proposed budget, along with a variety of other equipment.

Monday — A look at the administrative portion of the village budget, the volunteer commissions, and other village departments.

Villages Give 'Big Boost' To New Emergency Hotline

A donation of $1,500 by the Village of Buffalo Grove and $5,000 by the Village of Wheeling for an emergency hotline will give a "big boost" to the proposed Youth Services Program according to Richard Wynn.

Wynn is director of the community mental health clinic in Wheeling, formerly the TORCH Mental Health Clinic. The Wheeling Youth Commission, HELP, Inc. and the mental health clinic are seeking a $120,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission to start the program in the Wheeling-Prospect Heights area.

One of the conditions for obtaining the ILEC grant is to gain a total $40,000 worth of pledges of services and donations from the community.

"There is no question but that the donations will help the Youth Services Program," Wynn said yesterday, noting the hotline program was one of the services that would be provided in the Youth Services Program.

The purpose of the hotline would be to give persons a telephone number for emergency counseling or referral to a specialized agency that could provide help with emotional, social or medical problems.

"I am delighted at the response of both villages. When a village is hard-pressed for money and yet will make these donations, it indicates an awareness of the problem."

"IT ALSO INDICATES a willingness to take steps to deal with their own problems," the mental health clinic director said.

"This cannot help but be a strong argument before the ILEC."

Wynn also praised the efforts of the adults and young people who are working to establish the hotline.

I should emphasize this show of support is just as important as the donations," he said.

Wynn said many other community organizations have also volunteered their services to the Youth Services Program.

Members of the clinic, Wheeling Youth Commission and HELP, Inc. are currently working to revise the Youth Services Proposal in preparation for submitting it to the ILEC later this year.

Plan Weekly Bingo Games

The Buffalo Grove Fire Department plans to hold weekly bingo games to raise money for a fire station in the southern part of the village.

The department hopes to make about $2,000 a month profit from the games, according to Fire Chief Wayne Winter.

Winter has already applied for a license from the state under a new law which makes bingo legal beginning Oct. 1. Last Monday, he asked the village board for permission to hold the games in the fire house.

The board decided to take no formal action until it could check the legal implications of Winter's request, but the trustees all indicated support for the plan.

IF THE STATE and village approve the plan, the fire department will hold bingo games each Thursday night in the fire house, adjacent to the municipal building at Raupp Boulevard and Lake Cook Road.

Winter said that there would be "20 to 25 games a night and we'll split the money, after our expenses, 50-50," half in prizes, half in profit for the fire department. The maximum prize, under the new law, would be $500, but Winter indicated that the prizes would not be that large.

Fire insurance rating officials have told Winter that the village should have a second fire station, closer to developments near Dundee Road, including Cambridge, Mill Creek, Villa Verde, and the Buffalo Grove High School.

"We have to raise the money for it," Winter said, "but instead of raising taxes or having a bond issue, we thought we'd let people enjoy themselves. If we can raise enough money, and people have a good time that's fine. I never met anyone who enjoyed paying taxes."

Volunteers Needed To Solicit Funds

Volunteers are needed on Aug. 27 to solicit funds in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights for the hotline project sponsored by HELP, Inc.

HELP members intend to set up the hotline program by Oct. 1 to serve the three communities. The hotline will be manned by volunteers and would give persons a number to call for emergency counseling or referral to a special agency that could handle their problem.

Persons interested in soliciting funds on "Hotline Day" should call Mrs. Bobbie Willin of Prospect Heights at 296-1464.

A meeting will be held on Aug. 18 at Wheeling High School to give the volunteer solicitors information about the fund raising campaign and assign them a location to work.

The volunteers will man two-hour shifts at various intersections and shopping centers in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights. Funds will be collected between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Junior high and high school students are invited to solicit funds, as well as adults.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who admits leaking the top secret Pentagon papers to the press was ordered by a federal judge to appear in California on charges of illegal possession and distribution of the 47-volume study of the Vietnam war.

Working with surprising speed and ease, astronaut Alfred M. Worden wrapped up Apollo 15's spectacular lunar expedition in high style with man's first walk in deep space to retrieve priceless film of the moon.

Wholesale prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years in June, the government reported. The White House conceded the report was bad news but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

General Motors Corp announced "tentative" increases in the prices of 1972 model cars which would average 3.9 per cent, or $176 more than similarly equipped 1971 models.

The World

South Vietnam's highest court ruled that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had failed to qualify to run as a candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential elections in opposition to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

At least 36 persons were reported killed and 76 injured in a collision between passenger and freight trains south-east of Belgrade.

The State

Gregory Hansen, 15, Rockford, was arrested in connection with two of four recent slayings. He was charged with the murders of Herman Kasch and his wife Mary.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The War

A newspaper report that North Vietnam would release 183 POWs to be flown home to the United States next week brought a chorus of denials from the governments and airline involved but left questions unanswered about what actually happened.

B52 bombers struck into Cambodia against Communist positions in a region where heavy fighting has driven thousands from their homes. In ground action, Communist forces attacked a Cambodian post just 15 miles from the capital city of Phnom Penh.

The Weather

Chilly weather swept through the Midwest and Northeast again, while showers and thunderstorms spread from southern New England through the mid-Atlantic and Gulf states. Temperatures around the nation ranged from 43 at Houghton Lake and Marquette County Airport at Marquette, Mich., to 93 at Needles, Calif.

School Board Fires Architects

Architectural Management Inc was fired by the Prospect Heights Dist 23 School Board Wednesday night.

The architect firm was hired by the district in October, 1970 to design and supervise construction of additions to Douglas MacArthur Junior High School, and Betsy Ross School and the remodeling of Anne Sullivan School.

Wednesday the board voted unanimously to "terminate the services of Architect Management Inc for cause." The cause includes a long list of complaints the board has accumulated against the architect.

Since the problems began about five months ago the district has not paid the architect firm. The firm has written the district asking that it pay bills totaling about $5,000. Of the total bill to date of $40,000, the district has paid the architect about $23,000.

In listing their complaints the school officials pointed to the architect's failure to secure a Cook County building permit until after the construction began. School board members discovered the permit had not been issued after they were notified by the county that the architect's plans did not meet the Illinois Life Safety Code.

The school board has held a series of special meetings during the past weeks to discuss the code violations and other changes that had to be made in the architect's plans. Construction was halted in the midst of the project until the code violations were corrected and a building permit was issued. The work taken to correct the violations involved such things as adding heat and smoke detectors, changing the ventilation system in the gym and lowering a ceiling in the library.

The school board refused to accept the building permit until the architect agreed to pay a portion of the $900 cost of the code violation corrections. School officials contended that the architect was financially responsible for the fact that the district had to assume additional construction costs after voters approved a bond sale based on an earlier construction estimate.

In addition the district had to pay $15,000 for change orders in the architect's plans. These revisions were requested by district personnel and the county education office. The revisions, corrections and late issuance of the building permit have pushed the construction schedule back several months. School officials do not expect all of the construction to be completed before November. Originally the construction was scheduled to be completed in September.

In addition to the extra expenses and delay in construction the school board members are concerned about the amount of time they have had to spend supervising the construction. Administrators and school board members charge there has been a "lack of supervision on the job on the part of the architects."

District administrators are now looking for an architect to complete the three construction projects. The architect will have to supervise the construction and make revisions in engineering drawings. The district has worked with the just fired architect firm since 1964. Until last year the firm was called Alexander, Westphal, Borkon and De Young. The name of the firm changed after some of the principals left. The original firm designed the district's John Muir School, Dwight Eisenhower School and an addition to MacArthur.

According to school officials several other school districts have either fired or dropped the architect firm.

St. Mary's Church Sets Family Fair

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Buffalo Grove will hold a family fair from 2 to 8 p.m. Sept. 19 in the church parking lot. The fair will feature a white elephant sale and a bazaar booth, as well as games, prizes, sack races and hay rides. Refreshments will be served.

Eye Alternatives To 2,000-Acre Sludge Farm

Faced with a $30 to $50 million price tag for land purchase, the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) is considering alternatives to a 2,000-acre sludge farm in Schaumburg Twp.

Ed Karolewski, MSD real estate officer, said yesterday the MSD engineering staff is looking into piping the treated sewage to another location, perhaps as far away as Fulton County, near Peoria.

Last week, a land appraisal firm told the MSD board it would cost between $30 and $50 million to purchase 2,000 acres of land near the proposed Salt Creek water reclamation plant, between Route 53 and Meacham Road, south of Schaumburg Road in Schaumburg Twp.

"It sounds like a lot of money," remarked Karolewski, who was scheduled to confer yesterday afternoon with the MSD engineering department on the matter.

Karolewski said the decision, which could be made on a "high priority basis" by the MSD board, was a matter of economics and land usage.

HE EXPLAINED piping the sewage — in the form known as "sludge" — to a location distant from the Schaumburg Twp. plant would require money for constructing the pipeline. It was a question of weighing the cost of the pipeline versus the cost of on-site sludge treatment.

Land usage is the second important factor, he said. The high cost of the land — it would average between $15,000 and $25,000 per acre, the report states — reflects the high-grade land here and the demand for it, Karolewski said.

The MSD currently operates an experimental sludge farm in Fulton County, where sludge is transported by barge for recycling into a fertilizer-like product.

Sludge from the other sewage treatment plants in the Chicago metropolitan area is currently carried by pipeline to the West Southwest plant in Stickney. The alternate method of treatment mentioned by Karolewski would involve using the piping system, and he conceded the Salt Creek sewage "could end up down there, in Fulton County."

He said the Fulton County land was purchased for $2 million, but the development of environmental protection steps skyrocketed costs, and he added that such costs would occur on top of the $30-$50 million here for an on-site sludge farm.

THE APPRAISAL report, prepared by William A. McCann and Associates, noted land in the area is not readily available and that "acquisition of sufficient area to meet the MSD needs could involve lengthy condemnation proceedings."

So, at the present time the MSD staff is looking into alternatives for a sludge farm to serve the Salt Creek water reclamation plant, currently being planned. Plant completion is at least three years away, Karolewski said.

Village Fire Department Plans Weekly Bingo Games

The Buffalo Grove Fire Department plans to hold weekly bingo games to raise money for a fire station in the southern part of the village.

The department hopes to make about $2,000 a month profit from the games, according to Fire Chief Wayne Winter.

Winter has already applied for a license from the state under a new law which makes bingo legal beginning Oct. 1. Last Monday, he asked the village board for permission to hold the games in the fire house.

The board decided to take no formal action until it could check the legal implications of Winter's request, but the trustees all indicated support for the plan.

IF THE STATE and village approve the plan, the fire department will hold bingo games each Thursday night in the fire house, adjacent to the municipal building at Raupp Boulevard and Lake Cook Road.

Winter said that there would be "20 to 25 games a night and we'll split the money, after our expenses, 50-50," half in prizes, half in profit for the fire department. The maximum prize, under the new law, would be $500, but Winter indicated that the prizes would not be that large.

Fire insurance rating officials have told Winter that the village should have a second fire station, closer to devel-

'More Enjoyable Than Taxes'

Weekly bingo games are the most recent, but not necessarily the most novel method of fund raising dreamed up by the Buffalo Grove Fire Department.

In its search for fresh revenue, the department has staged carnivals and toyed with the idea of operating its own tavern.

"We used to have a carnival every year, but we had to drop that because of the gambling laws," said Fire Chief Wayne Winter. "That was too bad, too. We made $10,000 a year on the carnival."

Winter, the only full-time, paid member of the department, said that after the demise of the carnival, the firemen began looking for another way of raising money.

SOMEONE HIT UPON the idea of buying Bill's Buffalo House, a tavern distinguished by the Buffalo Head over the bar and the clanking of beer bottles that continuously slam into each other on their way down a chute to the basement.

The idea went so far that firemen explored the possibility of getting a liquor license from the village. "But they were asking too much for the place," said Winter, and the plan collapsed.

Then, this week, Winter was before the village board with another idea: Weekly bingo in the fire house. Village officials were generally agreeable, but declined to give immediate approval.

The department wants to use the money from bingo for a new fire station and, Winter says, "It's more enjoyable than taxes."

opments near Dundee Road, including Cambridge, Mill Creek, Villa Verde, and the Buffalo Grove High School.

"We have to raise the money for it," Winter said, "but instead of raising taxes or having a bond issue, we thought we'd let people enjoy themselves. If we can raise enough money, and people have a good time that's fine. I never met anyone who enjoyed paying taxes."

WHEN HE PRESENTED his request to the village board, Winter was questioned at length about the legality of a fire department sponsoring bingo. Winter replied that state officials told him the department would qualify, but he will not know if this is true until he receives a license.

Winter said the state will not begin processing license requests until later this month.

Trustee Thomas Mahoney wondered whether the new law actually allows a fire department to hold bingo, and Village Atty. Richard Raysa said he wants to check the law before the board acts on Winter's request.

Mahoney also wanted the village's ordinances checked to see if one of them prohibits gambling. If it does, Mahoney said it may have to be revised before bingo games could be held.

Trustees also wanted to be certain that the village would be reimbursed for electricity used at the games and that bingo players would be covered by liability insurance.

Winter said the players would park their cars at the Buffalo Grove Golf Club and that firemen would handle traffic and operate games. Only coffee would be served, he said.

The board delayed action on Winter's request but he asked for some indication of support "so we can go ahead with our plans." Village Pres. Gary Armstrong then polled the board and all members said they support the general idea of the bingo games.

KEEP THAT FLAG STRAIGHT. Robert Hoehn instructs young members of the local First Illinois Drum and Bugle Corps during practice sessions each Tuesday evening at the Amvets Hall. The Corps next appearance will be Aug. 22, when they will perform at the Wisconsin State Fair in Waukesha. The "Volunteers" will have a picnic Sunday at Lake Geneva to interest more young people in the corps.

Villages Give 'Big Boost' To New Emergency Hotline

A donation of $1,500 by the Village of Buffalo Grove and $5,000 by the Village of Wheeling for an emergency hotline will give a "big boost" to the proposed Youth Services Program according to Richard Wynn.

Wynn is director of the community mental health clinic in Wheeling, formerly the TORCH Mental Health Clinic. The Wheeling Youth Commission, HELP, Inc. and the mental health clinic are seeking a $120,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission to start the program in the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove-Prospect Heights area.

One of the conditions for obtaining the ILEC grant is to gain a total $40,000 worth of pledges of services and donations from the community.

"There is no question but that the donations will help the Youth Services Program," Wynn said yesterday, noting the hotline program was one of the services that would be provided in the Youth Services Program.

The purpose of the hotline would be to give persons a telephone number for emergency counseling or referral to a specialized agency that could provide help with emotional, social or medical problems.

"I am delighted at the response of both villages. When a village is hard-pressed for money and yet will make these donations, it indicates an awareness of the problem."

"IT ALSO INDICATES a willingness to take steps to deal with their own problems," the mental health clinic director said.

"This cannot help but be a strong argument before the ILEC."

Wynn also praised the efforts of the adults and young people who are working to establish the hotline.

I should emphasize this show of support is just as important as the donations," he said.

Wynn said many other community organizations have also volunteered their services to the Youth Services Program.

Members of the clinic, Wheeling Youth Commission and HELP, Inc. are currently working to revise the Youth Services Proposal in preparation for submitting it to the ILEC later this year.

Health Officer Approved

The Buffalo Grove Village Board has approved the appointment of Don Schindler as health officer, even though the village attorney expressed doubts about the action.

Atty. Richard Raysa's doubts had nothing to do with the qualifications of Schindler, who is now village sanitarian. Raysa was worried about the publication of the ordinance creating the position of health officer.

The ordinance was passed last week and immediately after the vote Village Pres. Gary Armstrong appointed Schindler. The board approved the appointment, but Raysa said they must wait until the ordinance is published before making the appointment.

Monday night, Armstrong again appointed Schindler. He told the village board that the ordinance had been "published in pamphlet form" and held up a sheet of paper on which the ordinance was printed.

TRUSTEE EDWARD Fabish asked if the "pamphlet" could take the place of the normal newspaper publication. Armstrong said it could and added that the "pamphlet" had been available at the municipal building for a week.

Raysa agreed that a pamphlet could be used, but added, "I don't really think it would qualify as a pamphlet."

"We could go broke publishing in the paper," Armstrong replied. Village Mgr. Daniel Larson said the village spends "thousands of dollars" a year on newspaper publication of legal notices. "The appropriation ordinance alone costs $300 or $400," Larson said.

The village board then ignored Raysa's comments and unanimously approved Schindler's appointment.

After the vote Trustee Randall Rathjen suggested that such ordinances be published in a newspaper in the future. Armstrong said that important notices would be, particularly those involving money, but indicated that he would continue to try to save money by using "pamphlets" for less important notices.

Volunteers Needed To Solicit Funds

Volunteers are needed on Aug. 27 to solicit funds in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights for the hotline project sponsored by HELP, Inc.

HELP members intend to set up the hotline program by Oct. 1 to serve the three communities. The hotline will be manned by volunteers and would give persons a number to call for emergency counseling or referral to a special agency that could handle their problem.

Persons interested in soliciting funds on "Hotline Day" should call Mrs. Bobbie Willin of Prospect Heights at 296-1464.

A meeting will be held on Aug. 18 at Wheeling High School to give the volunteer solicitors information about the fund raising campaign and assign them a location to work.

The volunteers will man two-hour shifts at various intersections and shopping centers in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights. Funds will be collected between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Junior high and high school students are invited to solicit funds, as well as adults.

School Board Fires Architects

Architectural Management Inc. was fired by the Prospect Heights Dist. 23 School Board Wednesday night.

The architect firm was hired by the district in October, 1970 to design and supervise construction of additions to Douglas MacArthur Junior High School, and Betsy Ross School and the remodeling of Anne Sullivan School.

Wednesday the board voted unanimously to "terminate the services of Architectural Management Inc. for cause." The cause includes a long list of complaints the board has accumulated against the architect.

Since the problems began about five months ago, the district has not paid the architect firm. The firm has written the district asking that it pay bills totaling about $5,000. Of the total bill to date of $40,000, the district has paid the architect about $23,000.

In listing their complaints the school officials pointed to the architect's failure to secure a Cook County building permit until after the construction began. School board members discovered the permit had not been issued after they were notified by the county that the architects plans did not meet the Illinois Life Safety Code.

The school board has held a series of special meetings during the past weeks to discuss the code violations and other changes that had to be made in the architect's plans. Construction was halted in the midst of the project until the code violations were corrected and a building permit was issued. The work taken to correct the violations involved such things as adding heat and smoke detectors, changing the ventilation system in the gym and lowering a ceiling in the library.

The school board refused to accept the building permit until the architect agreed to pay a portion of the $900 cost of the code violation corrections. School officials contended that the architect was financially responsible for the fact that the district had to assume additional construction costs after voters approved a bond sale based on an earlier construction estimate.

In addition the district had to pay $15,000 for change orders in the architect's plans. These revisions were requested by district personnel and the county education office. The revisions, corrections and late issuance of the building permit have pushed the construction schedule back several months. School officials do not expect all of the construction to be completed before November. Originally the construction was scheduled to be completed in September.

In addition of the extra expenses and delay in construction the school board members are concerned about the amount of time they have had to spend supervising the construction. Administrators and school board members charge there has been a "lack of supervision on the job on the part of the architects."

District administrators are now looking for an architect to complete the three construction projects. The architect will have to supervise the construction and make revisions in engineering drawings.

The district has worked with the just fired architect firm since 1964. Until last year the firm was called Alexander, Westphal, Borkon and De Young. The name of the firm changed after some of the principals left. The original firm designed the district's John Muir School, Dwight Eisenhower School and an addition to Mac Arthur.

According to school officials several other school districts have either fired or dropped the architect firm.

St. Mary's Church Sets Family Fair

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Buffalo Grove will hold a family fair from 2 to 8 p.m. Sept. 19 in the church parking lot.

The fair will feature a white elephant sale and a bazaar booth, as well as games, prizes, sack races and hay rides. Refreshments will be served.

Sludge from the other sewage treatment plants in the Chicago metropolitan area is currently carried by pipeline to the West Southwest plant in Stickney. The alternate method of treatment mentioned by Karolewski would involve using the piping system, and he conceded the Salt Creek sewage "could end up down there, in Fulton County."

He said the Fulton County land was purchased for $2 million, but the development of environmental protection steps skyrocketed costs, and he added that such costs would occur on top of the $30-$50 million here for an on-site sludge farm.

THE APPRAISAL report, prepared by William A. McCann and Associates, noted land in the area is not readily available and that "acquisition of sufficient area to meet the MSD needs could involve lengthy condemnation proceedings."

So, at the present time the MSD staff is looking into alternatives for a sludge farm to serve the Salt Creek water reclamation plant, currently being planned. Plant completion is at least three years away, Karolewski said.

Eye Alternatives To 2,000-Acre Sludge Farm

Faced with a $30 to $50 million price tag for land purchase, the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) is considering alternatives to a 2,000-acre sludge farm in Schaumburg Twp.

Ed Karolewski, MSD real estate officer, said yesterday the MSD engineering staff is looking into piping the treated sewage to another location, perhaps as far away as Fulton County, near Peoria.

Last week, a land appraisal firm told the MSD board it would cost between $30 and $50 million to purchase 2,000 acres of land near the proposed Salt Creek water reclamation plant, between Route 53 and Meacham Road, south of Schaumburg Road in Schaumburg Twp.

"It sounds like a lot of money," remarked Karolewski, who was scheduled to confer yesterday afternoon with the MSD engineering department on the matter.

Karolewski said the decision, which could be made on a "high priority basis" by the MSD board, was a matter of economics and land usage.

HE EXPLAINED piping the sewage — in the form known as "sludge" — to a location distant from the Schaumburg Twp. plant would require money for constructing the pipeline. It was a question of weighing the cost of the pipeline versus the cost of on-site sludge treatment.

Land usage is the second important factor, he said. The high cost of the land — it would average between $15,000 and $25,000 per acre, the report states — reflects the high-grade land here and the demand for it, Karolewski said.

The MSD currently operates an experimental sludge farm in Fulton County, where sludge is transported by barge for recycling into a fertilizer-like product.

Sludge from the other sewage treatment plants in the Chicago metropolitan area is currently carried by pipeline to the West Southwest plant in Stickney. The alternate method of treatment mentioned by Karolewski would involve using the piping system, and he conceded the Salt Creek sewage "could end up down there, in Fulton County."

He said the Fulton County land was purchased for $2 million, but the development of environmental protection steps skyrocketed costs, and he added that such costs would occur on top of the $30-$50 million here for an on-site sludge farm.

THE APPRAISAL report, prepared by William A. McCann and Associates, noted land in the area is not readily available and that "acquisition of sufficient area to meet the MSD needs could involve lengthy condemnation proceedings."

So, at the present time the MSD staff is looking into alternatives for a sludge farm to serve the Salt Creek water reclamation plant, currently being planned. Plant completion is at least three years away, Karolewski said.

Buildings May Fall To Hicks Road Widening

Proposed widening of Hicks Road through Palatine may result in destruction of five buildings and partial destruction of three buildings, according to the latest plans and report of the state division of highways.

Previous estimates made by the Palatine Chamber of Commerce on the amount of building damage went as high as 30 businesses along Northwest Highway-Hicks Road that would be wiped out because of the road improvement.

A total of 45 different buildings, homes and lots are expected to be affected by the road widening, either through partial right-of-way acquisition, partial building damage or complete building damage. These locations were cited in a letter from Henry Yamanaka of the state division of highways to the Village of Palatine.

The five buildings to suffer complete damage are: Marc Terry Motors, an office building at Linden Avenue and Kenilworth Road, Busch Auto Service Center, the Dawg Hut and a realtor.

Two other firms and a lock and key shop will have partial building damage under the proposal.

IN HIS LETTER TO the village, Yamanaka said he intends to hold a public hearing on the entire project in late October.

Besides the right-of-way acquisitions and building damages, the letter explained the existing railroad crossing at Hicks Road and the Chicago and North Western Ry. tracks exceeds the state's provisions for allowing a grade separation, making an underpass or overpass on Hicks Road appropriate in the road improvements.

The letter also recommended that the proposed intersection of Hicks and Baldwin Road not be realigned with the existing entrance for the Palatine Plaza, as was previously suggested by village officials.

"The high volumes of traffic on Northwest Highway and Hicks Road would yield poor traffic operation if this realignment is actually provided," Yamanaka's letter stated.

Concerning parking, Yamanaka suggested the village use its money "to acquire new or upgrade existing off-street parking locations, rather than supply 50 per cent of the costs for a parking lane along the highway."

A COPY OF Yamanaka's letter with the building damage information was also sent to the Palatine Chamber of Commerce, which is conducting a study of the project and the number of businesses to be affected.

Jerry Pinderski, chairman of the chamber's committee, said Thursday his committee would give a report to the full chamber in about two weeks so that the group can take a stand on the proposed widening.

"I just this week received more information from the state and village which I'd been waiting weeks for and we're still digesting it," he said. "A decision at Monday's board meeting might be premature."

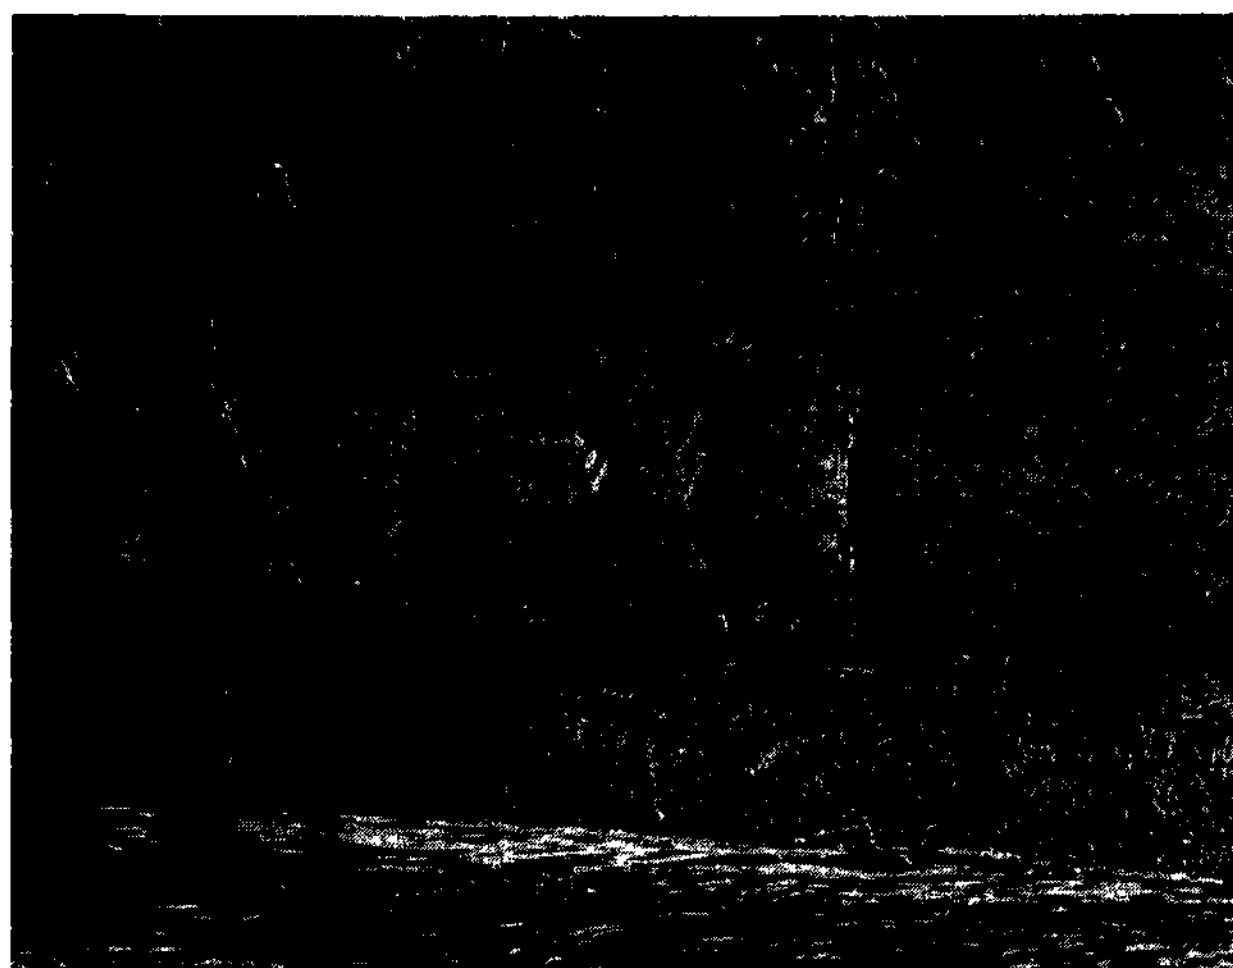

Although the state letter cites only five buildings to undergo complete damage, Pinderski said many more buildings might be included in the five takings. "Philippe Brothers Realty itself has five different businesses in one building," he said. "When you add all the businesses up, the number becomes quite significant."

Some right-of-way acquisition also comes extremely close to the buildings, he said. "The right-of-way goes just two feet from Denz Drug Store, which wipes out all parking there," he said.

"We're feeling the effects of the project on a much deeper basis than the village is."

The Palatine Village Board last month decided to direct the state division of highways to continue with plans on the project, giving the state the village support.

"I HAVEN'T heard of anyone being jubilant about the idea," Pinderski said. "Most businessmen are apprehensive about the whole project."

SUNNY SKIES and pleasant temperatures predicted for this weekend should make the picnic areas a popular place to be. This group is taking a pause in its tennis match to enjoy the fine weather.

Construction Plans Set By YMCA Board

Final plans for the Countryside YMCA were approved by the Y's board of directors at its special meeting Tuesday night, heading the building for an early spring groundbreaking.

A building committee to act as liaison between the board and the architects, Otis and Associates, Inc., of Northbrook was also formed at the meeting, held at the Leadership Center. Leonard Newendorp, principal of Palatine High School and Y board member, was named chairman of the committee.

Newendorp is expected to name the other committee members next week.

Y director Herman Hertog said the architects now have the preliminary plans approved by the board, and will be preparing final drawings. These drawings will include elevation drawings as well as all engineering specifications, Hertog said.

The Y won't be ready to accept construction bids until these drawings are completed, Hertog said, which should be around Dec. 1.

"BEING PRACTICAL, we can't expect to start construction until early spring," Hertog said. "The bidding process is a pretty involved one, and by the time that's over winter weather will probably slow us down."

The Y thus has three or four months to raise the additional $324,000 it needs to meet its fund raising goal of $1.75 million. Hertog said the Y has so far raised about $1,426,000.

Hertog reiterated the Y's position that when the construction bids are ready to be accepted, the fund raising will stop. He said if the full amount is not raised, some facilities will have to be removed from the plans.

The facilities included in the approved plans are an indoor swimming pool, gymnasium, youth and family games room, all purpose snack bar and kitchen, arts and crafts room, shallow water instruction pool, teen center, pre-school program area and two adult physical fitness centers.

Hertog said members and friends of the Countryside YMCA could see the approved plans at the Leadership Center, 115 W. Johnson, Palatine.

Village Band Sets Eighth Concert

Palatine Village Band's eighth concert in the series of 10 Concerts Under the Stars will begin at 8 p.m. at the Palatine Hills Recreation area at the golf course on Northwest Highway.

Featured at the concert will be trumpeter Stanley Louiseau playing "Concerto for Trumpet" by Franz Josef Haydn.

A member of the Village Band for the past two years, Louiseau has a bachelor of music degree from Butler University at Indianapolis. He's been a high school band director in Northern Indiana and played regularly with the symphony orchestras in Elkhart and South Bend. He currently is a member of the Chicago Civic Symphony and has performed several times during the 1970-71 season with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

The rest of this week's concert will be devoted to "Popular Music — Then and Now." Included in the program are "Tiger Rag," "South Rampart Street Parade," "Caravan," "Tea for Two," and others.

Currently popular selections include "Theme from Love Story," "High Chaparral," and three songs from "Hair."

In addition to Friday's concert, the band will perform Wednesday evening in Elgin at the Wing Park Band Shell.

Park 12 Hours At Depot

When Palatine's new railroad depot opens in late September, there will be about two-thirds 12-hour meters, to one-third short term meters in the large parking lot for commuters and shoppers using the depot.

The village board this week approved purchase of 250 parking meters and 190 pipe standards from Duncan Meters Co. of Elk Grove Village to be located in the new village municipal lots.

Most of the meters to be placed at Lot No. 8 north of the railroad tracks will be 12-hour meters for Chicago commuters. Some 70 meters will be used for two-hour time limits for shoppers making use of the several stores at the transportation center.

According to Village Mgr. Berton Braun, the meters will be an interchangeable variety so mechanism-setting time limits can be changed to meet the parking needs. A meter first established with a 12-hour limit can be converted to a 10 or 8-hour limit, depending upon the use for each.

The village board had given previous consideration to the optimum mix of time meters for the new lots, but no decision had been reached. With a two-third to one-third ratio, the parking system can be tried out and changed if necessary.

Developer Still Waiting To Build Apartments

Ralph Marotte who would like to develop the 105-unit Wynngate Apartments on four and one-half acres at Cedar and Wilson streets in Palatine, is still being told to wait before going ahead with his plans.

The Palatine Plan Commission this week advised him for the second time it would postpone a decision on his proposed project until a village committee studying the future of the central business district comes up with some proposals for improvement of the area.

The land Marotte would like to develop is approximately five blocks from the new railroad depot and six blocks from the downtown area. The land lies behind the existing Cedar Garden Apartments.

Although the plan commission refused to make any recommendation on the project until the downtown committee makes a report, Tom Moody, chairman of the plan commission, told Marotte he still has the option of going directly to the village board for a decision.

MAROTTE SAID he plans to write the village board and request to be placed on the agenda for the committee of the whole meeting in two weeks to appeal his case and seek approval.

"We feel the property is not that close to the downtown area to be involved in the planning there and to cause us such a delay," Marotte said. "We'd like to start construction this fall."

At the first hearing before the plan commission, a question was raised concerning a pre-annexation agreement made between the village board and owner of the land, Philippe Brothers Realty. Objection to the apartments was raised by a resident who claimed the Cedar Garden Apartments previously were allowed to be constructed only with the stipulation the back four and one-half acres, proposed for Wynngate, would only be used for single-family units.

If such an agreement actually had been reached earlier, it would have prevented the development of Marotte's Wynngate Apartments.

However, village officials have checked past records and have not been able to find any notice of such an agreement. Marotte said he also checked into the matter and found no record of an agreement.

ARCHITECT OF THE project, William Vaughn, drew up plans for the apartments which call for five, three-story buildings constructed at the southwest corner of Cedar and Wilson. A total of 105 units are planned, with 16 efficiencies and 85 one-bedroom apartments.

Each building will be a different ground elevation as part of the landscaping for the project. Some 50 feet will separate each building.

Marotte said a total of $25,000 in street work is also planned for the project to lengthen Cedar and Wilson streets.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who admits leaking the top secret Pentagon papers to the press was ordered by a federal judge to appear in California on charges of illegal possession and distribution of the 47-volume study of the Vietnam war.

Working with surprising speed and ease, astronaut Alfred M. Worden wrapped up Apollo 15's spectacular lunar expedition in high style with man's first walk in deep space to retrieve priceless film of the moon.

Wholesale prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years in June, the government reported. The White House conceded the report was bad news but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

General Motors Corp announced "tentative" increases in the prices of 1972 model cars which would average 3.9 per cent, or $176 more than similarly equipped 1971 models.

The World

South Vietnam's highest court ruled that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had failed to qualify to run as a candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential elections in opposition to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

At least 38 persons were reported killed and 78 injured in a collision between passenger and freight trains south-east of Belgrade.

The State

Gregory Hansen, 15, Rockford, was arrested in connection with two of four recent slayings. He was charged with the murders of Herman Kasch and his wife Mary.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The War

A newspaper report that North Vietnam would release 183 POWs to be flown home to the United States next week brought a chorus of denials from the governments and airline involved but left questions unanswered about what actually happened.

B-52 bombers struck into Cambodia against Communist positions in a region where heavy fighting has driven thousands from their homes. In ground action, Communist forces attacked a Cambodian post just 15 miles from the capital city of Phnom Penh.

The Weather

Chilly weather swept through the Midwest and Northeast again, while showers and thunderstorms spread from southern New England through the mid-Atlantic and Gulf states. Temperatures around the nation ranged from 43 at Houghton Lake and Marquette County Airport at Marquette, Mich., to 93 at Needles, Calif.

Temperatures from around the nation:

	High	Low
Atlanta	88	71
Boston	77	70
Houston	76	71

NOTICE OF VIOLATION signs were erected on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex by Rolling Meadows officials this week.

Dangerous Building Signs Placed At Meadow Terrace

"Dangerous building" signs were placed on five apartment buildings in the Meadow Trace complex this week by Rolling Meadows officials.

The signs, entitled "Notice of Violation," state that the building and zoning officer and city council have determined the apartments are dangerous buildings.

Building and Zoning Officer Sverre Haug said the buildings, located on the southwest side of Rolling Meadows are in violation of the city's safety code and were fire hazards.

Last month Haug asked that additional exits be constructed and ventilation improved in the basements of the buildings following an inspection. A time table was set up whereby Kassuba Development Co., owners of the complex, would make these corrections at the rate of two buildings each month starting in July.

To date Haug has received no response from Kassuba officials of intent to make the corrections or any plans for the necessary improvements. On the legal advice of the city attorney, who has also been unsuccessful in getting Kassuba officials to take appropriate action, the signs were erected.

"IF WE DON'T GET response (from Kassuba) to the signs in regard to correcting the building code violations further legal steps will be taken," said Joseph M. Ladd, who is replacing City Atty. Donald M. Rose while he is on vacation. He declined to state what further action might be taken.

Haug said the effect of the signs is to warn people but the city couldn't stop people from going into the basement if they wanted to.

In the event of a fire, Haug said a person in the basement area would be trapped and unable to get out.

This week's action highlights a year of criticism of the complex by residents and city officials. The initial inspection of the buildings took place last October after several tenants complained to city officials.

The complaints reached a peak last January when one of the buildings was destroyed by fire.

Criticism of the complex has been so intense that city officials have discussed taking measures to have the complex dismantled from the city.

John Blyth, Meadow Trace manager, had reported in July that the necessary improvements would be made to the basements to meet city codes but he was unavailable for comment yesterday.

Palatine Today

Village Provides Friendly Shops

(Editor's Note: A technical error caused the wrong column to appear in yesterday's paper. We regret the confusion.)

by MARTHA KOPER

Something big happened to Palatine this week and it didn't even take place in town. Woodfield Mall in Schaumburg opened.

Billed as the country's largest shopping center, Woodfield opens new horizons to local residents. It's located near the tollway on Golf Road, just a hop, skip and jump from Palatine.

Few people will dispute the magnificence of the occasion. Few people, that is, except Palatine businessmen, but they're not panicking.

Knowing for the past couple of years that Woodfield would open this summer, the local Chamber of Commerce began its strategy a long time ago. Although all plans didn't go as smoothly as hoped, the group now appears to be calm about the giant looming to the south.

A motto has sprung up which describes their reason for relaxation. "Palatine — A Real Home Town."

The Chamber is promoting a return to putting people in business. It seems to believe the country is yearning for the good old days of close-knit hometowns. A place where almost everybody knows everybody else.

FOR SEVERAL MONTHS the Chamber has stressed friendship shopping to its members. Believing that customers will return time after time if they're given a smile and extra special attention, the Chamber wants all local merchants to add the personal touch to their sales techniques.

It's such a simple idea it just may work. There's not many shoppers who don't like to be recognized when they go into a store and if a sales clerk actually remembers the name, the friendly atmosphere is enhanced.

A new director of the Chamber started his job this week. His qualifications and opinions indicate the Chamber's strategy will continue.

A friendly sort of guy, Dave Shoemaker, believes the town has great potential for keeping Palatine residents shopping in Palatine.

Although it's probable most local people will make frequent trips to the newest attraction in Schaumburg, they may find service and handshakes outweigh size and coldness.

It's almost like the story of David and Goliath. But only time will tell if the sling shot is a good weapon against skyscrapers.

Choir To Sing At State Fair

The Palatine High School A capella Choir will compete at the Illinois State Fair next weekend.

It's the only choir from this area going to Springfield to perform, according to David Reiser, choir director.

He said the group will give a 30-minute concert of varied music ranging from serious to popular. The performance will be judged, and any prizes awarded at the end of the fair.

Hard Work Keeps Her Going

100th Birthday A Bittersweet Party

by LINDA PUNCH

When the family gathers Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Victoria Rembowski's 100th birthday, it will be a bittersweet occasion.

Only two weeks ago they were together for the funeral of Mrs. Rembowski's last surviving child and only son.

Mrs. Rembowski, who lived with her son at the Willow Terrace Trailer Park in Elk Grove Township until his death, had a birthday celebration there earlier this week. The party, organized by Ida Knoll, was attended by several of the Rembowski's trailer park neighbors.

A bouquet of long-stem red roses was presented to Mrs. Rembowski as she stepped from her granddaughter's car. She climbed the stairs to the trailer unaided and entered her son's home for the first time since his death.

SHE SEEMED a little lost as she sat down in a black leather chair in the corner of the living room. Memories of the past seemed to compete with events of the present for her attention.

Her granddaughter kept up a continual flow of conversation, speaking to Mrs. Rembowski in Polish one minute and to the guests in English the next.

A handmade black mohair shawl, a basket of fruit and a rosary blessed by the Pope were given to Mrs. Rembowski by her neighbors. She also received the traditional birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

"When I handed her the letter from President Nixon, she asked me if it was a bill," said Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Rembowski's granddaughter. "When I explained to her what it was, she was really astonished. She keeps it with her and shows it to everybody."

Mrs. Rembowski was born in Konig, Poland, Aug. 8, 1871, and came to this country in 1904. She lived in the small Polish town of West Wyoming, Pa., until her coalminer husband's death there in 1928. Mrs. Rembowski moved to the northwest side of Chicago in 1929 to live with her son and his family.

MRS. REMBOWSKI and her son moved to Elk Grove Village several weeks ago. They had been in the mobile home 12 days when he died. She now lives with her granddaughter at 1727 Kim Ave., Mount Prospect.

In her 100 years of life, Mrs. Rembowski has witnessed not only the death of her five children, but the birth of her first great-great-grandchild. She also has eight grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams said her grandmother helps with housework and yardwork. Trailer park neighbors report having seen Mrs. Rembowski pulling weeds around her trailer home.

"I think it's hard work that keeps her going," said Mrs. Williams. "She's swept and washed the floors every day since she's been with us. She's always been a hardworking Polish woman."

Eye Alternatives To 2,000-Acre Sludge Farm

Faced with a $30 to $50 million price tag for land purchase, the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) is considering alternatives to a 2,000-acre sludge farm in Schaumburg Twp.

Ed Karolewski, MSD real estate officer, said yesterday the MSD engineering staff is looking into piping the treated sewage to another location, perhaps as far away as Fulton County, near Peoria.

Karolewski said the decision, which could be made on a "high priority basis" by the MSD board, was a matter of economics and land usage.

HE EXPLAINED piping the sewage — in the form known as "sludge" — to a location distant from the Schaumburg Twp. plant would require money for constructing the pipeline. It was a question of weighing the cost of the pipeline versus the cost of on-site sludge treatment.

Land usage is the second important factor, he said. The high cost of the land — it would average between $15,000 and $25,000 per acre, the report states — reflects the high-grade land here and the demand for it, Karolewski said.

The MSD currently operates an experimental sludge farm in Fulton County, where sludge is transported by barge for recycling into a fertilizer-like product.

Sludge from the other sewage treatment plants in the Chicago metropolitan area is currently carried by pipeline to the West Southwest plant in Stickney. The alternate method of treatment mentioned by Karolewski would involve using the piping system, and he conceded the Salt Creek sewage "could end up down there, in Fulton County."

He said the Fulton County land was purchased for $2 million, but the development of environmental protection steps skyrocketed costs, and he added that such costs would occur on top of the $30-$50 million here for an on-site sludge farm.

THE APPRAISAL report, prepared by William A. McCann and Associates, noted land in the area is not readily available and that "acquisition of sufficient area to meet the MSD needs could involve lengthy condemnation proceedings."

Reception Slated For John Hughes

Former village trustee John Hughes will be honored at a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday at the Palatine Savings and Loan Association.

Sponsored by the Palatine Chamber of Commerce, the reception will honor Hughes for his service to the community, both through his business and civic activities. He will also receive a certificate of merit for his work from the village board at their meeting later that night.

All friends of Hughes' in Palatine and surrounding areas are invited by the chamber to attend the reception.

Hughes resigned from the village board last month after serving more than five years as a trustee. He also resigned his position as president of the Suburban National Bank. He and his family have moved to Wisconsin where Hughes plans to develop 200 acres into a campground.

Hughes was a Palatine resident for eight years and was first appointed to the village board in 1966 and won election to a four-year term in 1968.

YMCA Board Sets Building Plans For Countryside

Final plans for the Countryside YMCA were approved by the Y's board of directors at its special meeting Tuesday night, heading the building for an early spring groundbreaking.

A building committee to act as liaison between the board and the architects, Otis and Associates, Inc., of Northbrook was also formed at the meeting, held at the Leadership Center. Leonard Newendorp, principal of Palatine High School and Y board member, was named chairman of the committee.

Newendorp is expected to name the other committee members next week.

Y director Herman Hertog said the architects now have the preliminary plans approved by the board, and will be preparing final drawings. These drawings will include elevation specifications, Hertog said.

The Y won't be ready to accept construction bids until these drawings are completed, Hertog said, which should be around Dec. 1.

"BEING PRACTICAL, we can't expect to start construction until early spring," Hertog said. "The bidding process is a pretty involved one, and by the time that's over winter weather will probably slow us down."

The Y thus has three or four months to raise the additional $324,000 it needs to meet its fund raising goal of $1.75 million. Hertog said the Y has so far raised about $1,426,000.

Hertog reiterated the Y's position that when the construction bids are ready to be accepted, the fund raising will stop. He said if the full amount is not raised, some facilities will have to be removed from the plans.

The facilities included in the approved plans are an indoor swimming pool, gymnasium, youth and family games room, all purpose snack bar and kitchen, arts and crafts room, shallow water instruction pool, teen center, pre-school program area and two adult physical fitness centers.

Hertog said members and friends of the Countryside YMCA could see the approved plans at the Leadership Center, 115 W. Johnson, Palatine.

City Council Recommends Hiring 2 More Policemen

Expansion of the Rolling Meadows Police Department by two patrolmen will be recommended to the City Council by the liquor, police and health commission.

One of the additional patrolmen is being sought to police the park district on a motorcycle. If approved, he would be the first motorcycle patrolman on the force.

Thomas Scanlon, chairman of the commission, said that although there has been some vandalism in the parks the recommendation was more of a "preventive measure."

Police Chief Lewis Case said the addition of a man to patrol the park had been under consideration for approximately six months. Case said Mayor Roland J. Meyer felt this was one way the city could offer a service to the park board.

SUNNY SKIES and pleasant temperatures predicted for this weekend should make the picnic areas a popular place to be. This group is taking a pause in its tennis match to enjoy the fine weather.

Library Hours To Change

Starting Sept. 7 the Rolling Meadows Public Library will have a new winter schedule.

The library board of trustees has agreed to change the library hours on a 60 day trial basis. The library will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Librarian Virginia Connell said a ballot box will be located in the library where people can cast their opinion on whether they like the new hours. At the end of the 60 day trial period the board will be evaluating the success of the schedule and deciding whether it should be made permanent.

Previously the library had been open from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

The board also accepted the resignation of Thomas Grossman from the board at its meeting.

Hiring of Rolling Meadows first motorcycle patrolman is under consideration

Plum Grove Center To Open Monday

Plum Grove Village Shopping Center will officially open Monday although some of the stores have already opened their doors to customers.

The center, which has been called a "neighborhood convenience center," is located on a four-acre site on the east side of Plum Grove Road between Euclid Avenue and Kirchoff Road. It is adjacent to Plum Grove Village, Kings Walk Apartments and Sugar Plum Apartments. It is also within walking distance of most residents on the west side of Rte. 53.

The center is being built in two phases. Four of the ten stores in the first phase are already open with four more stores expected to open shortly.

Open are The Hairdresser, whose proprietor is William E. Adams. The salon, which was the first store to open, had previously been located in Arlington Heights. Also open are the Plum Grove News Agency owned by Rudy and Sam Arena, Plum Grove Drugs owned by Paul Giannetto and Howard Carpet and Upholstery Inc., which is owned and operated by Bernard Cohen, Sid Haber and Lee Green.

OPENING SOON will be the White Hen, a grocery store that is a division of Jewel; a quick wash laundramat; a one hour dry cleaning store and Castle Utd., an arts and crafts store owned by William C. Rosenbaum, Jr.

Wesley Traulner, a representative of Smith-Pippenhagen Inc., Realtors for the center, said there are still two buildings to be leased.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who admits leaking the top secret Pentagon papers to the press was ordered by a federal judge to appear in California on charges of illegal possession and distribution of the 47-volume study of the Vietnam war.

Working with surprising speed and ease, astronaut Alfred M. Worden wrapped up Apollo 15's spectacular lunar expedition in high style with man's first walk in deep space to retrieve priceless film of the moon.

Wholesale prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years in June, the government reported. The White House conceded the report was bad news but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

The World

South Vietnam's highest court ruled that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had failed to qualify to run as a candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential elections in opposition to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

At least 36 persons were reported killed and 76 injured in a collision between passenger and freight trains south-east of Belgrade.

The State

Gregory Hansen, 15, Rockford, was arrested in connection with two of four recent slayings. He was charged with the murders of Herman Kasch and his wife Mary.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The War

A newspaper report that North Vietnam would release 183 POWs to be flown home to the United States next week brought a chorus of denials from the governments and airline involved but left questions unanswered about what actually happened.

B52 bombers struck into Cambodia against Communist positions in a region where heavy fighting has driven thousands from their homes. In ground action, Communist forces attacked a Cambodian post just 15 miles from the capital city of Phnom Penh.

The Weather

Chilly weather swept through the Midwest and Northeast again, while showers and thunderstorms spread from southern New England through the mid-Atlantic and Gulf states. Temperatures around the nation ranged from 43 at Houghton Lake and Marquette County Airport at Marquette, Mich., to 93 at Needles, Calif.

Temperatures from around the nation:

There's still time to purchase your tickets for the Scotch Doubles evening, sponsored by the Rolling Meadows Boys Football Association to be held this evening in the Rolling Meadows Bowl beginning at 8:30.

Door prizes will be awarded and a chicken or roast beef dinner will be served after the evening of bowling.

The $8 ticket price includes three lanes of bowling, shoes, door prizes, and dinner.

For more information or to purchase tickets, call President Bob Miller at CL 5-7170, vice president Dick Kornatz at CL 3-3664 or secretary Ray May at 392-0904. Tickets will also be sold at the door.

Proceeds from this evening will be used for outfitting these junior high school age boys who will be participating on the two football teams, lightweight, for boys under 110 pounds, and heavyweight for boys weighing over 110.

Tryouts for the teams will begin Monday, Aug. 16, at 5 p.m. at the Pony Diamond behind the Sports Complex. The first game will be held at the Rolling Meadows High School football field on Sept. 12.

At the present time, conditioning classes are being held at the Complex for boys participating in football, wrestling, and hockey. These free classes are held from 3-5 p.m. Mondays, Wednesday, and Fridays.

WATCH OUT FOR tummy-aches Saturday night after the corn eating contest which will be held at the 14th Annual Corn Fest sponsored by the Community Church at 2 p.m.

The Corn Fest will be open to everyone from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. but to avoid the rush why not go over for lunch on Saturday?

For only $1.50 for adults and 60 cents for children under 12, there will be a hamburger with all the trimmings, all the corn you can eat, beverage, and watermelon.

The corn eating contest is open to children from 6 to 12 years of age. There will be two contests, according to Ken Turcotte, from the church. One for kids 6 to 9 and the second one for kids aged 9 to 12. Prizes will be awarded to the winner.

When asked what happens if it rains, Ken Turcotte replied, "It wouldn't dare!" but just in case it does, the corn fest will be held inside the church so plan on some good eating Saturday anytime between 11 and 7 p.m.

THIS SATURDAY is Railbird Day at Arlington Park. Anyone holding a membership card to the club will be admitted to the Grandstand for just 50 cents state tax. If you have only one card for the family, be sure to tell the man at the gate you are together so he will admit the entire family.

There will be a race named for the Railbird Club and the winner of the A Day at the Races drawing held last week will be invited into the Winners Circle where his picture will be taken with the winning jockey.

The Railbird Club which meets every Saturday morning from 8 to 10 a.m. will have Mrs. Marge Hazeltine as their guest this week, and, as usual, free barn tours, refreshments, gifts, and merry-go-round rides will be on the agenda. Enter at Gate 5.

Randhurst is celebrating its 9th birthday with a circus. Take the kids over to see the acts 9:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Saturday and at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Tomorrow ends National Smile Week. Don't forget to!!

100th Birthday A Bittersweet Party

by LINDA PUNCH

When the family gathers Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Victoria Rembowski's 100th birthday, it will be a bittersweet occasion.

Only two weeks ago they were together for the funeral of Mrs. Rembowski's last surviving child and only son.

Mrs. Rembowski, who lived with her son at the Willow Terrace Trailer Park in Elk Grove Township until his death, had a birthday celebration there earlier this week. The party, organized by Ida Knoll, was attended by several of the Rembowski's trailer park neighbors.

A bouquet of long-stem red roses was presented to Mrs. Rembowski as she stepped from her granddaughter's car. She climbed the stairs to the trailer unaided and entered her son's home for the first time since his death.

SHE SEEMED a little lost as she sat down in a black leather chair in the corner of the living room. Memories of the past seemed to compete with events of the present for her attention.

Her granddaughter kept up a continual flow of conversation, speaking to Mrs. Rembowski in Polish one minute and to the guests in English the next.

A handmade black mohair shawl, a basket of fruit and a rosary blessed by the Pope were given to Mrs. Rembowski by her neighbors. She also received the traditional birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

"When I handed her the letter from President Nixon, she asked me if it was a bill," said Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Rembowski's granddaughter. "When I explained to her what it was, she was really astonished. She keeps it with her and shows it to everybody."

Mrs. Rembowski was born in Konig, Poland, Aug. 8, 1871, and came to this country in 1904. She lived in the small Polish town of West Wyoming, Pa., until her coalminer husband's death there in 1928. Mrs. Rembowski moved to the northwest side of Chicago in 1929 to live with her son and his family.

MRS. REMBOWSKI and her son moved to Elk Grove Village several weeks ago. They had been in the mobile home 12 days when he died. She now lives with her granddaughter at 1727 Kim Ave., Mount Prospect.

In her 100 years of life, Mrs. Rembowski has witnessed not only the death of her five children, but the birth of her first great-great-grandchild. She also has eight grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams said her grandmother helps with housework and yardwork. Trailer park neighbors report having seen Mrs. Rembowski pulling weeds around her trailer home.

"I think it's hard work that keeps her going," said Mrs. Williams. "She's swept and washed the floors every day since she's been with us. She's always been a hardworking Polish woman."

Eye Alternatives To 2,000-Acre Sludge Farm

Faced with a $30 to $50 million price tag for land purchase, the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) is considering alternatives to a 2,000-acre sludge farm in Schaumburg Twp.

Ed Karolewski, MSD real estate officer, said yesterday the MSD engineering staff is looking into piping the treated sewage to another location, perhaps as far away as Fulton County, near Peoria.

Last week, a land appraisal firm told the MSD board it would cost between $30 and $50 million to purchase 2,000 acres of land near the proposed Salt Creek water reclamation plant, between Route 53 and Meacham Road, south of Schaumburg Road in Schaumburg Twp.

"It sounds like a lot of money," remarked Karolewski, who was scheduled to confer yesterday afternoon with the MSD engineering department on the matter.

Karolewski said the decision, which could be made on a "high priority basis" by the MSD board, was a matter of economics and land usage.

HE EXPLAINED piping the sewage — in the form known as "sludge" — to a location distant from the Schaumburg Twp. plant would require money for constructing the pipeline. It was a question of weighing the cost of the pipeline versus the cost of on-site sludge treatment.

Land usage is the second important factor, he said. The high cost of the land — it would average between $15,000 and $25,000 per acre, the report states — reflects the high-grade land here and the demand for it, Karolewski said.

The MSD currently operates an experimental sludge farm in Fulton County, where sludge is transported by barge for recycling into a fertilizer-like product.

Sludge from the other sewage treatment plants in the Chicago metropolitan area is currently carried by pipeline to the West Southwest plant in Stickney. The alternate method of treatment mentioned by Karolewski would involve using the piping system, and he conceded the Salt Creek sewage "could end up down there, in Fulton County."

He said the Fulton County land was purchased for $2 million, but the development of environmental protection steps skyrocketed costs, and he added that such costs would occur on top of the $30-$50 million here for an on-site sludge farm.

THE APPRAISAL report, prepared by William A. McCann and Associates, noted land in the area is not readily available and that "acquisition of sufficient area to meet the MSD needs could involve lengthy condemnation proceedings."

Reception Slated For John Hughes

Former village trustee John Hughes will be honored at a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday at the Palatine Savings and Loan Association.

Sponsored by the Palatine Chamber of Commerce, the reception will honor Hughes for his service to the community, both through his business and civic activities. He will also receive a certificate of merit for his work from the village board at their meeting later that night.

All friends of Hughes' in Palatine and surrounding areas are invited by the chamber to attend the reception.

Hughes resigned from the village board last month after serving more than five years as a trustee. He also resigned his position as president of the Suburban National Bank. He and his family have moved to Wisconsin where Hughes plans to develop 200 acres into a campground.

Hughes was a Palatine resident for eight years and was first appointed to the village board in 1966 and won election to a four-year term in 1969.

Algonquin Road Progress Bad

(Editor's Note: A technical error caused the wrong column to appear in yesterday's paper. We regret the confusion.)

by MARTHA KOPER

We've all been told we have to make sacrifices for progress and most of us have learned to bear inconveniences for the sake of the future.

But it's getting more and more difficult to keep smiling while dodging barricades and construction crews. Road improvements have to rank highest on the list of unpleasant progress.

Unpleasant almost is not an adequate enough description for the condition of Algonquin Road as it goes through Rolling Meadows.

The story of Algonquin is a long one, but history is little comfort in the midst of today's traffic jam on the highway.

Residents who live along Algonquin from Wilke to Rte. 53 hate to go home at night. Merchants see little purpose in opening their stores for business.

"This is killing us. No one will stop here" said one shop owner. Others agreed business has fallen between one third and one half lower than normal.

By that it's easy to determine that many people simply are eliminating Algonquin Road from their travels.

THE UNFORTUNATE part of the entire construction project is that it could have been completed by now. Almost five years ago Rolling Meadows officials pointed out the poor condition of the road and provided statistics on the high number of accidents along the highway. There were even a couple of fatal accidents, but nothing happened.

Even when the state highway department finally decided it was time to improve Algonquin, they didn't. Improvement of the rough and busy strip of two-lane highway was dropped from the state's plans in 1969. Someone, somewhere thought Higgins Road (Rte. 72) should be improved first and so it was.

After ignoring Algonquin for a year, it once again was announced that work on the road would begin in 1970. It didn't.

It's understandable there's just so much state money to go around and certain priorities must be established. It's just unfortunate that this summer's madhouse on Algonquin had to be tied in with road improvements on Golf, Rte. 53, the tollway and Arlington Heights Road. Eliminating all of those, it's not easy to find an alternate route.

The crowning touch was added a couple of weeks ago when several cracks were noticed in the new section of the highway. Although state highway officials say that's normal, local engineers don't agree. We probably won't know who's right until the next time the road needs improvement and it happens only a year from now.

No matter how long it lasts, the construction project has been hard to view as a sign of progress this summer. As it comes close to the end, there's only one thing for local residents to look forward to — the rerouting and construction of Wilke Road from Central to Algonquin.

Architectural Firm Fired By School Board

Architectural Management Inc. was fired by the Prospect Heights Dist. 23 School Board Wednesday night. The architect firm was hired by the district in October, 1970 to design and supervise construction of additions to Douglas MacArthur Junior High School, and Betsy Ross School and the remodeling of Anne Sullivan School. Wednesday the board voted unanimously to "terminate the services of Architect Management Inc. for cause." The cause includes a long list of complaints the board has accumulated against the architect. Since the problems began about five months ago, the district has not paid the architect firm. The firm has written the district asking that it pay bills totaling about $5,000. Of the total bill to date of $40,000, the district has paid the architect about $23,000.

2 Villages' Contributions Help 'Hotline'

A donation of $1,500 by the Village of Buffalo Grove and $5,000 by the Village of Wheeling for an emergency hotline will give a "big boost" to the proposed Youth Services Program according to Richard Wynn. Wynn is director of the community mental health clinic in Wheeling, formerly the TORCH Mental Health Clinic. The Wheeling Youth Commission, HELP, Inc. and the mental health clinic are seeking a $120,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission to start the program in the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove-Prospect Heights area. One of the conditions for obtaining the ILEC grant is to gain a total $40,000 worth of pledges of services and donations from the community. "There is no question but that the donations will help the Youth Services Program," Wynn said yesterday, noting the hotline program was one of the services that would be provided in the Youth Services Program. The purpose of the hotline would be to give persons a telephone number for emergency counseling or referral to a specialized agency that could provide help with emotional, social or medical problems. "I am delighted at the response of both villages. When a village is hard-pressed for money and yet will make these donations, it indicates an awareness of the problem. "IT ALSO INDICATES a willingness to take steps to deal with their own problems," the mental health clinic director said.

A FEW PIECES OF WOOD, put together in just the right way, can make an ideal place for a talk with a buddy. The wood is part of the "abstract" play equipment recently installed at South Park in Prospect Park District park at Janice and Algonquin roads is nearing completion.

New Tennis Courts To Open Soon

The Mount Prospect Park District will move one step closer to completion of South Park in Des Plaines when four new tennis courts open there in about two weeks. Tom Cooper, park district director, said yesterday that the courts have been blacktopped. Currently fencing is being installed. Once the courts are open, lighting of one of the park's three baseball diamonds and installation of goal posts on the football field will be the last major steps to complete the $278,000 South Park development plan. Cooper said he did not know when the lights on the baseball field would be installed. He said goal posts will be installed after Labor Day in time for the football season. The park at Janice and Algonquin roads is the first park in the district to be landscaped with hills. Asphalt paths for walking and bicycle riding are also included throughout the park's 30 acres. The parking lot on the west side of the park with room for 140 cars and installation of "abstract" playground equipment has already been completed. The equipment, costing approximately $9,000, is made of "select Douglas fir" and consists of swings, a slide and climbing apparatus. Park district officials have said there will be no problems with splinters because the wood has been specially sealed. South Park was purchased for $500,000 using funds from the $2.4 million bond issue approved by voters in February of 1969. Funds for development were also included in the referendum which authorized the sale of West Park in Mount Prospect. Development of that 14-acre park at Golf and Busse roads has been delayed by construction of a retention basin. The basin, owned by the village, will not be completed until September, 1972. Once it is finished, park officials will begin work on plans to build tennis courts, a baseball and softball field and a sled hill.

Cool Spell Brings Record Low Pool Attendance

Attendance at local park swimming pools has dropped to record low numbers in an almost three-week-long cold spell. Temperatures dropped to the 70s in mid July and have remained low through the first week of August. Usually the main attraction in the summer, neighborhood pools are now relatively empty. The River Trails Park District lost about $1,000 in daily attendance fees since the cold spell began last month, according to Marvin Weiss, park director. "When we had good weather in June we averaged about $75 a day in attendance fees. Now we are averaging about $20." In June an average of 1,200 people a day attended the River Trails Park District pool at Woodland Trails on Euclid Avenue in Prospect Heights. In July the average daily attendance dropped to about 450. Attendance at the Prospect Heights Park District pool dropped from a daily average in June of 200 to between 10 and 60 in July, according to Ronald Greenberg, park director. "We've lost a total of about $75 in daily admission fees." Because of the low attendance, the Prospect Heights pool was closed early five times and closed all day five times. The River Trails pool was closed early on 10 different occasions. However, the three Mount Prospect Park District pools have not closed early once this summer. Daily attendance figures for the Mount Prospect Park District show that each of the pools have recently had about 10 to 15 swimmers. On a hot day, a total of 12,000 to 15,000 attend the three pools. The total attendance fees at the three pools dropped $1,492 in July from the June total of $3,371. THE THREE PARK districts rely mostly on the sale of season passes and swim lesson fees for their pool revenue. Park directors at River Trails and Prospect Heights said attendance at their swim classes has been good despite the bad weather. Prospect Heights' loss has been cut back by the fact that its lifeguards are paid an hourly wage. "When we close the pool, we just send the lifeguards home and we don't have to pay them for those hours," said Greenberg. Mount Prospect park officials reported, "Our lifeguards are working on a skeleton crew at the three pools. They still get paid their hourly wage but they are rotated and do not have to work the usual hours." However in River Trails the lifeguards are paid by contract. Even if the pool is closed, the lifeguards must remain on duty during the regular pool hours. "We have them polishing everything and scraping out the corners," said Weiss. "They are doing all of the cleaning we normally don't have time for. The low attendance at the pool has caused a morale problem with the lifeguards." In some cases the cold weather has drawn children who would usually swim to the playground park programs. In River Trails the playgrounds attendance is at a "good level," Weiss said.

The Nation

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who admits leaking the top secret Pentagon papers to the press was ordered by a federal judge to appear in California on charges of illegal possession and distribution of the 47-volume study of the Vietnam war.

Working with surprising speed and ease, astronaut Alfred M. Worden wrapped up Apollo 15's spectacular lunar expedition in high style with man's first walk in deep space to retrieve priceless film of the moon.

Wholesale prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years in June, the government reported. The White House conceded the report was bad news but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

General Motors Corp announced "tentative" increases in the prices of 1972 model cars which would average 3.9 per cent, or $176 more than similarly equipped 1971 models.

The World

South Vietnam's highest court ruled that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had failed to qualify to run as a candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential elections in opposition to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

At least 36 persons were reported killed and 76 injured in a collision between passenger and freight trains south-east of Belgrade.

The State

Gregory Hansen, 15, Rockford, was arrested in connection with two of four recent slayings. He was charged with the murders of Herman Kasch and his wife Mary.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The War

A newspaper report that North Vietnam would release 183 POWs to be flown home to the United States next week brought a chorus of denials from the governments and airline involved but left questions unanswered about what actually happened.

B52 bombers struck into Cambodia against Communist positions in a region where heavy fighting has driven thousands from their homes. In ground action, Communist forces attacked a Cambodian post just 15 miles from the capital city of Phnom Penh.

The Market

The stock market, in what was viewed largely as a low-keyed technical reaction to recent sharp losses, turned higher on moderate turnover Thursday. Prices advanced in light turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

The Weather

Chilly weather swept through the Midwest and Northeast again, while showers and thunderstorms spread from southern New England through the mid-Atlantic and Gulf states. Temperatures around the nation ranged from 43 at Houghton Lake and Marquette County Airport at Marquette, Mich., to 93 at Needles, Calif.

Boy Scouts traditionally build campfires, back pack their gear on long hikes through the woods, and such but travel to camp in a LIMOUSINE? That's just what boys of troop 153 will be doing this weekend. They couldn't find another troop to share a bus with them. Hence, the limousine.

Scouts, with Scoutmaster Paul Prechal and Troop Chairman Len Mosher will leave this weekend for Namekagon Wilderness Camp, where they will stay for two weeks. Boys on the trip will be Paul Baranowski, Robert Blum, Steve Booth, Wally Bryant, Edwin Grafton, Taras Hazeck, John Kraft, Scott McCormick, Tom Mielke, Edwin Meixner, Paul Mosher, Robert Pellican, Paul Prechal, Brian Urban and Ronald Werderitch. Camp activities will include a canoe trip down the Namekagon River, a one-mile swim, fishing and wilderness pioneering projects, swimming, and scout advancement.

DOUGLAS PETERSON, choir director at Community Presbyterian Church, will return this week from a three-week European tour with the Elk Grove High School Jazz Band. The band, directed by Peterson, played 11 concerts in Holland, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, France and England. This was the first European trip for this group. The trip was arranged through Performing Arts Abroad in Kalamazoo, Mich., and America Sound Abroad in Crown Point, Ind.

A LOCAL MAN — SP Casimir Koza is helping make life a little more pleasant for U.S. servicemen in Vietnam. As chief R & R clerk (rest and recuperation) of U.S. Army Vietnam Special Services Agency, SP Koza coordinates the athletic and recreation program of the agency. He has been with Special Services in Long Binh, Vietnam, since December, 1970. His father is John Koza, 109 Althea Dr., Prospect Heights.

ON CAMPUS . . . Karen Lynn Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hansen, 611 N. Pine St., has received her B.S. degree from Augsburg College in Minneapolis, Minn. An art major, she was graduated cum laude.

Illinois Institute of Technology recently awarded B.S. degrees to four Mount Prospect residents. Joseph Anichini, 112 S. Audrey Ln., has received a B.S. degree in civil engineering. Gregory Bielawski, 505 S. I-Oka, has earned a B.S. degree in chemical engineering. Larry Lee Walker, 1117 Sprucewood Dr., received a B.S. Degree in biology. Donald Getts, 510 S. ### Theft Reported

Linda M. Priebe, 22, of 1475 Park Pl., Des Plaines was arrested by Mount Prospect police about 5:30 p.m. Monday and charged with the theft of two blouses and a hand massager from the Montgomery Ward Store in the Randhurst Shopping Center. Police said the items were valued at $45. She will appear in court August 19.

CULINARY PARTNERS Pierre Douso, chef, and Robert Disch, airline pilot, look over a simmering sauce at their Old Orchard Country Club Restaurant.

The pair began redesigning the kitchen and menu at the restaurant last May. They plan to offer food with an international touch to residents of the Northwest suburbs.

Volunteers Needed To Solicit Funds

Volunteers are needed on Aug. 27 to solicit funds in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights for the hotline project sponsored by HELP, Inc.

HELP members intend to set up the hotline program by Oct. 1 to serve the three communities. The hotline will be manned by volunteers and would give persons a number to call for emergency counseling or referral to a special agency that could handle their problem.

Persons interested in soliciting funds on "Hotline Day" should call Mrs. Bobbie Willin of Prospect Heights at 296-1464.

A meeting will be held on Aug. 18 at Wheeling High School to give the volunteer solicitors information about the fund raising campaign and assign them a location to work.

The volunteers will man two-hour shifts at various intersections and shopping centers in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights. Funds will be collected between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Junior high and high school students are invited to solicit funds, as well as adults.

Airline Pilot Lands In The Kitchen

by TOM VON MALDER

Take an airline pilot of 15 years and a man, who as a boy wanted to wear a chef's hat, and you get the unlikely combination that is bringing an international approach in dining to the Old Orchard Country Club in Mount Prospect.

The partnership began nine years ago when the two met in the British West Indies.

Robert Disch, a pilot for North Central Airlines, was vacationing with his wife in Jamaica when they received an invitation to go to the island of St. Lucia. Some friends recently had set up the first American hotel there. This was in 1962.

"COOKING WAS a hobby with me at that time," Disch said. "Each Thanksgiving and Christmas, my roommates and I prepared dinner for airline crew members away from home."

But baking was his real interest and when Disch saw the puff pastry at the St. Lucia Beach Hotel he couldn't believe their height. (Puff pastry is the kind used for apple turnovers.)

Disch went into the kitchen and met chef Pierre Douso, his future partner at the Old Orchard Country Club Restaurant. "I spent the rest of the vacation in the kitchen with Pierre."

It was through the strong friendship begun at that time that Disch's interest in other aspects of cooking flourished. But for Douso, cooking had been his whole life.

Born in Roanne, near Lyons, France, Douso was just out of school when, with a friend, he went to visit a big hotel. The friend knew the hotel's cook and Douso was introduced and hooked.

"The big, white hat impressed me," Douso said. "I decided then that I wanted to be a chef."

He did his cooking apprenticeship in his home town and then moved to Vichy and Paris for four years. He finally made his way to St. Lucia.

The two kept in touch after Disch left St. Lucia. However, it was not until 1964 that Douso was able to come to the United States. He was brought over by the Drake Hotel's cook internship program.

THE TWO often discussed the possibility of going into business and in May of this year, got their chance.

Disch had been golfing at the Old Orchard Country Club for a number of years and had been hired by the owner to redesign its golf course. (Disch, who wears many hats in addition to that of the chef, is a kind of amateur architect. He also designed the control tower at the Milwaukee airport.)

This allowed Disch to become familiar with the restaurant facilities at Old Orchard. When the chance came to take over the facilities, Disch contacted Douso.

The first step, and one which is continuing, is to redesign the dining facilities, including the kitchen. Some $5,000 is being spent. Disch is doing the design.

The second step toward their international kitchen was to hire some experienced people. "We have assembled under this roof the six finest people you can find under any roof," Disch said.

Douso, in addition to the Drake Hotel, has worked at Maxim's and the Champs Elysees in Paris, and the Complete Angler in England. "This is the best restaurant in England, outside of London," Douso said. "We would only see Rolls Royces and Bentleys."

PIERRE VIMONT is the catering manager and like Douso, he has served the Queen of England. Paco Sanchez is the maitre d'. He has worked at La Pavillon in New York and the Dorchester of London.

The three chefs have worked around the globe. Pierre Barth also has worked at La Pavillon. A native of Belgium, he has cooked for Cafe du Theatre and L'Auberge des Grottes in Liege. Stephen Furst, who speaks 10 languages, has worked at Galil, Geneva, Switzerland; Grand Hotel, Ancora, Turkey; Montmartre, England; and Imperial Hotel, Vienna, Austria.

The third chef, Rodolphe Vallee, was chef at the Hotel Transatlantic, Morocco; and the Cafe des Sport and Grand Veneur, Paris.

The pair, Douso and Disch, feel the changes they are making at the country club restaurant are in line with a general tendency of "good restaurants to move into the suburbs." They said the suburban resident is now less likely to go to downtown Chicago to eat.

"We'd like to think we are part of this movement in bringing good food to the suburbs," Disch said.

Midget Football Team Registration Under Goal

Additional registrations for the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association have apparently fallen short of the goal necessary to forestall the elimination of some of the teams the group had planned to operate.

The association had set up a new team system (each system is made up of five teams) last year in the southern part of the area it serves. The new system included all of Mount Prospect south of Golf Road as well as the Eighth Ward of Des Plaines.

But more boys were needed for the teams. "The south still hasn't come through like we anticipated," said Kurt Teichert, president of the association. "We had only about 45 additional registrations. And these are from all over town, not just the south."

Shakey's Forfeits To Goodyear

This week's Mount Prospect Park District Softball League action included a forfeit victory by Shakey's Pizza over Goodyear in the Tuesday night league. The victory assured Shakey's of a second place finish.

In other Tuesday night league action Ye Old Town beat Goldblatts 20 to 2. Tomaso's Pharmacy beat VFW 13 to 12. The current Tuesday night standings are First, Shakey's; Second, Ye Old Town; Third, VFW; Fourth, Tomaso's Pharmacy; Fifth, Goodyear; and Sixth, Goldblatts.

In the Wednesday softball league, Waycinden picked up a share of the league lead with an 8 to 2 win over Midwest Stripping. Chuck's Marathon beat the Grove Lounge Spoilers 11 to 9. Randhurst MacDonalds beat Burger Chef 11 to 10.

Current standings in the Wednesday night league are: Waycinden and Grove Lounge tied for first; second, Chuck's Marathon; third, Burger Chef; fourth, Midwest Stripping; and fifth, Randhurst MacDonalds.

In Wednesday night softball action at Meadows Park, Lundstrom's Nursery beat Romano Printing 5 to 4. Illinois Range lost to Jake's Pizza and Pub Chargers, 9 to 7. Scanda House beat the Ten Spots 11 to 9.

The current standings are: First, Jake's; Second, Romano; Third, Lundstrom's; Fourth, Scanda House; and Fifth, Ten Spots.

Mount Prospect, Des Plaines To Compete

Little League Tournney Set

Almost 100 boys from Mount Prospect and Des Plaines will compete tomorrow night in the second annual Mount Prospect Park District Little League Tournament.

In three games on the diamonds at Lions Park Recreation Center, 411 S. Maple St., All-Star teams from the Waycinden Area Boys' Baseball League and those of the Mount Prospect Little League Association will vie for a spot on the tournament trophy.

Park Name Selection Is Postponed Again

Selection of winners in the Mount Prospect Park District's "Name the Park" contest has again been postponed.

Selection of names for three parks was scheduled for last night's building and grounds committee meeting which was postponed. Paul Caldwell, assistant park director, said yesterday he did not know when the names would be selected.

The park district has received nearly 100 entries in the contest to rename the parks currently called South, East and West parks. The contest started in May and selections of names of the winners has been postponed twice.

Waterways Unit To Seek Bids For Weller Creek

Contractors' bids for the improvement of Weller Creek between Mount Prospect Road and School Street in Mount Prospect will be sought sometime this month by the Illinois Division of Waterways (IDW).

Work on that part of the deepening and widening project along Weller Creek was to have begun last spring. However, during the initial bidding period, only one offer was received, and it was about $26,000 higher than the $83,265 the IDW had predicted the project would cost. The dearth of bidders and the unexpectedly high bid led the state to plan a second bidding period this month.

Officials of the village's drainage and clean streams commission, indicated at a meeting Wednesday that work could begin on the project this fall, barring any unforeseen developments in the upcoming bidding period.

Robert Klovstad, resigning chairman of the commission, said that if the present part of the project is completed in time, the IDW would start on the next part, from School Street west to Emerson Street, sometime next spring.

However, before crews can begin work on that part, easements must be procured along the north side of Weller Creek. And for those easements to be procured, the residents living along the north side of the creek on Berkshire Lane must give their permission — something they have refused to do.

IN ALL THERE ARE 16 homeowners living along that part of the creek on Berkshire Lane. None has agreed to the easements.

Residents refuse to grant the easements because the state plans to remove many of the trees growing at the rear of the residents' back yards. They want the trees left intact, saying one of the reasons they bought their homes was the attractive setting created by the trees. Not only do they fear the loss of the trees would detract from the appearance of their backyards, they also fear losing the trees would lower their homes' property values.

A. P. Dietsche, one of the Berkshire Lane residents, suggested an alternate plan for improving the creek which would have saved the trees. However, clean streams commission officials point out that the creek's water drainage capacity would not be as great under the alternate plan as it would under the plan proposed by the state. They also point out his plan fails to allow space for crews to maintain the creek once it is improved.

Klovstad told commissioners Wednesday, "John Guillou (chief engineer for the IDW) said the state will change its plans if Mount Prospect wants to. But he pointed out if the village alters the plans, the creek project would lose its high priority with the state."

Correction

An article in yesterday's Herald incorrectly stated the amount of the deficit in the Mount Prospect School Dist. 57 proposed 1971-72 budget. The budget currently shows a deficit of approximately $111,000.

Supt. Warden Recommends Selling TAWs

River Trails School Dist. 26 Supt. Thomas Warden has recommended that the district sell additional tax anticipation warrants (TAW) to offset a money shortage that may arise because of late tax receipts.

The school board will vote on Warden's proposal at a meeting Aug. 17. Warden said he will continue to study the problem and may have additional recommendations to make at that time.

"Last year we had collected $500,000 in tax monies in the education fund at this time," said Warden. "This year we only have $250,000 so far."

"If the incoming tax flow continues at this rate, we will be $100,000 short of cash by September," added Warden. Districts throughout Cook County have been faced with the problem of late tax money because the county mailed out the tax bills 2 1/2 months later than usual.

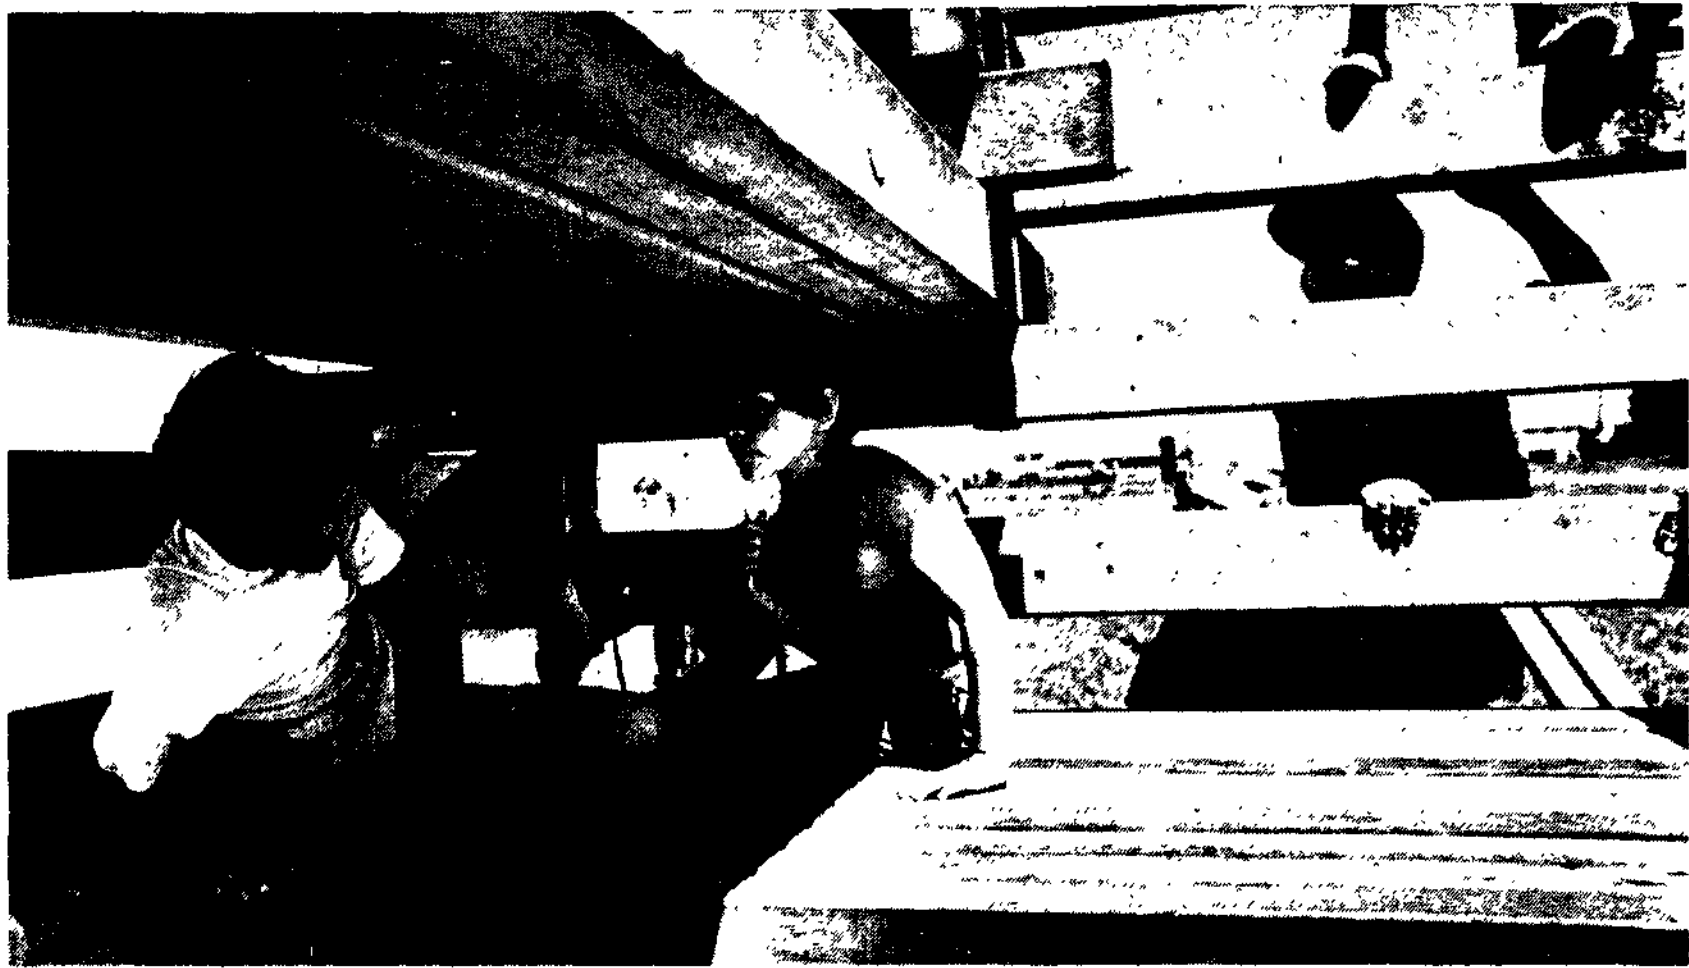

School districts are allowed to borrow up to 75 per cent of their anticipated taxes through the sale of warrants in any given year.

DURING THE past fiscal year Dist. 26 sold $450,000 in warrants, which equals 55 per cent of the district's assessed valuation. Now, facing a possible money shortage in the fall, Warden has proposed that the district raise the warrant level on the 1970 levy. "We won't raise the level all the way up to 75 per cent," said Warden. "I would like to sell another $100,000 in warrants."

Because the school board has not yet approved a budget for the 1971-72 fiscal year, the district is extending the warrant debt from the past fiscal year. The board expects to be able to pay off the additional debt as soon as the new budget is approved and more tax monies are available. Consequently the $100,000 warrant sale will accumulate a minimum amount of interest.

Warden pointed out that the present problem might not have arisen if the district had already sold bonds for construction.

A FEW PIECES OF WOOD, put together in just the right way, can make an ideal place for a talk with a buddy. The wood is part of the "abstract" play equipment recently installed at South Park in Des Plaines. Development of the 30-acre Mount Prospect Park District park at Janice and Algonquin roads is nearing completion.

New Tennis Courts To Open Soon

The Mount Prospect Park District will move one step closer to completion of South Park in Des Plaines when four new tennis courts open there in about two weeks.

Tom Cooper, park district director, said yesterday that the courts have been blacktopped. Currently fencing is being installed. Once the courts are open, lighting of one of the park's three baseball diamonds and installation of goal posts on the football field will be the last major steps to complete the $278,000 South Park development plan. Cooper said he did not know when the lights on the baseball field would be installed. He said goal posts will be installed after Labor Day in time for the football season.

The park at Janice and Algonquin roads is the first park in the district to be landscaped with hills. Asphalt paths for walking and bicycle riding are also included throughout the park's 30 acres.

The parking lot on the west side of the park with room for 140 cars and installation of "abstract" playground equipment has already been completed. The equipment, costing approximately $9,000, is made of "select Douglas fir" and consists of swings, a slide and climbing apparatus. Park district officials have said there will be no problems with splinters because the wood has been specially sealed.

South Park was purchased for $500,000 using funds from the $2.4 million bond issue approved by voters in February of 1969.

Funds for development were also included in the referendum which authorized the sale of West Park in Mount Prospect.

Development of that 14-acre park at Golf and Busse roads has been delayed by construction of a retention basin. The basin, owned by the village, will not be completed until September, 1972. Once it is finished, park officials will begin work on plans to build tennis courts, a baseball and softball field and a sled hill.

Cool Spell Brings Record Low Pool Attendance

Attendance at local park swimming pools has dropped to record low numbers in an almost three-week-long cold spell.

Temperatures dropped to the 70s in mid July and have remained low through the first week of August. Usually the main attraction in the summer, neighborhood pools are now relatively empty.

The River Trails Park District lost about $1,000 in daily attendance fees since the cold spell began last month, according to Marvin Weiss, park director. "When we had good weather in June we averaged about $75 a day in attendance fees. Now we are averaging about $20."

In June an average of 1,200 people a day attended the River Trails Park District pool at Woodland Trails on Euclid Avenue in Prospect Heights. In July the average daily attendance dropped to about 450.

Attendance at the Prospect Heights Park District pool dropped from a daily average in June of 200 to between 10 and 60 in July, according to Ronald Greenberg, park director. "We've lost a total of about $75 in daily admission fees."

Because of the low attendance, the Prospect Heights pool was closed early five times and closed all day five times. The River Trails pool was closed early on 10 different occasions. However, the three Mount Prospect Park District pools have not closed early once this summer.

Daily attendance figures for the Mount Prospect Park District show that each of the pools have recently had about 10 to 15 swimmers. On a hot day, a total of 12,000 to 15,000 attend the three pools. The total attendance fees at the three pools dropped $1,492 in July from the June total of $3,371.

THE THREE PARK districts rely mostly on the sale of season passes and swim lesson fees for their pool revenue. Park directors at River Trails and Prospect Heights said attendance at their swim classes has been good despite the bad weather.

Prospect Heights' loss has been cut back by the fact that its lifeguards are paid an hourly wage. "When we close the pool, we just send the lifeguards home and we don't have to pay them for those hours," said Greenberg.

Mount Prospect park officials reported, "Our lifeguards are working on a skeleton crew at the three pools. They still get paid their hourly wage but they are rotated and do not have to work the usual hours."

However in River Trails the lifeguards are paid by contract. Even if the pool is closed, the lifeguards must remain on duty during the regular pool hours. "We have them polishing everything and scraping out the corners," said Weiss. "They are doing all of the cleaning we normally don't have time for. The low attendance at the pool has caused a morale problem with the lifeguards."

In some cases the cold weather has drawn children who would usually swim to the playground park programs. In River Trails the playgrounds attendance is at a "good level," Weiss said.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The office of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie announced that Mitchell Ware had resigned as director of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

The announcement came just hours after Judge Joseph A. Power, chief of the criminal division of Cook County Circuit Court, named Ware a friend of the court to investigate a grand jury probe of the slaying of two Black Panther party members in 1969.

Marilyn Hallman

Boy Scouts traditionally build campfires, back pack their gear on long hikes through the woods, and such but travel to camp in a LIMOUSINE? That's just what boys of troop 153 will be doing this weekend. They couldn't find another troop to share a bus with them. Hence, the limousine.

Scouts, with Scoutmaster Paul Prchal and Troop Chairman Len Mosher will leave this weekend for Namekagon Wilderness Camp, where they will stay for two weeks. Boys on the trip will be Paul Baranowski, Robert Blum, Steve Booth, Wally Bryant, Edwin Grafton, Taras Hazek, John Kraft, Scott McCormick, Tom Mielke, Edwin Meixner, Paul Mosher, Robert Pellican, Paul Prchal, Brian Urban and Ronald Werderitch. Camp activities will include a canoe trip down the Namekagon River, a one-mile swim, fishing and wilderness pioneering projects, swimming, and scout advancement.

DOUGLAS PETERSON, choir director at Community Presbyterian Church, will return this week from a three-week European tour with the Elk Grove High School Jazz Band. The band, directed by Peterson, played 11 concerts in Holland, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, France and England. This was the first European trip for this group. The trip was arranged through Performing Arts Abroad in Kalamazoo, Mich., and America Sound Abroad in Crown Point, Ind.

A LOCAL MAN — SP Casimir Koza is helping make life a little more pleasant for U.S. servicemen in Vietnam. As chief R & R clerk (rest and recuperation) of U.S. Army Vietnam Special Services Agency, SP Koza coordinates the athletic and recreation program of the agency. He has been with Special Services in Long Binh, Vietnam, since December, 1970. His father is John Koza, 109 Althea Dr., Prospect Heights.

ON CAMPUS... Karen Lynn Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hansen, 611 N. Pine St., has received her B.S. degree from Augsburg College in Minneapolis, Minn. An art major, she was graduated cum laude.

Illinois Institute of Technology recently awarded B.S. degrees to four Mount Prospect residents. Joseph Anichini, 112 S. Audrey Ln., has received a B.S. degree in civil engineering. Gregory Bielawski, 505 S. I-Oka, has earned a B.S. degree in chemical engineering. Larry Lee Walther, 1117 Sprucewood Dr., received a B.S. degree in biology. Donald Getts, 510 S. Pine St., earned an M.S. degree in sociology.

James Riebock, 225 S. School St., has been awarded a doctorate in education by Loyola University in Chicago. He previously received his B.A. degree from Carthage (Ill.) College and his M.A. degree from Roosevelt University in Chicago.

Russell Nelson recently graduated with high distinction from Concordia Senior College in Fort Wayne, Ind. He earned a B.A. degree in the school's pretheological program. Russell now plans to attend Concordia Seminary in St. Louis. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Nelson, 519 N. Russell.

Theft Reported

Linda M. Priebe, 22, of 1475 Park Pl., Des Plaines was arrested by Mount Prospect police about 5:30 p.m. Monday and charged with the theft of two blouses and a hand messenger from the Montgomery Ward Store in the Randhurst Shopping Center. Police said the items were valued at $45. She will appear in court August 19.

tion of an addition to the River Trails Junior High School. Voters earlier authorized the district to sell bonds totaling $325,000 for the construction. "If the bonds had been sold we would have been able to borrow from the building fund until more tax monies came into the education fund," Warden said.

The school board now hopes to announce the bond sale by Sept. 1 so that a contractor can be hired and the foundation laid for the addition before winter.

Once the budget is approved, the district plans to sell additional tax anticipation warrants to balance projected expenditures with expected revenue. Based on last year's teacher salary figures, expenditures would be $200,000 more than the expected revenue of $240,000. But the deficit is expected to be even higher after teacher salary negotiations are completed.

Warden said, "We hope to hold the deficit down in the coming fiscal year." He said he does not know how the 1970-71 warrant sale will compare to the post-budget warrant sale.

Mount Prospect, Des Plaines To Compete

Little League Tourney Set

Almost 100 boys from Mount Prospect and Des Plaines will compete tomorrow night in the second annual Mount Prospect Park District Little League Tournament.

In three games on the diamonds at Lions Park Recreation Center, 411 S. Maple St., All-Star teams from the Waycinden Area Boys' Baseball League and those of the Mount Prospect Little League Association will vie for a spot on the tournament trophy.

The nine and 10-year-old divisions and the 11 and 12 year-old divisions will begin play at 6 p.m. The nine and 10 year-old Mount Prospect League roster includes Bill Weislo, Dennis Clark, Don Bach, Dan Lessner, Keith Bongirde, John Bar-

CULINARY PARTNERS Pierre Dousson, chef, and Robert Disch, airline pilot, look over a simmering sauce at their Old Orchard Country Club Restaurant. The pair began redesigning the kitchen and menu at the restaurant last May. They plan to offer food with an international touch to residents of the Northwest suburbs.

Airline Pilot Lands In The Kitchen

by TOM VON MALDER

Take an airline pilot of 15 years and a man, who as a boy wanted to wear a chef's hat, and you get the unlikely combination that is bringing an international approach in dining to the Old Orchard Country Club in Mount Prospect.

The partnership began nine years ago when the two met in the British West Indies.

Robert Disch, a pilot for North Central Airlines, was vacationing with his wife in Jamaica when they received an invitation to go to the island of St. Lucia. Some friends recently had set up the first American hotel there. This was in 1962.

"COOKING WAS a hobby with me at that time," Disch said. "Each Thanksgiving and Christmas, my roommates and I prepared dinner for airline crew members away from home."

But baking was his real interest and when Disch saw the puff pastry at the St. Lucia Beach Hotel he couldn't believe their height. (Puff pastry is the kind used for apple turnovers.)

Disch went into the kitchen and met chef Pierre Dousson, his future partner at the Old Orchard Country Club Restaurant. "I spent the rest of the vacation in the kitchen with Pierre."

It was through the strong friendship begun at that time that Disch's interest in other aspects of cooking flourished. But for Dousson, cooking had been his whole life.

Born in Roanne, near Lyons, France, Dousson was just out of school when, with a friend, he went to visit a big hotel. The friend knew the hotel's cook and Dousson was introduced and hooked.

"The big, white hat impressed me," Dousson said. "I decided then that I wanted to be a chef."

He did his cooking apprenticeship in his home town and then moved to Vichy and Paris for four years. He finally made his way to St. Lucia.

The two kept in touch after Disch left St. Lucia. However, it was not until 1964 that Dousson was able to come to the United States. He was brought over by the Drake Hotel's cook internship program.

THE TWO often discussed the possibility of going into business and in May of this year, got their chance.

Disch had been golfing at the Old Orchard Country Club for a number of years and had been hired by the owner to redesign its golf course. (Disch, who wears many hats in addition to that of the chef, is a kind of amateur architect. He also designed the control tower at the Milwaukee airport.)

This allowed Disch to become familiar with the restaurant facilities at Old Orchard. When the chance came to take over the facilities, Disch contacted Dousson.

The first step, and one which is continuing, is to redesign the dining facilities, including the kitchen. Some $5,000 is being spent. Disch is doing the design.

The second step toward their international kitchen was to hire some experienced people. "We have assembled under this roof the six finest people you can find under any roof," Disch said.

Dousson, in addition to the Drake Hotel, has worked at Maxim's and the Champs Elysees in Paris, and the Comptele Angler in England. "This is the best restaurant in England, outside of London," Dousson said. "We would only see Rolls Royces and Bentleys."

PIERRE VIMONT is the catering manager and like Dousson, he has served the Queen of England. Paco Sanchez is the maitre d'. He has worked at La Pavillion in New York and the Dorchester of London.

The three chefs have worked around the globe. Pierre Barth also has worked at La Pavillion. A native of Belgium, he has cooked for Cafe du Theatre and L'Auberge des Grottes in Liege. Stephen Furst, who speaks 10 languages, has worked at Gall, Geneva, Switzerland; Grand Hotel, Ancora, Turkey; Montmartre, England; and Imperial Hotel, Vienna, Austria.

The third chef, Rodolphe Vallee, was chef at the Hotel Transatlantic, Morocco; and the Cafe des Sport and Grand Veneur, Paris.

The pair, Dousson and Disch, feel the changes they are making at the country club restaurant are in line with a general tendency of "good restaurants to move into the suburbs." They said the suburban resident is now less likely to go to downtown Chicago to eat.

"We'd like to think we are part of this movement in bringing good food to the suburbs," Disch said.

Midget Football Team Registration Under Goal

Additional registrations for the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association have apparently fallen short of the goal necessary to forestall the elimination of some of the teams the group had planned to operate.

The association had set up a new team system (each system is made up of five teams) last year in the southern part of the area it serves. The new system included all of Mount Prospect south of Golf Road as well as the Eighth Ward of Des Plaines.

But more boys were needed for the teams. "The south still hasn't come through like we anticipated," said Kurt Teichert, president of the association. "We had only about 45 additional registrations. And these are from all over town, not just the south."

Shakey's Forfeits To Goodyear

This week's Mount Prospect Park District Softball League action included a forfeit victory by Shakey's Pizza over Goodyear in the Tuesday night league. The victory assured Shakey's of a second place finish.

In other Tuesday night league action Ye Old Town beat Goldblatts 20 to 2. Tomaso's Pharmacy beat VFW 13 to 12.

Three current Tuesday night standings are First, Shakey's; Second, Ye Old Town; Third, VFW; Fourth, Tomaso's Pharmacy; Fifth, Goodyear; and Sixth, Goldblatts.

In the Wednesday softball league, Waycinden picked up a share of the league lead with an 8 to 2 win over Midwest Stripping. Chuck's Marathon beat the Grove Lounge Spoilers 11 to 9. Randhurst MacDonalds beat Burger Chef 11 to 10.

Current standings in the Wednesday night league are: Waycinden and Grove Lounge tied for first; second, Chuck's Marathon; third, Burger Chef; fourth, Midwest Stripping; and fifth, Randhurst MacDonalds.

In Wednesday night softball action at Meadows Park, Lundstrom's Nursery beat Romano Printing 5 to 4. Illinois Range lost to Jake's Pizza and Pub Chargers, 9 to 7. Scanda House beat the Ten Spots 11 to 9.

The current standings are: First, Jake's; Second, Romano; Third, Lundstrom's; Fourth, Scanda House; and Fifth, Ten Spots.

Park Name Selection Is Postponed Again

Selection of winners in the Mount Prospect Park District's "Name the Park" contest has again been postponed.

Selection of names for three parks was scheduled for last night's building and grounds committee meeting which was postponed. Paul Caldwell, assistant park director, said yesterday he did not know when the names would be selected.

The park district has received nearly 100 entries in the contest to rename the parks currently called South, East and West parks. The contest started in May and selections of names of the winners has been postponed twice.

Low-Income Housing: Will It 'Spoil The Town'?

Arlington Heights officials must convince themselves that moderate-income housing "won't spoil the town" before any progress can be made to meet the obvious need, according to a developer who spoke at last night's meeting of the low-and moderate-income housing committee.

Richard Stein, of Littlestone of Little Rock Co., which developed a moderate-income housing project partially completed in west suburban Carol Stream, said there is no question but there is a need for moderate-income housing in the village. "It's not a subjective observation that there is a need. It can be proven by statistics."

The main factor in opposing this type of housing is "most communities simply don't want moderate-income housing. Most homeowners don't want moderate-income housing," Stein said.

During his presentation, Stein referred to a list of statistics from his company's project at Carol Stream that showed the amount of children generated from the complex is far below estimates made before the project opened.

Stein said that the project had disproven one of the common objections to moderate-income housing proposals — that it will overburden the school system.

He said the project disproved many other objections normally voiced about subsidized housing.

THE BUILDING EXPERT commented that moderate-income housing projects built by private developers will pay "more than our full tax bill and will not be an economic detriment to the community whatsoever."

After village officials establish the need for moderate-income housing, they will have no problem in finding developers to build it, he said. "Fortunately, you've got a lot of qualified people willing to do it for you."

Other developers at the meeting agreed the village could easily have moderate-income housing developed by private builders if the village would take a positive stand to encourage construction of such housing.

As Stein observed, "You will have enough people coming in with proposals when they are convinced you have a positive attitude."

Builders' recommendations were heard by the committee which includes members of the Arlington Heights Village Board and Plan Commission. The committee will present a report including recommendations to the village board by Oct. 15.

Smile!

It Isn't Easy To Bring Out Those Grins, But Finding Happiness Made The Search Worthwhile

by TOM ROBB

Ever try to get a perfect stranger to smile?

It's not easy.

Maybe it says something about the spirit of the times, but any good intentioned effort made to evoke a grin is usually taken in every way but the funny way.

"What's your angle, buddy?" "You weird or something?" "I don't want any. Not interested."

Those and more were the responses a Herald reporter and photographer got while roaming the streets yesterday in search of smiles to commemorate National Smile Week, Aug. 2 through 7.

Even worse were the looks of skepticism and suspicion which took the place of a thousand words.

But there were a few good natured souls around and here are some of their comments:

"What makes me smile? Ha," laughed 75-year-old Frank Raupp, who can be found sitting most days in front of Countryside Restaurant at Campbell and Duntun. "The leg parade," he said, watching the girls go by.

Young or old, that response more than once transcended the "generation gap." "Or as John Sasi, a young cadet with the Arlington Heights police said: "Get me a good looking girl and I'll show you a smile."

To others, such as Joe Winder, a long-time iron worker now working on the Federal Savings and Loan Association addition, happiness is "a good days work."

"A SUNNY DAY," does the trick for Mrs. Barbara Hahn, an Illinois Bell Telephone worker lunching at Barney's Country Fried Chicken. "To me it's a good looking man," said her co-worker, Mrs. Louis Hdiv.

To a group of junior high school girls in a cheerleading class at Pioneer Park, it took very little at all to bring out a smile.

Freckle-faced Jan Cronin, a 12-year old aspiring to be a cheerleader, could only say "a cheer leader's got to smile to —" before breaking down into a giggle with her friends.

Still giggling, the girls saw an elderly man come walking by. He was H. B. Ohnessorge, a retired banker, who was just leaving an "Over 50 Club" meeting in the park building.

"What would make me happy is to have a job again," he said.

Bonder To Be Twice As Busy At Municipal Building Jobs

Kenneth Bonder is going to be twice as busy at the Municipal Building.

This week he was named village clerk, in addition to serving in his present capacity of Arlington Heights finance director, which he has done since 1969.

He replaces Mrs. Betty Revard, who resigned from the clerk's position July 31.

By ordinance, he is also personnel director and village collector all rolled into one.

But Bonder, a native of Elmwood, Ill., isn't worried. "I have two very competent women in the clerk's office. I find them very knowledgeable and they've consented to help me get my feet wet."

Aside from financial matters, Bonder will now assume new responsibilities which range from recording official village records to handling local voter registration.

He brings a background of three years of municipal work for the city of Dayton, Ohio, in addition to a M.S. in public administration and a B.A. in political science from the University of Dayton.

BONDER MAY NOT serve until the end of his term as village clerk, April of 1973, however.

It is expected that Village Pres. Jack Walsh will appoint a committee on Aug. 16 to study the current form of village government and what alternatives are open to it.

One of the first tasks of the committee will be to review the village clerk position, with hopes of making it a full-time, appointed post.

Currently it is an elected, part-time job. Law permits the village to make it a full time job, but it does not permit the salary compensation to be raised accordingly.

Bonder was appointed, said Village Pres. Walsh, in the "best interest of the community." He said the job demanded a person knowledgeable and experienced in village affairs to fill the void until 1973 or whenever the post is altered.

Bonder resides with his wife Dorice, and their son at 224 S. Prindle, Arlington Heights.

H. B. OHNESSORGE

JAN CRONIN

NO, IT'S NOT BIG BROTHER: After extensive investigation, the Herald has learned the mystery behind colored dots appearing in the upper corners of about 2,000 surveys mailed out by the village. Some residents thought the dots might be a way of tracing the filled out forms to a specific individual. However, some forms have blue dots to show the form was sent to someone who lives within the village boundaries and others have red dots to show the forms were sent to people who live in nearby unincorporated areas.

YOU WANT TO BET? Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson explained to the village board Monday night that the only wood in the new horse stables being built at Arlington Park Race Track was a "kickboard" in the back of each stall. "The kickboard keeps the horses from breaking a hoof when they kick," he said. "That explains it," said Village Pres. Jack Walsh. "All the horses I bet on must have been in concrete stalls."

WHAT PRICE GLORY? After being honored by being appointed chairman of the new Environmental Control Commission (ECC), Edward Kokkelenberg thanked Village Pres. Jack Walsh, who in turn said, "Congratulations, I guess, but maybe I should say that after we clean up the environment."

BEATING THE SYSTEM: On Monday during a sale at Hagenbrink's Fabric Store, an employee came out of the store with a handful of change and dutifully fed the parking meters in the adjacent area.

A SHORTAGE OF LETTERS apparently made it necessary for the Jaycees community events sign to declare this week, "See Other Side."

OUT TO LUNCH, and then some: When a Herald reporter called one of his sources for an explanation on a news story he was doing he was told by the source's secretary that he was out to lunch. Just a half hour later the secretary answered a second query as to the whereabouts of the source and said, "he's out of town."

Youth Arrested On 'Pot' Charge

An anonymous tip Wednesday led Arlington Heights Police to a cache of cured marijuana as well as several live plants they found growing in the backyard of a north Pine Street residence.

A 16-year-old youth was turned over to the police youth division in connection with the raid.

Police said they observed the plants growing in the backyard and asked the youth's mother if they could search the house.

The search uncovered five lbs., or ounces, of the drug as well as a number of uncut stalks.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Working with surprising speed and ease, astronaut Alfred M. Worden wrapped up Apollo 15's spectacular lunar expedition in high style with man's first walk in deep space to retrieve priceless film of the moon.

Wholesale prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years in June, the government reported. The White House conceded the report was bad news but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

General Motors Corp announced "tentative" increases in the prices of 1972 model cars which would average 3.9 per cent, or $176 more than similarly equipped 1971 models.

The World

South Vietnam's highest court ruled that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had failed to qualify to run as a candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential elections in opposition to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

At least 36 persons were reported killed and 76 injured in a collision between passenger and freight trains south-east of Belgrade.

The State

Gregory Hansen, 15, Rockford, was arrested in connection with two of four recent slayings. He was charged with the murders of Herman Kasch and his wife Mary.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The office of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie announced that Mitchell Ware had resigned as director of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

The announcement came just hours after Judge Joseph A. Power, chief of the criminal division of Cook County Circuit Court, named Ware a friend of the court to investigate a grand jury probe of the slaying of two Black Panther party members in 1969.

School District Sets Fee Dates

With the first day of school just a month away, fee dates have been set for youngsters in Arlington Heights Elementary School Dist. 25.

Registration fees for children in elementary school — grades kindergarten through fifth — should be paid at the school between 9 a.m. and noon, and 1 to 3 p.m. on Tues., Aug. 31.

The parents of kindergartners will be asked to pay $5, while the cost for students in grades one through five is $11.

Mail Letters Early For Monday Arrival

Residents in Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village and Rolling Meadows will have to get their letters into the collection box at the Arlington Heights post office by 3:30 p.m. Sundays if they want their mail to arrive in Chicago in Monday.

The new, earlier mailing hour is part of the post office's effort to ensure next day delivery within the Chicago metropolitan area.

Sunday collection at all other mailboxes will be as posted.

Park District Swim Team Scores Resounding Win

Swimmers from the Arlington Heights Park District scored a resounding victory Tuesday night when they took on teams from five other park districts.

Winning by a margin of 86 points, the undefeated Arlington swim team won the title of champions in the B division of the Northern Illinois Swim Conference.

In addition to the Arlington team, the competition included swim teams from Elmhurst, Niles, Rolling Meadows, Deerfield and Palatine park districts.

Team members will complete their summer schedule in a battle of champions Wednesday. The Arlington team will meet the Elk Grove Park District team, winners of the C division. The contest will begin at 6:30 at Olympic Park, 660 N. Ridge Ave., Arlington Heights.

During this week's competition for the division championship, Arlington sent 19 to the winner's stand in the sixty-four event program.

THE TEAM BOASTED a record of the three double individual event winners and one triple winner. Three first places were captured by Steve Foster in the division for swimmers who are eight years old and younger. Foster dominated the division in the freestyle, butterfly and breaststroke events. In addition, he served as anchorman for the winning freestyle relay team that also included Jay Takata, Mike Polacek and Brett Ryden.

Ryden completed a sweep of blue ribbons in that division by winning the backstroke event. Both Takata and Polacek placed high in individual competition.

Foster has lost only one race this summer but avenged his earlier defeat by a close finish in the butterfly.

However, his sister Jody remained undefeated for the season by winning both the individual medley and butterfly events in the division for 11- and 12-year-old girls. Miss Foster also served as the anchorman for the relay team which placed third.

Arlington's dominance in two divisions, 9 and 10 year olds and 15 year olds and older swimmers, accounted for the local team's winning margin.

Gary Stark breezed to easy wins in both the freestyle and breaststroke events. Teamed up with Mark Markwell, Alan Kroll and Terry Bower, Stark helped the team capture first in the freestyle relay, finishing a length in front of the second place team. Also in this division, Markwell captured a first in the individual medley and was edged out of

Backyard Carnival Today, Tomorrow

A backyard carnival to help the fight against muscular dystrophy will run today and tomorrow from noon to 3 p.m. at the residence of Mark and John Halmiaki, 520 Ridge Ct., Arlington Heights.

Games, refreshments, and cartoon movies will be the feature attractions. The carnival is being directed by the Halmiaki and Kurt Wiebe.

Benefit Carnival Set For Dystrophy Fund

A neighborhood carnival to benefit the fight against muscular dystrophy will be held Saturday at the home of Scott McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. McFarland, 412 N. Drury Ln., Arlington Heights.

The carnival, which will run from 2 to 5 p.m., will include games, cartoon movies, prizes and refreshments.

Scott will serve as ringmaster, assisted by his brother, Craig; Kim Krueger, and Ray and Norm Dolejs.

Though there will be no pre-school mailing to parents of elementary school children, notices on junior high school registration will go out Aug. 16, a district spokesman said.

Junior high school fee day will be Aug. 26, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the schools. A textbook fee of $11 will be required of all junior high school students with a $4 towel fee listed as optional.

The textbook fee is used to help defray the cost of damaged books. The $11 charge represents a dollar increase from last year.

Schools in Dist. 25 open Tuesday, Sept. 7, with classes on that day only dismissed at 11:30 a.m. Afternoon kindergarten will be let out opening day at 2:30 p.m.

Class assignments lists, showing grade, section, room number and teacher will be posted in most schools Aug. 31.

Information on student insurance, school handbooks and supplies will be available at the schools on fee days.

Parents are asked to write one check to cover all the children they may have in any given school. Checks should be made payable to: Arlington Heights Public Schools.

Student insurance checks should be written separately and made payable to the particular insurance company involved.

GLASS BLOWING at the 4-H Fair in Arlington Heights last weekend kept youngsters spellbound. The fair, held just north of Palatine Road and east of Rte. 53, included 4-Hers from the North Cook County area.

Buyers Have Right To Cancel Contract In 3 Days

How Can You Regulate Solicitors?

What can Arlington Heights residents do to regulate door-to-door salesmen until a village ordinance is passed which provides legal recourse?

According to Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott's office, buyers have the right to cancel any contract of purchase of goods and/or services within three days following the date of purchase.

Mrs. Maria Elden, assistant attorney general, said the Illinois Consumer Fraud Act gives residents the right to a three-day cancellation period, providing the resident did not solicit the salesmen, and that the buyer has the phone number and address of the salesmen.

The law currently applies exclusively to purchases of $50 or more, but amendments have been submitted in the General Assembly which lower the purchase value to $10.

SHE ALSO SAID it is illegal for a solicitor to misrepresent the buyer's right of cancellation, to refuse to make a refund under this provision or use coercion to keep a customer from canceling.

A spokesman for the Federal Trade

Commission (FTC) said federal law, under the Truth and Lending Act, provides the consumer with similar recourse.

The federal law, however, applies only to the sale or credit exchange of home improvement goods or services, such as roofing, siding and furnace repairs.

The spokesman said a number of additional proposed laws regulating door-to-door salesmen are now being studied, however.

Arlington Heights Village Atty. Jack Siegel said residents, under state statute, can also post their "no trespassing" signs on their property. However, violators of the state law cannot be prosecuted on a local level.

CURRENTLY, Arlington Heights officials are considering an ordinance which would allow residents to post "no trespassing" signs on their property as a deterrent to solicitation.

Also, the new ordinance would require "a mild form of registration" at the Municipal Building to establish positive identity of the salesmen and his company. Solicitors, under this ordinance, would be required to wear an identification badge issued by the village.

The proposal will be formulated into an ordinance by Siegel and submitted to the legal committee Aug. 17. The committee would then make a recommendation to the board.

Track Officials Vow They'll Improve Housing Conditions

Village Pres. Jack Walsh said this week Arlington Park Race Track officials have assured him that substandard housing conditions in the stable area will be corrected by 1975 or 1976 at the latest.

Walsh said he recently met with John F. Loomer, president of race track operator Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises (CTE), to work out details of the reconstruction program.

Last month Walsh said publicly he would meet with track officials to discuss the housing conditions after village fire and building inspectors labeled them substandard.

A fire at the track on June 3, which killed 33 horses and caused about $500,000 damage, sparked the village inspections.

Also attending were Ralph Clabour, chairman of the board's public health and safety committee, which ordered the inspections, and village Mgr. L. A. Hanson.

WALSH SAID Loomer told him all improvements will be done within four to five years. This includes replacing 42, non-conforming wooden stables by non-combustible, concrete buildings.

Loomer said the new structures, each one replacing two wooden stables, will contain 115 to 120 stalls and be separated from the living quarters of stable hands.

Currently, the living quarters are connected to the barns. About 40 workers were left homeless by the June 3 fire.

New plans indicate the living quarters will be moved to concrete, fire resistant dormitories.

Walsh said plans for the stables and living quarters comply with village ordinance and that the building schedule "is quite reasonable."

Skit Held For Leukemia Fund

A Dennis the Menace skit to raise money for the fight against leukemia was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Karl Buttstadt, 917 E. Olive St., Arlington Heights.

The skit was presented by Kathy Buttstadt, Helga Tretenbach and Janet Radcliffe.

Fifteen cents covered the cost of admission and included a soft drink and bag of popcorn.

'Shannon Rovers' To Perform At Park

The "Shannon Rovers" will bring their kites, bagpipes and drums to Arlington Heights Saturday night to perform at Recreation Park, 500 E. Miner St.

The unusual musical group has performed at Butch McGuire's in Mount Prospect and will entertain Saturday at Buffalo Bob's Truckin' Stop Coffee House in the basement of Recreation Park. The coffee house is sponsored by the Arlington Heights Park District.

The admission charge will be $1 and the activity is open to people who are 18 years old and older. The coffeehouse opens at 8 p.m. and closes at midnight.

Park Swim Team Splashes On

Additional Lifesaving Courses Set

Additional courses in junior and senior lifesaving will be offered by the Arlington Heights Park District beginning Monday and continuing through Aug. 20.

A junior lifesaving class will be held at Olympic Pool, 660 N. Ridge Ave., from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. This class has been offered at the outdoor pools and was added to the roster at the indoor swimming facilities in Olympic because of public demand.

The class will be taught by Sue McCarthy who will be assisted by other members of Olympic's swimming staff. Senior lifesaving instruction will be given at the same time. Residents interested in registering for the course may sign up at Olympic.

Also in this division, firsts were won by Mark Rusche in the breaststroke and butterfly and Meg Todd in the breaststroke. The relay team of Miss Todd, Barb Loner, Jean Waddick and Jody Foster outdistanced their competitors to win the final blue ribbon in the division.

In the 13 and 14-year-old division, Cheryl Takata, Sheri Meyer, Joe Siler and Sandy Gabler won individual events. The girls' relay team of Sheri Meyer, Maureen Stoll, Laura Weber and Cheryl Takata was the uncontested winner of the freestyle event.

Jim Young led the swimmers in the 15 year old and older swimmer's competition with first place finishes in the individual medley and the backstroke. He was also a member of the winning medley relay team which also included Charlie Dunn, Jeff Young and Tom Rowe.

The boys' freestyle relay team of Takata, Steve Nitch, Steve Jurco and Young topped off the meet by whipping the Deerfield team by more than 12 seconds to end the meet with Arlington on top.

Arlington team members in the 15-year-old and older girls' events were shut out in the winning column, being downed by a strong Deerfield Squad.

School Board Fires Architects

Architectural Management Inc. was fired by the Prospect Heights Dist. 23 School Board Wednesday night.

The architect firm was hired by the district in October, 1970 to design and supervise construction of additions to Douglas MacArthur Junior High School, and Betsy Ross School and the remodeling of Anne Sullivan School.

Wednesday the board voted unanimously to "terminate the services of Architect Management Inc. for cause." The cause includes a long list of complaints the board has accumulated against the architect.

Since the problems began about five months ago, the district has not paid the architect firm. The firm has written the district asking that it pay bills totaling about $5,000. Of the total bill to date of $40,000, the district has paid the architect about $23,000.

In listing their complaints the school officials pointed to the architect's failure to secure a Cook County building permit until after the construction began. School board members discovered the permit had not been issued after they were notified by the county that the architect's plans did not meet the Illinois Life Safety Code.

The school board has held a series of special meetings during the past weeks to discuss the code violations and other changes that had to be made in the architect's plans. Construction was halted in the midst of the project until the code violations were corrected and a building permit was issued. The work taken to correct the violations involved such things as adding heat and smoke detectors, changing the ventilation system in the gym and lowering a ceiling in the library.

The school board refused to accept the building permit until the architect agreed to pay a portion of the $900 cost of the code violation corrections. School officials contended that the architect was financially responsible for the fact that the district had to assume additional construction costs after voters approved a bond sale based on an earlier construction estimate.

In addition the district had to pay $15,000 for change orders in the architect's plans. These revisions were requested by district personnel and the county education office. The revisions, corrections and late issuance of the building permit have pushed the construction schedule back several months.

School officials do not expect all of the construction to be completed before November. Originally the construction was scheduled to be completed in September.

In addition of the extra expenses and delay in construction the school board members are concerned about the amount of time they have had to spend supervising the construction. Administrators and school board members charge there has been a "lack of supervision on the job on the part of the architects."

District administrators are now looking for an architect to complete the three construction projects. The architect will have to supervise the construction and make revisions in engineering drawings.

The district has worked with the just fired architect firm since 1964. Until last year the firm was called Alexander, Westphal, Borkon and De Young. The name of the firm changed after some of the principals left. The original firm designed the district's John Muir School, Dwight Eisenhower School and an addition to MacArthur.

According to school officials several other school districts have either fired or dropped the architect firm.

Education Goals Set By Board

The board of education of Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 has adopted educational goals for the coming school year.

The goals include improvement of the teaching of reading in the district, development of school-park district cooperation and improved communication with the public and review of the foreign language program.

In addition the board approved long-range goals, which will be reviewed every year, which include reducing the district's debt position and changing the program in the junior high schools.

Judith Zanca, chairman of the board's policy committee recommended the goals to the board saying, "I think it is important to have objectives that are achievable and I think these are."

Supt. James Ervill said the goals do not mean any change in "how teachers relate to students," but should mean improvements in the education offered by the district.

The change in the junior high schools, which will occur over several years, will mean a change from curriculum centered departments to "a child oriented middle school." Mrs. Zanca said the change will help ease the transition between fifth and sixth grade.

The objectives adopted for next year are:

- To make efforts to improve all teachers' ability to teach reading
- To expand park district school board cooperation, including discussion of responsibility for supervision of community services with park boards
- To revise personnel evaluation methods

-To begin changing from one language arts textbook series to another.

-To explore the laboratory approach to all subjects, while continuing the lab approach in math.

-To develop a communication system through the use of citizens' committees and service organizations.

-To continue development of principals as educational leaders

-To develop an accounting manual.

-To review the foreign language program

Board members said Monday night the administration will be reporting during the year on achievement of the goals.

Incidents Reported In Rock Concert

An eight-foot tall root beer bottle was stolen and a hearse window was broken at the weekly rock concert at Wheeling High School.

Police are investigating the theft of the bottle, an advertising display valued at $1,500. The fiberglass model of a root beer bottle was attached to the top of a station wagon parked in the parking lot.

Police said the display was taken from the car between 10:10 p.m. and 11:15 p.m. Tuesday. It belonged to Larry Kopol of Morton Grove who was attending the rock concert at the high school.

In another incident Tuesday, Wheeling police released two juveniles who had been smoking marijuana cigarettes at the concert, to their parents.

Police Det. William Hoos said the two youths, both from Des Plaines, had no previous police records.

Fire Reported At Park Towers Hotel

Two fire trucks and eight men responded Thursday to a 2 a.m. alarm at the Arlington Park Towers Hotel.

The fire, which was confined to a trash chute on the top floor of the hotel, was quickly extinguished.

No one was injured, although some of the guests did leave their rooms because of smoke.

Seek Blood Donations For Leukemia Victim

Blood donations will be collected in Buffalo Grove Saturday for a two and a half year old victim of leukemia.

Although leaders of the campaign were encouraged by the number of persons who have already volunteered to donate blood, they said more donors are needed.

The boy, Danny Sendler of Buffalo Grove, received about 30 units of blood during a recent two and a half week stay at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. The boy was released from the hospital, but still suffers from the blood disease and may need more transfusions.

Danny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sendler of Buffalo Grove is a victim of lymphatic leukemia.

DONATIONS OF BLOOD will be collected at the James Fenimore Cooper Junior High School on Plum Grove Circle, just east of Arlington Heights Road in Buffalo Grove, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Acting Police Chief Named

Police Lt. John Savage, 45, has been named temporary chief of the Mount Prospect Police Department. The appointment will become effective after Aug. 13, the day when the present chief, Newell Esmond, retires.

Savage, who has been on the Mount Prospect police force for 17 years, has been a lieutenant since 1966. Esmond said Savage has been in charge of the local mutual aid group, part of a system comprising 12 area towns pledged to aid each other in cases of disaster or other emergencies.

"I don't think a better man could be chosen for temporary police chief," Esmond said. "He is calm, collective, steady and a good police officer. He has good judgment, the respect of the men and the ability to work with the men and the village government. He also is receptive to new ideas."

Savage has, for the past few years, filled in for Esmond during his official absences. He lives at 119 N. Wille St. with his wife, Evelyn, and his two daughters, Arlette, 18, a student at Harper College, and Mary, 16, a junior at Prospect High School.

Eppley said it would be some time before a permanent replacement for Es-mond could be named. By ordinance, it is Eppley's job to appoint the new police chief. However, Eppley has been manager for only four days and is still getting acquainted with Mount Prospect.

Esmond is leaving a position that pays $17,200 a year. Upon his retirement he will receive a pension of 52 per cent of his last year's salary, $16,250.

Poverty Payments Canceled For City Officials' Sons

by LEON SHURE

Federal anti-poverty payments to sons of several Des Plaines officials have been suspended until the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity (CCOEO) can determine if federal laws have been violated.

A CCOEO official told the Herald yesterday that five Des Plaines youths — including sons of two aldermen, the commissioner of public works, and a former alderman — will be notified today that funds are being withheld until CCOEO can determine if family incomes stated on signed applications for anti-poverty funds are accurate.

CCOEO officials acted after the Herald disclosed yesterday that Thomas Hinde, John Thomas, John Leer III and Steven Schwab — sons respectively of Ald. Robert Hinde (4th), Ald. Howard Thomas (6th), former third ward alderman John Leer and Public Works Commissioner Joseph Schwab — each receive about $37 a week to supplement wages they receive from summer jobs with the city.

A fifth youth, Stephen Holmbeck, 1325

2nd Ave., also participates in the OEO summer job program with the city.

THE WAGE supplement, which takes the place of part of the salary the city would ordinarily pay, is made under a federal OEO program — the Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC), designed to provide work with non-profit agencies for children of families with incomes below the federal poverty level standard.

Clyde Brooks, director of the NYC program in Cook County, said yesterday that if his investigation shows that incomes stated on the applications were incorrect, the CCOEO could demand return of the funds, "or take other legal action." U.S. Attorney William Bauer told the Herald yesterday, that "whenever federal funds are involved, criminal prosecution is possible."

Brooks showed the Herald statements signed with the names of Thomas, Mrs. Hinde, Leer and Schwab which declared that their family incomes are below the federal poverty level.

Leer told the Herald he had not signed an application indicating his family's income was below the federal poverty level — $4,400 for a family of four, $5,000 for a family of five, $5,600 for a family of six. Hinde said his wife had not signed a statement indicating his family income is below the poverty level. Thomas was unavailable for comment, but Mrs. Thomas denied he had signed a statement that his family earns less than the poverty standard. Schwab is on vacation and was unavailable for comment.

DES PLAINE'S Mayor Herbert Behrel yesterday refused to comment on who held responsibility in the city government for the applications, or what action the city would take, until he has spoken to City Comptroller Duane Blietz, who is on vacation. Blietz is in St. Louis and unavailable for comment.

Brooks told the Herald that the Illinois Employment Service, at 601 Lee St., which acts as the OEO representative in the local NYC program, asked Blietz to provide a list of poverty-stricken families with children who might work for the city.

Apparently, Blietz provided a number of names — the exact number is not known to Brooks or to the representatives of the Illinois service — and these included the five chosen, Brooks said.

The youths were interviewed by the employment service, and hired by the city, Brooks said.

The NYC program finds jobs with non-profit agencies for 1,250 poverty-stricken youths each year on a $600,000 federal grant program, Brooks said.

In the program in Des Plaines, federal funds are used to pay $1.60 an hour, the federal minimum wage, up to 23 hours a week. The city supplements this salary, so that the youths involved receive $2.35 an hour, and pays the $2.35 rate beyond the 23 hours to the 40 hours of regular work week.

Brooks said that his office and the Illinois Employment Service are not required by the federal agency funding this program, the U.S. Department of Labor, to make sure that the stated income on applications is correct. "It is a matter of trust," Brooks said.

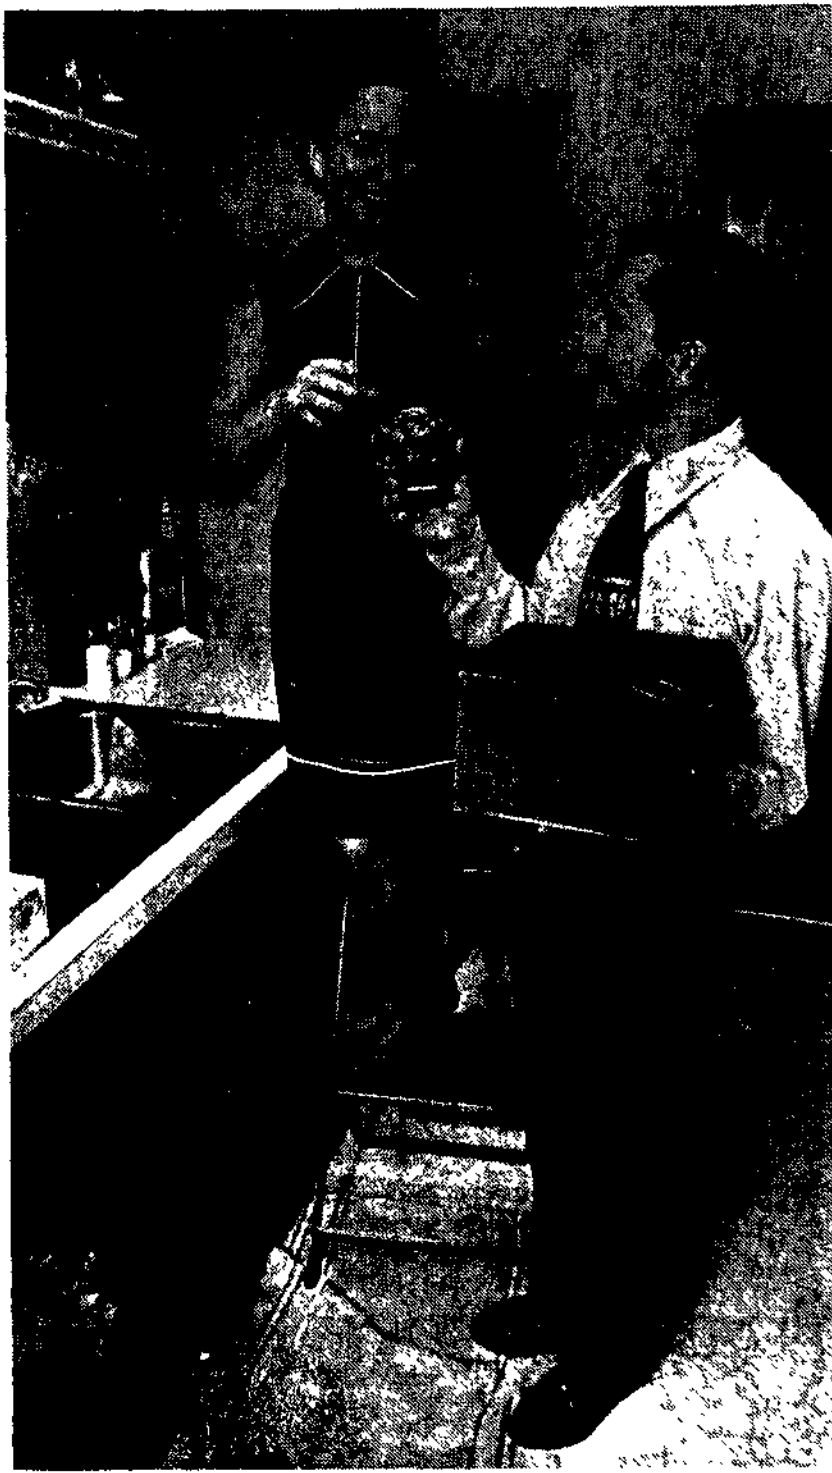

THE HERALD yesterday was shown five signed applications. The application apparently signed by John Leer, who was defeated in a reelection bid last April, stated that the family of six has a yearly income of $5,100. Leer is a salesman, the application states.

In an application signed with the name of Howard Thomas, income for the four-member family is stated at $3,800.

In another application signed with the name of Mrs. Robert Hinde, the income for the four-member family is stated at $4,000.

Both Leer and Hinde declined to reveal their incomes to the Herald during the April election, and Thomas' income has never been made public.

In an application signed with the name of Joseph Schwab, the income for the four-member family is stated at $4,100. According to published city records Schwab earned $17,425 last year.

KATHLEEN VER HAAR and Earl Jarvis were one of about 10 engaged couples who participated in July in the month-long Pre-Marital Institute offered every other month at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge. Now "Mr. and Mrs." they both agreed that the institute's lectures by a chaplain, a social worker, a physician, a financial consultant and a psychiatrist gave them "a lot to talk about" as they begin their married life in Wheeling.

Jewish Congregation Seeks New Members

Maine Township Jewish Congregation, 8900 Ballard Rd., Des Plaines, is currently conducting an extensive membership recruitment campaign.

A major effort to enroll 150 new families has begun according to congregation officials. With the slogan "We need each other" the conservative synagogue hopes to add new strength to its ranks this season.

Registration in the daily religious school, Sunday school and post Bar Mitzvah High School departments are also being accepted daily at the office. For full information and brochure call the office, 297-2006.

Park Dist. Takes 3rd In Swim Meet

The Mount Prospect Park District finished third in the swim championship meet of the Class A Division of the Northern Illinois Park District Conference Tuesday.

Mount Prospect finished behind teams from the Park Ridge and Northbrook park districts. Mount Prospect was followed by teams from the Barrington, Glenview and Des Plaines park districts. The meet, held at the Barrington Park District pool, included relays, individual medleys and individual events.

Mount Prospect ended the year with a 3-2 record in the conference.

Pair Lauds Pre-Marital Institute

by VICKI HAMENDE

"It gave us a lot to talk about," said Earl Jarvis and Kathleen Ver Haar about the month-long Pre-Marital Institute offered for engaged couples at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

"I'd recommend the institute highly. It gives a broader and more realistic view of what marriage really is, and how to understand each other and your relationship to each other," said Kathy, 24, a vocal music teacher in south suburban Calumet Township.

"I learned things we can apply toward our marriage. Things about understanding each other and knowing what to expect of each other's feelings. I learned things that I would have probably found out after being married several years," said Earl, also 24, an instrumental music teacher at a Chicago high school.

NOW THE NEW Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jarvis of Wheeling, Earl and Kathy were among about 10 couples who participated in four institute sessions in July.

The sessions included lectures on "A Theology of Marriage" by a chaplain, "The Meaning of Sex and Love in a Marriage" by a physician, "How to Budget in Marriage" by a financial consultant, "Finding Strengths and Adjustments in Marriage" by a social worker and "Emotional Differences of the Sexes" by a psychiatrist.

According to Pastor Arthur Bickel, chaplain supervisor in the pastoral care department of Lutheran General, and spokesman for the institute, the response to the sessions, which have been offered six times yearly since 1964, has been "strongly positive."

"The couples usually expect just a series of lectures. Each session involves a lecture, but also a discussion period," Pastor Bickel said.

"We changed the format four years ago, and we try to update it yearly based upon feedback from the couples who have participated," he said.

"The institute is not in any way meant to be a substitute for the clergymen's roles in premarital counseling. We work with more general guidelines offered by people from other professions which are usually not available to the local parishes. The premarital counseling of the pastor himself is a more personal thing between the pastor and the specific couple," Pastor Bickel said.

"PROBABLY THE greatest benefit of the sessions is that it's not what we teach them, or what they might learn, but I think it opens up a lot of things for them to talk about," he said.

"We don't preach to the couples. The institute is meant to be a service function. We feel we have a cluster of resource persons in the hospital who should be available to the community for this sort of service," Pastor Bickel said.

The institute is moving in the direction of more "people to people" participation, he said, in response to continual requests from the engaged couples "asking for the chance to get to know each other better

Behrel Has 'No Comment'

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert H. Behrel yesterday said he will not comment on the disclosure that sons of city officials are receiving federal anti-poverty funds until he can speak to City Comptroller Duane Blietz.

Blietz, vacationing in St. Louis, is expected to return tomorrow, according to the city finance department.

Mayor Behrel would not say who in the city administration has responsibility for processing applications for the city summer jobs that are paid for in part by a federal anti-poverty program.

He indicated he is not aware of the poverty program applications, which require parents of youths being hired for the summer jobs to declare their incomes fall below federal poverty levels.

Behrel told the Herald Wednesday the city has no policy for the hiring of summer workers, but said children of city officials "probably do get preference."

THE HERALD reported Thursday that Thomas Hinde, John Thomas, John Leer III, and Steven Schwab — sons respectively of Ald. Robert Hinde (4th), Ald. Howard Thomas (6th), former third ward alderman John Leer, and City Public Works Commissioner Joseph Schwab — each receive about $37 weekly through the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity (CCOEO) in a program designed for children of families below federal poverty level standards. Another youth, Stephen Hambeck, 1325 2nd, also receives the CCOEO wage supplement.

Yesterday, the Herald was shown anti-poverty fund applications, signed with the names of Mrs. Hinde, Ald. Thomas, Leer, and Schwab, declaring their families receive incomes below federal poverty standards.

Hinde told the Herald his wife had not written anything about income on the application. About the statement on the application that the four-member Hinde family only had an income of $4,000 last year, Hinde said, "I don't see how that could be correct." Hinde owns a local floor covering store. He received $1,200 from the city last year for being an alderman, city records show.

Blietz told him, Hinde said, filling out the application was necessary so that more students could be hired this year.

Leer said "When I sign something I read it, and I didn't sign anything," stating an income below federal poverty standard. The federal poverty level is $4,400 for a family of four, $5,000 for a family of five, and $5,600 for a family of six, CCOEO officials said.

Ald. Thomas was unavailable for comment. Mrs. Thomas said her husband would never sign an application stating his income was $3,800. "Of course we have a larger salary," she said.

She said that every youth applying to the city had to apply for the federal anti-poverty funds.

Public Works Commissioner Schwab is on vacation and is unavailable for comment.

The Herald also disclosed yesterday that Edward Haag, son of Fire Chief Frank Haag; Beth Ann Corey, daughter of Deputy Fire Chief Donald Corey, and John Branding Jr., son of city health director Jean Branding, also are employed by the city this summer but not under the OEO program.

Kenneth Shillington, son of former eighth ward alderman Edward Shillington, also has a city summer job. About 30 jobs were available this year, according to one city hall source.

Leer and Shillington both were defeated in last April's aldermanic elections.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, who admits leaking the top secret Pentagon papers to the press was ordered by a federal judge to appear in California on charges of illegal possession and distribution of the 47-volume study of the Vietnam war.

Working with surprising speed and ease, astronaut Alfred M. Worden wrapped up Apollo 15's spectacular lunar expedition in high style with man's first walk in deep space to retrieve priceless film of the moon.

Wholesale prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years in June, the government reported. The White House conceded the report was bad news but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

General Motors Corp announced "tentative" increases in the prices of 1972 model cars which would average 3.9 per cent, or $176 more than similarly equipped 1971 models.

The World

South Vietnam's highest court ruled that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had failed to qualify to run as a candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential elections in opposition to President Nguyen Van Thieu.

At least 36 persons were reported killed and 76 injured in a collision between passenger and freight trains southwest of Belgrade.

The State

Gregory Hansen, 15, Rockford, was arrested in connection with two of four recent slayings. He was charged with the murders of Herman Kasch and his wife Mary.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit in Pope County Circuit Court asking that nearby Dog Island in the Ohio River be declared as part of Illinois.

The office of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie announced that Mitchell Ware had resigned as director of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

The announcement came just hours after Judge Joseph A. Power, chief of the criminal division of Cook County Circuit Court, named Ware a friend of the court to investigate a grand jury probe of the slaying of two Black Panther party members in 1969.

The War

A newspaper report that North Vietnam would release 193 POWs to be flown home to the United States next week brought a chorus of denials from the governments and airline involved but left questions unanswered about what actually happened.

It's Spirit That Counts

It's not what you give, but the spirit you give it with that counts. And by these standards, Tracy and Tyce LaQuey are among the hundreds of important contributors to the Salvation Army's Community Counseling Center emergency fund raising drive.

The children, 7 and 5 years old respectively, are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan R. LaQuey of 1301 W. Lincoln, Mount Prospect.

And last week they set up a cold drink stand in their backyard and turned all proceeds from their sales over to the center.

The amount came to $4.35. Mrs. LaQuey, their mother, said they got the idea from a story about a backyard carnival in Arlington Heights, in which neighborhood children raised money for the center.

"Last year they sent away and got a cardboard stand from the Kook-Aid people. This wasn't the first time they've done this. Selling has been one of their little money-making projects all summer," she said.

"BUT LAST FRIDAY they decided to turn all the proceeds over to the Salvation Army, to sort of do their part. Our backyard is about 30 feet from the eighth tee of the Mount Prospect Country Club, so all the people they sold drinks to were golfers. I guess there were about 20 of them."

"They usually put a price up, but this time they made a sign that said all profits will be turned over to the center and people could make donations instead.

They made more money this way. I know that. They received everything from a few pennies on up, including a couple of golf balls."

How did they feel about their little sale?

"Well of course they're very young... too young really to know what the center's all about. But they were happy to do it and feel they accomplished something worthwhile. And we were all moved by their community spirit."

Tracy will be a second grader at Westbrook School this fall and Tyce will begin there in kindergarten, said Mrs. LaQuey.

So far more than $11,325 has been raised for the center's emergency fund. The family service agency needed to raise $7,500 by Aug. 2 in order to maintain its current level of operation.

A FEW PIECES OF WOOD, put together in just the right way, can make an ideal place for a talk with a buddy. The wood is part of the "abstract" play equipment recently installed at South Park in Des Plaines. Development of the 30-acre Mount Prospect Park District park at Janice and Algonquin roads is nearing completion.

Tennis Court Opening Set In Two Weeks

The Mount Prospect Park District will move one step closer to completion of South Park in Des Plaines when four new tennis courts open there in about two weeks.

Tom Cooper, park district director, said yesterday that the courts have been blacktopped. Currently fencing is being installed. Once the courts are open, lighting of one of the park's three baseball diamonds and installation of goal posts on the football field will be the last major steps to complete the $278,000 South Park development plan.

Cooper said he did not know when the lights on the baseball field would be installed. He said goal posts will be installed after Labor Day in time for the football season.

The park at Janice and Algonquin roads is the first park in the district to be landscaped with hills. Asphalt paths for walking and bicycle riding are also included throughout the park's 30 acres.

The parking lot on the west side of the park with room for 140 cars and installation of "abstract" playground equipment has already been completed. The equipment, costing approximately $9,000, is made of "select Douglas fir" and consists of swings, a slide and climbing apparatus. Park district officials have said there will be no problems with splinters because the wood has been specially sealed.

South Park was purchased for $500,000 using funds from the $2.4 million bond issue approved by voters in February of 1969.

Funds for development were also included in the referendum which authorized the sale of West Park in Mount Prospect.

Development of that 14-acre park at Golf and Busse roads has been delayed by construction of a retention basin. The basin, owned by the village, will not be completed until September, 1972. Once it is finished, park officials will begin work on plans to build tennis courts, a baseball and softball field and a sled hill.

Middleton Attorney Charges State's Attorney

The attorney for Dr. James Middleton yesterday charged that state's attorneys might have improperly influenced a grand jury that indicted Middleton for drugging and sexually assaulting two women patients.

Atty. Edward Genson asked Circuit Court Judge Robert J. Downing to examine grand jury transcripts, claiming that subsequent interviews with grand jurors have turned up evidence of what could be "improper orientation" by state's attorneys.

Genson also submitted copies of 54 newspaper articles on Middleton which he said may have influenced the grand jury's decision to indict Middleton in February.

Asst. State's Atty. James Kavanaugh

rejected Genson's claim, saying that grand jury indictments are merely formal accusations. Trying to eliminate all outside influences on grand jurors would result in a "ludicrous situation," Kavanaugh said.

MIDDLETON WAS arrested last December in his office at 969 Elmhurst Rd. in unincorporated Des Plaines, after the two women accused him of attacking them. He has also been indicted on federal charges of illegally making and possessing bombs in his office and his Chicago apartment, 2800 N. Lake Shore Dr. Judge Downing, who said Genson's claim "raised some important issues," continued Middleton's pretrial hearing until Aug. 20.

Genson, who has asked Downing to dismiss indictments charging his client with deviate sexual assault and aggravated battery, said interviews by an investigator of 13 former grand jury members turned up possible evidence of influence from publicity and state's attorneys' handling of the case.

Although none of the 13 said they were prejudiced by reading about Middleton before voting the indictments, Genson told Downing, "some did say they were somewhat influenced by it."

"Most of them did say they read publicity on this, and none of them said they were admonished not to consider this publicity," he said.

According to Genson, 11 of the 13 also said they thought persons coming before the grand jury must have done something wrong or they wouldn't be there.

He cited what he said was a similarity between the Middleton case and a dispute over examination of transcripts by Chief Criminal Court Judge Joseph Power of the special county grand jury investigating the 1969 Black Panther case in Chicago.

GENSON POINTED out the Illinois Supreme Court approved Power's examination of the transcripts of the grand jury proceeding to determine if the jury had been influenced by a special prosecutor.

He urged Downing to make a similar examination of the grand jury record, hinting at what he said was improper conduct by state's attorneys who presented evidence to the grand jurors.

Pair Lauds Pre-Marital Institute

without being infantile about it."

Pastor Bickel lectured on theology and marriage at the first session in July. "We are all created in the image of God, and therefore something that goes on between you and your loved one is close to being holy, Godlike," he said in the lecture.

"Marriage is like two porcupines learning to sleep together. Just close enough to keep each other warm, but not too close because it hurts," Pastor Bickel said.

"We need other people and this is the most focused in the relationship of marriage and what it means when you say 'I love you,'" he said.

"HE HAD AN interesting theology pitch," said Earl after Pastor Bickel's lecture. "About having the same kind of love and respect for each other as we have for God. That had a lot to do with Kathy and I because we came from different religious backgrounds and there were a lot of objections to our marriage," he said.

"I liked what he said about the porcupine," said Kathy. "We're all individuals and we can only meet halfway," she said.

"WE CAN'T CHANGE each other. I have domineering tendencies and I'll have to watch myself around Earl," she said.

"We've always felt that we shouldn't even try to change each other," Earl said.

Kathy added, "We talked afterwards and found we knew most of what we had heard at the first session about love, involving respect, understanding, need and appreciation. It was good to know we felt this way, and good to have our philosophy supported," she said.

They were both surprised at the second session on sex and love in marriage that the physician did not "push the pill."

"WE HADN'T PLANNED on using it anyway, but I always thought we were kinda old-fashioned," Kathy said. "I learned a lot from him about the many contraceptive devices available," she said.

"Sex was something we really hadn't talked about that much. We were more shy before. Since the session we've been able to kid around about it more. The doctor was very down to earth during the session and I appreciated his common sense answers," said Earl.

"He made a big hit with us when he talked about honesty when it comes to sex and love in marriage. That tied in with the first session and the components of love," he said.

The Jarvisses were both disappointed in the session with the financial consultant. "At least he gave us a sheet listing all of the items a couple should budget for. But when he tried to budget a hypothetical income, he couldn't even get it to balance," Kathy said.

"HE DID GET US talking about it and working on our own budget plan," Earl said.

"Money is the biggest problem in marriage — there should have been much more time for us to ask questions," said Kathy.

"The social worker really hit close to home in the session where he talked about how to strengthen a marriage. He said not to assume that you can understand everything about your spouse," Kathy said.

"He also said to have an open mind about each other's strengths and weaknesses," Earl said.

"WE'VE ALWAYS TALKED to each other about our faults. But only when we're alone. It's a matter of timing, as the social worker said. So we only tell each other our faults when we're in good moods. There's no sense asking for trouble," Kathy said.

The final session with the psychiatrist dealt with the physical, psychological and spiritual differences between the sexes and the need for teamwork in handling these differences.

"I didn't completely agree with what he said about marriage and a career being separate for men and the same for women. Especially in our case with both of us teachers and interested in music. My vocation is just as important to me as Earl's is for him. Being married is only one part of my life," Kathy said.

Earl agreed. "Kathy's career is equal to mine. The roles in marriage are changing. Both of our jobs will have to go hand in hand with making a home," he said.

"The sessions were even better than I had expected," said Earl. "I found them educational but still enjoyable. It was fun getting to know some of the other couples, too."

"I WISH THERE had been more time. The speakers were always looking at their watches. But on the whole the sessions were really worthwhile. They certainly opened my eyes and made me realize all of the different aspects of marriage to watch out for," Kathy said.

"After going through the institute, I've decided I don't want to call the whole marriage off," Kathy joked.

"Well I might, but not necessarily," said Earl.

They were married last Sunday.

Commissioners Eye Park Site

Mount Prospect Park District commissioners have until Sept. 30 to decide if they want to buy the 11-acre East Park site from School Dist. 57.

School board members Monday night voted to set the September deadline as the latest date the park district can enter into an agreement to buy the site at Golf and Mount Prospect roads.

The board also voted to authorize their attorney to draw up a contract providing for payment of the site by a lump sum within one year of the agreement or by installments without interest during a five-year period. The cost of the land would be negotiated between officials of the two taxing bodies.

The school board's action came after park district officials indicated last month that they were "interested" in buying the site, which they currently lease from the school district at $1 a year. However, the park board has taken no official action yet to confirm that it wants to buy the site.

According to Top Cooper, park district director, no official decision on purchase of the site could be made by the park board until its next regular meeting scheduled for August 16.

SCHOOL BOARD members last month said they would consider selling the site to a private developer if the park district does not buy it. However, no official plans have been made in case the park district does not meet the September deadline.

The money obtained from sale of the site will go to pay for an approximately $150,000 expansion program at Fairview School, 300 N. Fairview Ave. The school board approved the expansion contingent upon the sale of the land.

KEEPING HER SPIRITS UP, Jackie Flieman, 22, of Wheeling, has decorated her room at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines with a mobile and an assortment of cards and ribbons. Miss Flieman's legs have been in traction for the past 10 days as a result of an automobile accident.

Football Registration Under Goal

Additional registrations for the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association have apparently fallen short of the goal necessary to forestall the elimination of some of the teams the group had planned to operate.

The association had set up a new team system (each system is made up of five teams) last year in the southern part of the area it serves. The new system included all of Mount Prospect south of Golf Road as well as the Eighth Ward of Des Plaines.

But more boys were needed for the teams. "The south still hasn't come through like we anticipated," said Kurt Teichert, president of the association. "We had only about 45 additional registrations. And these are from all over town, not just the south."

The number of teams that will be eliminated will not be known until after tomorrow's weigh-in at the Mount Prospect Country Club, 600 S. See-Grun Ave., Mount Prospect. "It depends on how many boys there are in each weight and age classification," Teichert said.

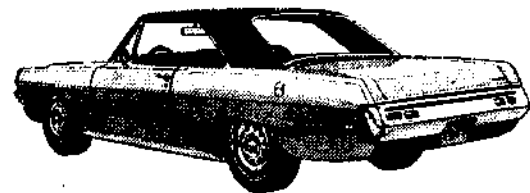

"When we get the total counts, we'll figure it out. The two team systems might have to be combined. We'll lose at most four teams," he said.

Teichert said that additional coaches for the teams are still needed. "If anyone is interested in coaching, they can call me at CL 5-3491."

She Doesn't Mind Being Only Girl

Sheila Quinn is no advocate of women's lib but she's nevertheless making a contribution to the movement.

Sheila is the only regular female member of the Elk Grove High School Jazz Band that is currently in the midst of a 21-day six-country tour of Europe.

"It's got its advantages and disadvantages," said Sheila.

One of the advantages is that being an attractive 16-year-old she is frequently noticed by the other members of the band.

A disadvantage is that at times band director Douglas Peterson will forget there is a female member around and leave her out of the conversation — like when the band was preparing to go to Europe and Peterson was discussing what kind of underwear the boys should bring along. Some of the boys looked at Sheila and giggled.

SHEILA, a senior, joined the band three and a half years ago as soon as she graduated from elementary school.

The Jazz band simply needed a flute player.

"We wanted a flute in the band," recalled Peterson. "Many modern jazz arrangements call for a flute and none of the boys could play one."

Sheila, a straight "A" student who wants to major in math in college, has been with the band ever since.

"Why not major in music?"

"I'm not that good," she said. "I'm not that talented," she insisted.

Compared to other flutists she has heard in other high school bands at various competitions the jazz band has participated, Sheila said she doesn't think she's as good as they are.

Even with all the practicing she does, several hours on her own each week in addition to regular band rehearsals in the summer, Sheila doesn't see being a musician as a career.

"NOW MY BROTHER — Stanley — he's good," she said. "He practices his trombone 45 minutes to an hour a day."

Stanley, 13, is also a member of the jazz band.

Sheila knows two more prospective members of the band. They're Diane, 11 and Chris, 8, her sister and brother. Both of them play the piano.

Sheila began on the flute when she was in fourth grade and now her brothers and sisters are continuing the musical trend apparently taking after their mother and father who used to play the violin and clarinet, respectively.

"How Many Years Will An MG Last?"

That's almost impossible to answer because the original MGs, over 20 years old now, are still on the road.

Not only are yesterday's MG TCs, TDs, and TFs still on the road, they're still increasing in value. We at Koske Import Motors frequently find the 1949 through 1955 MGs cost more today than one of our new MG Midgets.

Of course, the '49-'55 MGs are classics now. Limited production, styling and engineering made them classics. The same ingredients are present in today's MGB, MGB-GT, and Midget. And all MG generations are still on the road. Drive one today at Koske's — and ask how you can win a free MGB.

SUBURBAN LIVING

'Torch-Bearers' Next For Cabaret Theater

George Kelly has nothing resembling serenity in his rollicking comedy, "The Torch-Bearers." An hilarious account of what happens when a group of rock-bound amateurs attempt to produce a play for the locals, the comedy is filled with flubs, hysterics and small-time temperament.

Village Theatre, in its continuing summer fare of cabaret theater presented Wednesday evenings at the Village Inn in Palatine, will produce an excerpt from "The Torch-Bearers" during August.

POLLY JOHNSON, a veteran of Village Theatre comedy, will play the leading role of Mrs. Panpinell, a pompous director. Members of the cast are Roger Krupa, Ginny Hawley, Barbara McKee, Doris and Gene Kaczor, Terry Hysell, Mike Leach, Kim Abbott and Heleta Bodkin.

Directing "The Torch-Bearers" is Herb Braden. Chris Bauske is in charge of costumes and Judy Neubauer, sound. Stage manager is Wendy Gruen and production manager is Carolyn Burkett.

The hour-long entertainment, geared to family groups, opens this Wednesday and will also be staged Aug. 18 and 25. Reservations, Village Inn Pizza Parlor, Dundee and Rand, 359-4255.

'Jesus Christ Superstar' At Ravinia Tonight

Ravinia has scheduled two performances of the rock opera, "Jesus Christ Superstar." The first performance is tonight, 8:30, and the second will be tomorrow, 10 a.m.

Featured in the cast will be Yvonne Elliman, who will recreate the role of Mary Magdalene which she portrayed on the Decca recording of the work.

Carl Anderson appears in the role of Judas Iscariot. A resident of Washington, D.C., Anderson was most recently the lead singer with the rock group, "The Second Eagle."

The role of Jesus Christ will be played by 20-year-old Jeff Fenholt. He is a native of Ohio and was performing the role of Claude in the national touring company of "Hair" when he auditioned for this role in Los Angeles.

"Randall's Island" is the featured rock band for this touring production, which also includes a 32-piece orchestra.

PRIOR TO TONIGHT'S performance, there will be "Poetry Gala" in the park on the north lawn of the Park led by Gwendolyn Brooks, poet laureate of Illinois and Pulitzer Prize winner. Poets Walter Bradford and Michael Mesic will be participants. The poetry event celebrates the Illinois Arts Council's Poets in the Schools Project and is free to Friday evening's Ravinia audience.

There will be no performance Sunday so the New York City Ballet Company can move into the stage area to prepare for eight performances starting Monday.

Weekday performances begin at 8:30 p.m. Next Saturday, Aug. 14, the ballet company will perform both at 2 and 8:30 p.m. Another matinee will be staged next Sunday, Aug. 15, at 2 o'clock.

HANK DE GROH, VICE PRESIDENT of Village Theatre, takes his turn on stage at the Village Inn as Swirnov in Chekhov's one-act play, "The Bear." In August, the cabaret theater will be performing Act II of "The Torch-Bearers." All productions are staged Wednesday evenings.

VT's Cabaret Theater

New Channel To Community

by GENIE CAMPBELL

There is a certain phenomenon occurring at the Village Inn Pizza Parlor in Palatine Wednesday evenings. It begins when a makeshift stage lights up in the back room and table conversation hails.

The generation gap is suddenly tucked away as grandparents, young adults and elementary school kids all sit spellbound together.

There is no magic script connected with Village Theatre's cabaret theater that performs at the pizza parlor on the average of three Wednesday evenings out of each month.

It's just that the audience is relaxed, many members are enjoying their dinner, and when you're nose to nose with the performers and able to catch every animated expression . . . you can't do anything else but laugh.

AND THE KIDS? They're intrigued with the whole idea of live theater itself. It's a brand new experience for most of them.

It all began last spring when Marty Weisberg, owner and manager of the Village Inn Pizza Parlor on Rand Road near Dundee, was approached by Village Theatre representatives. They suggested the idea of staging one-act plays at his restaurant.

Marty, who is always experimenting with new talent, decided to give it a whirl. He isn't sorry. Village Theatre and Village Inn have been a winning Wednesday night combination ever since.

EXCERPTS FROM the "Fantasticks" were performed in June by the group, followed by two one-act plays by Chekhov, "The Proposal" and "The Bear," during July. Beginning next Wednesday, the second act of "The Torch-Bearers" will be enacted for three straight weeks. The hour's worth of entertainment begins at 8:30 p.m. There is a slight admission charge.

Profits from the cabaret theater are entirely directed to Village Theatre's building fund. However, in addition to money, the theater venture is also important in uncovering new talent.

Persons participating in the one-act productions are actively involved with Village Theatre's workshop. It caters to those people who are unable to be cast in major productions because they either are not the type or don't have enough experience.

THE SHORT ONE-ACTS at the Village Inn have managed to even attract new members for Village Theatre. Three persons cast in "The Torch-Bearers" joined the theater group after seeing VT perform on a Wednesday evening.

"It's a way of letting the community know we're here," said Daryl Schultz, workshop chairman for the incoming season. Betty DeGroh, who just completed her term of office as workshop chairman, helped instigate the cabaret theater.

"Although we've been in existence now for 22 years, a lot of people don't know what Village Theatre is," said Schultz. "Some of the children in our audience have never even seen live theater before. They become absolutely bug-eyed over our productions."

"OUR CABARET THEATER does not detract from our main attractions at all," continued Schultz in referring to VT's regular season of productions. "As long as we have talent left over, we will utilize it."

The plays presented at the Village Inn are geared to a heterogeneous group and therefore are more comically oriented. The kids are delighted by the animated expressions alone, regardless if a line or two goes over their heads. exaggeration becomes the key to a farcical approach that brings out a broad kind of humor.

"They're not designed for a lot of thinking . . . just to sit back and enjoy," said Schultz of Chekhov's plays presented last month.

"ONE REASON that community theater has problems is because there really is no community identification. We have no roots with any one suburb," continued Schultz. "It is a problem with all suburban theater groups that draws members from all over."

The minor but steady income realized from the weekly productions cannot be downgraded. While an actual theater for Village Theatre is still pretty nebulous and in the future, it is not impossible.

Theater groups seldom can book schools more than two weekends in a row. How is VT to pick up more patrons if they are unable to seat them?

ANIMATION IS an important part of VT's cabaret theater. It keeps the attention of all kids and adults together in the one-act play, "The Bear." Profits from Village Theatre's cabaret theater are all being put into a building fund started several years ago.

ZION PASSION PLAY

By Marilyn Hallman

The adult life of Jesus Christ is being dramatized each Friday and Sunday evening at 8 p.m. during August at Zion, Ill. More than 150 actors present the Passion Play in an outdoor amphitheatre. With dramatic lighting and stereophonic sound, the drama begins with the Sermon on the Mount and continues, for two hours, through the "Hallelujah Chorus" and the Ascension.

Tickets are $2.50 for box seats, $2.00 for adults, and $1.25 for students and children. They are available by reservation (call 746-1411) or at the door. Zion is two miles north of Illinois Beach State Park on Lake Michigan. The amphitheatre is in the center of Zion on Dowie Memorial Drive just west of the Christian Catholic Church.

MARGARET MOEHLING, president of Moehling Realty Co., 678 Lee St. was recently welcomed by Ruth Wendt, left, into the Soroptimist Club of Des Plaines, a service organization for business and professional women.

Two Tots In Blue Set Wedding Motif

Carrying baskets of blue daisies, two tiny flower girls, dressed all in blue, set the color scheme at the July 10 wedding of Sandra Dee Zoern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zoern, 2537 Seminary Ave., Des Plaines, and Thomas Buttner. Tom is the son of Mrs. John Benson and Edward Buttner of Des Plaines.

Little Becky Buttner of Algonquin, Ill., 3-year-old niece of the groom, and Juanita Baker of Monroe, La., 4-year-old cousin of the bride, led the bridal procession to an altar bedecked with white chrysanthemums and gladiolus.

The candle-lit, double-ring ceremony took place at 4:30 p.m. at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Des Plaines, with Rev. Herbert Nagel officiating.

THE BRIDE'S EMPIRE styled gown was of dacron polyester organza trimmed in Chantilly lace embellished with pearls. Her chapel-length illusion mantilla was completely bordered in matching lace. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and lilies of the valley surrounding a white orchid center.

Serving as maid of honor, Julie Baker of Monroe, La., cousin of the bride, was attired in a swirl of blue chiffon, as were the other bridal attendants. Full printed chiffon pants over blue lining were topped by a high-necked, beuffled blue chiffon bodice with long sheer sleeves and velvet ribbon trim at the slightly raised waist. Headpieces were multi-tiered bows set on large blue chiffon petals.

The other bridal attendants were Mrs. Darlene Enzenbacher, Miss Vicki Stirrat, Miss Ann Kai, all of Des Plaines, and Miss Kathy Grzenia of Wheeling. The attendants all carried colonial bouquets of blue daisies and white carnations.

RONALD ENZENBACHER of Des Plaines served the groom as best man. Other groomsmen were Dennis Buttner of Algonquin and Pat Buttner of Des Plaines, the groom's brothers; Jay Zoern, the bride's brother; Leo Romano, Steve Sperlin and Joseph Sanchez, all of Des Plaines.

Following the ceremony, a dinner reception was held at Allgauer's in the O'Hare Concord, with 150 guests attending. Out of town guests were from Louisiana; Windsor, Ontario; and as far away as San Paulo, Brazil. The bride's mother was attired in a beaded champagne chiffon dress with white orchid corsage; the groom's mother wore a sleeveless dress of blue crepe and a white orchid.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Ephraim, Wis., for one week. They are now living in Des Plaines. Their romance was a blending of east and west, the bride a graduate of Maine East High School and the groom of Maine West. Sandra is an employee of General Telephone Directory, Inc., Des Plaines. Tom works for Ken Myers Landscaping, Inc. of Wood Dale.

Dear Dorothy: I've got a set of white nylon uniforms that have become dingy and a bit yellowish. Surely there's some reliable way to get them white again. — Allison Mathews.

Add a cup of dishwasher detergent and a cup of bleach to a gallon of hot water and soak the uniforms for 30 minutes. Besides nylon, this also works on Orions and cottons. Use a plastic pail, not a metal container. Finally, wring out the clothes, put them through a regular cycle of the washing machine with regular detergent and add a cup of vinegar to the final rinse.

Dear Dorothy: What can be done to discourage starlings from roosting in the large maple in our yard? My walk, sidewalk and drive must be scrubbed daily and are still discolored and unsightly. — L. W. Perry.

Every city hall in the country would like to know the answer to this one. You might try the old home remedy of putting moth crystals in a few nylon stockings and draping them over the branches. Maybe the smell and the simulated snakes might drive them away.

Dear Dorothy: If a recipe calls for food to be boiled, will it do faster if the heat is turned up after reaching boiling temperature? — Lois A.

Once you reach the boiling point, whatever you have will not cook any faster no matter how much you turn the heat up.

100th Birthday Is Bittersweet Occasion

A ROSARY BLESSED by the Pope was one of her birthday gifts.

by LINDA PUNCH

When the family gathers Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Victoria Rembowski's 100th birthday, it will be a bittersweet occasion.

Only two weeks ago they were together for the funeral of Mrs. Rembowski's last surviving child and only son.

Mrs. Rembowski, who lived with her son at the Willoway Terrace Trailer Park in Elk Grove Township until his death, had a birthday celebration there earlier this week. The party, organized by Ida Knoll, was attended by several of the Rembowski's trailer park neighbors.

A bouquet of long-stem red roses was presented to Mrs. Rembowski as she stepped from her granddaughter's car. She climbed the stairs to the trailer unaided and entered her son's home for the first time since his death.

SHE SEEMED a little lost as she sat down in a black leather chair in the corner of the living room. Memories of the past seemed to compete with events of the present for her attention.

Her granddaughter kept up a continual flow of conversation, speaking to Mrs. Rembowski in Polish one minute and to the guests in English the next.

A handmade black mohair shawl, a basket of fruit and a rosary blessed by the Pope were given to Mrs. Rembowski by her neighbors. She also received the traditional birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

"When I handed her the letter from President Nixon, she asked me if it was a bill," said Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Rembowski's granddaughter. "When I explained to her what it was, she was really astonished. She keeps it with her and shows it to everybody."

Mrs. Rembowski was born in Konig, Poland, Aug. 8, 1871, and came to this country in 1904. She lived in the small Polish town of West Wyoming, Pa., until her coalminer husband's death there in 1928. Mrs. Rembowski moved to the northwest side of Chicago in 1929 to live with her son and his family.

MRS. REMBOWSKI and her son moved to Elk Grove Village several weeks ago. They had been in the mobile home 12 days when he died. She now lives with her granddaughter at 1727 Kim Ave., Mount Prospect.

In her 100 years of life, Mrs. Rembowski has witnessed not only the death of her five children, but the birth of her first great-great-grandchild. She also has eight grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams said her grandmother helps with housework and yardwork. Trailer park neighbors report having seen Mrs. Rembowski pulling weeds around her trailer home.

"I think it's hard work that keeps her going," said Mrs. Williams. "She's swept and washed the floors every day since she's been with us. She's always been a hardworking Polish woman."

No Excuse Left For IHSA

Appeal Made For State Football Playoff

It is about time that the Illinois High School Association put itself to work and establish a football playoff.

No less than 26 states have taken the time, the effort and the courage to run a state football playoff.

Illinois, unfortunately, is not one of them.

The IHSA goes to great pains to hold state championships for cross country, basketball, gymnastics, swimming, wrestling, golf, baseball, track and tennis but does not do the same for football.

The Illinois High School Football Coaches Association has recently approved a proposed playoff setup. But this approval means little, since it is merely a recommendation by the coaches' association to the IHSA.

Actually, the IHSA is not the only organization standing in the way of a playoff. There are a number of steps to go through before a playoff could be a reality.

The first step has already been completed — the football coaches association has approved the playoff.

The second step — approval by the athletic director's association — is almost sure to pass.

The third step — approval by principals across the state — has a 50-50 chance of passing.

The fourth step — approval by superintendents across the state — has, according to most observers, little chance of passing.

"Most of the superintendents and many of the principals do not want the season to run any longer than it does now," said one suburban head football coach. "They don't want it to run into the basketball season. They are also afraid that enough money may not be raised to hold the playoff."

In rebuttal to those superintendents and principals, I would like to offer these opinions:

First, the football season does not run too long. Most teams only play eight games — which is actually a short season — and a three-game playoff (for only two teams who go all the way to the championship game) would make it an 11-game season, which is not all that long. The state champion in a number of states plays 13 or 14 games.

Second, the basketball season is far too long as it stands now. The basketball season could be moved back a week or two into December and, by playing more Friday-Saturday back-to-back games, a 20-game schedule could easily be completed by the time the state basketball tournament gets underway.

Third, the worries about money seem to be unfounded. Each game in the state playoff should generate a great deal of enthusiasm from fans throughout the state and these fans would support the playoff games. Attendances would be large and they would pay for the playoff, particularly if such stadiums as those at Northern Illinois, Northwestern and Southern Illinois were used for semi-final and final games.

The proposed state playoff has been quite well prepared and includes the following by-laws:

(1) Only those schools that request to be included in the playoff will be eligible to compete. (Therefore, if a school does not want to be a part of the play-offs, it is not forced to compete.)

(2) A school's classification would be determined by its enrollment. Class 'AAA' would be made up of school with enrollments over 1,200.

Class 'AA' would be made up of schools with enrollments from 400 to 1,199.

Class 'A' would be composed of schools with enrollments under 399. Under this classification (based on 1970 statistics) there would be 162 schools in 'AAA', 154 in 'AA' and 178 in 'A.'

All of the schools in this area would be in Class 'AAA.'

(3) The state would be divided into eight districts according to classifications. Each district classification would have particular boundaries according to the number of schools in certain areas. The attempt has been made to put an equal number of schools in each district.

(4) Eight 'AAA' district winners would play in four different games to earn berths in the semi-finals. The winners in the semi-final games would play in the finals. The same would be true for 'AA' and 'A.'

(5) Sites for the game would be selected by the IHSA after the qualifying teams were determined. The school with the largest stadium facility which is in the playoff would be the site for the sectional in most cases. (Semi-final and final games may be held in college stadiums.)

(6) The eight district champions would be determined by an elaborate — and, seemingly, very fair — point system.

Each school would receive 20 points for a win and five points for a tie. Each team would lose 10 points for each defeat. If a team competes against a school of a lower classification (other than conference games), it will get only 10 points for a win, lose five points for a tie and lose 20 points for a defeat. A team's total points would be divided by the number of games played to get a rating. The team with the highest average number of play-off points per game would represent its district in the state playoff.

(7) If two or more teams finish with identical averages, but competed against each other, then the winning team would get the playoff berth. If they played to a tie, or did not meet at all, then the representative of that district would be determined by totaling the wins and losses of their opponents and the one competing against the toughest schedule would get the playoff berth.

Based on 1970 statistics, Arlington would have been the champion in District 2 AAA, in which most of the area's schools would be involved.

Arlington and New Trier West both had 3-0 records and both had an average of 20.0. But Arlington would have gained the berth in the playoff since Arlington opponents had a 30-32-2 record while New Trier West's foes had a 27-35-2 record.

Arlington would have played LaGrange, which had the most points in District 1 'AAA' in the first round of the playoff. Other first round games would have had Hinsdale Central against Thornridge, Rockford East against Peoria Richwoods and Danville against Alton.

The winner of the LaGrange-Arlington game and the winner of the Hinsdale-Thornridge game would meet in a semi-final. The other semi-final games would have the winner of the Rockford-Peoria game against the winner of the Danville-Alton game.

The semi-final winners would meet for the state championship.

I find it difficult to believe that these games, which would put together such undeniably outstanding football teams on the same field, would not catch the interest and enthusiasm of fans throughout the state and fail to draw.

I see no reason why each and every game would not play to capacity — yes, over flowing — crowds.

And, if those crowds would not bring in enough money for expenses, then television — which should not be overlooked certainly could.

The opinion here is that the IHSA should stop thinking up excuses such as money, weather (if Wisconsin, Indiana and Iowa can hold state playoffs, why can't Illinois?) time, etc.

It is about time for the IHSA to put itself to work and establish a state football playoff.

THOMAS OUT OF LINE

Dear Sir:

I think they ought to throw Duane Thomas out of football.

He wanted to break a contract with the Dallas Cowboys but the Cowboys said they wouldn't and instead traded him to the Patriots. Now Thomas has walked out of the Patriots' training camp.

I always thought that a contract — a multi-year contract in Thomas' case — should be binding. If the Dallas organization would have broken the contract, you sure would have heard Thomas crying about it. But Thomas thinks that it is all right for him to break the contract.

If Thomas doesn't like the way the NFL runs things, he should get out of football.

Terry Wyatt
Hanover Park

We couldn't agree with you more. If Thomas had any amount of confidence in his ability to do well in his rookie season, he should have insisted on a larger contract before he signed out of college. But he did sign that multi-year contract and Pete Rozelle should make him stick to it.

In our opinion, Rozelle, in being fair to the Patriots, should kill the trade between Dallas and New England. If Thomas does not report to camp. Also, Rozelle should blackball Thomas from the NFL if he does not play by the contract rules.

NO COMPARISON

Dear Sirs:

Every time I see a Cub player interviewed and he's asked about catching the Pirates, they always say, "We know how easy it is to lose a big lead. We can still catch them."

That's right. The Cubs do know how to lose a big lead. But what these players fail to recognize is that the 1971 Pirates are far superior to that 1969 Cub team. They have just too much overall talent for a complete collapse like the one the Cubs had.

Harry Dennington
Mount Prospect

The Cubs have to talk positively however remote their chances of catching the Pirates. If a player in an interview said, "There's no way we can catch Pittsburgh," he could pack his bags immediately and head for Tacoma. Leo and P. K. wouldn't even say goodbye.

—Bob Frisk

LIONS NOT REWARDED?

Dear Sirs:

I was one of those who followed with great interest the American Legion (Ninth District) playoff tournament.

Arlington pulled out a couple of exciting games to win, but I still feel the Logan Square Lions were the best team in the league and deserved to go to the County playoffs. They proved it over 18 games with their 16-2 record, while Arlington only had to win four games to advance.

I don't want to take anything away from Arlington because they are a good team. But it does not seem fair to the Lions not to get any reward after playing great ball for two months. Why isn't the league winner sent to the Counties? Or why don't they get a playoff against the tournament winner?

J. R.
Arlington Heights

The same questions have been brought up in past years, as they were again this year. They sound like something that should be examined in a column. Watch for it in these pages next Tuesday. In the meantime, we feel the entire league should be behind Arlington through the current County tournament. They earned their victory by the method agreed upon by the league before the season. And they beat the Lions head-to-head when it counted.

—Larry Everhart

NOT IN TIME. Bantam first baseman Dave Nelson awaits a very late throw—too late to pick off an Elks baserunner off first base in Wednesday's final game of the Des Plaines Mid-Teen League Championship series. Bantam won the game and the title 5-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Bill Olsen.

Batam Captures Mid-Teen Title!

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Bantam gained its revenge to the fullest extent.

Coach Adam Warren's club won the Des Plaines Mid-Teen League championship by beating the Elks 5-1 Wednesday at Maine West High School. Bantam won the league championship by downing the Elks in two straight games in the best-of-three series. The champs won the first game 5-4 Tuesday.

A year ago Bantam went into the playoff series as the favorite against Kunkel on the basis of an extraordinary 15-1-1 record. But after winning the first game of the series, Bantam dropped the next two games and lost the championship.

Going into this year's playoff Bantam's record was 14-6-1, not quite as good as the Elks' 14-4. But, before the playoff began, Warren said, "We have two scores to settle this year and I think we'll do it."

Bantam got its revenge behind the five-hit pitching of Bill Olsen and timely hitting, heads-up baserunning and the ability to move baserunners along on the basepaths.

Bantam's first run, which came in the first inning, gave the best indication of its nip-and-pick attack.

Tim Gillespie started the game off by beating out a bunt for a single — while bunting on a three ball, two strike count! He advanced to second base on an error.

After stealing third base, Gillespie scored on a sacrifice fly to right field by Roger Spencer to give Bantam a 1-0 lead.

The Elks tied the score in the bottom of the fourth as Bill Besenhofer slammed a double to left-center field and raced all the way from second base on a bunt by Colin Carroll which was error.

Bantam made it 2-1 in the top of the fifth as Frank Mitchell cracked a triple to right field and scored on a single to left by Tom Schultz.

The eventual winners added two more runs in the sixth by blazing the basepaths.

Gillespie beat out an infield single and then stole second with nobody out. Spencer laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt to move Gillespie to third.

Coach Warren flashed the signal for the suicide squeeze bunt and Gillespie raced for the plate as soon as the pitch was on its way. As Gillespie came sliding into the plate, Nelson placed down another perfect bunt and was safe at first base.

While Gordy Lewis stood at the plate and awaited the first pitch, Nelson took off for second base and was safe with a stolen base. The throw from the catcher, however, was wide of the mark and Nelson had third base easily. But an error from the outfield ended up out of the playing field and Nelson was permitted to score Bantam's fourth run.

In the seventh inning, Schultz singled to left field, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on an infield throwing error.

Olsen fanned five batters and walked only two while picking up the victory — Bantam's 12th of the season against six losses and one tie.

Besenhofer, who had pitched the Elks into the championship series by beating defending champion Kunkel in the National League playoff, struck out 13 batters, did not walk anybody and was the victim of three unearned runs.

The loss closed out the Elks' season at 14-6.

The win closed out Bantam's season with a long awaited Mid-Teen championship.

Shamed Soldiers Also Casualties

by TOM TIEDE
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Thomas Thompson, 21 years old, has just returned from the war in Vietnam as an uncounted casualty who has a wound that can't be seen.

He has been kicked out of the Army. What he did was break the rules. As a front-line combat soldier, early this year, he became depressed to the point of not thinking and not caring. He felt it was wrong for him to be fighting while others like him, back home, were not. He felt he was being picked on, not only by the military in general, but by his own unit in particular. So he went AWOL, for six weeks, to brood.

He didn't hurt anyone. He didn't steal anything. But he erred too seriously for the Army to forgive. And he was "gotten rid of" for good of the service.

"U.D."
Undesirable discharge.
And so now, for him, the world is made of ice. "I keep moving, but I don't get nowhere." He has become somebody for the local police to keep their eyes on. He is not officially eligible for any of the federally "guaranteed" benefits for veterans. And whenever he tries to get a job, as he says he does every day, the foreman looks at his papers, head shaking, and says in a tone that would freeze Florida: "Sorry, we don't have anything available for your kind."

UNDERSTANDABLY, Thomas Thompson is again depressed. But this time, perhaps, with more justification. "I don't like all this talk about my 'kind,'" he says. "I did wrong, maybe, but that doesn't mean I'm any 'kind' like a crook or something."

He's right of course. If fairness is the criterion, Thompson's "kind" should not be readily labeled. The public idea that anything other than an "honorable" military discharge is contemptible is inaccurate and, often, damaging.

Last year, according to the Department of Defense, 1,156,558 men were discharged from military duty. Of these, 54,502 were released under conditions "other than honorable." This doesn't mean, however, they were all creepy crawlers.

The services have five forms of discharge. Honorable, general, undesirable, bad conduct and dishonorable. Only the latter pair are punitive; they usually involve felonious wrongdoing and comprise only a tiny minority (4,049 last year) of all military releases. The other discharges are all administrative. This means they are nonjudicial, or catch-all. Ergo, a man can be released on the general or undesirable clause for such "offenses" as being a homosexual, taking part in political activism, or, as is by now well known, smoking marijuana.

THUS IT SHOULD be clear that a man with a less than honorable discharge isn't necessarily a baddie.

As it is, however, much of the public feels otherwise. It is no secret that a "shamed soldier" has an uphill time of it in the nation. Employers often withhold jobs because "we don't want anybody the Army doesn't want." Landlords hesitate to rent living quarters for the same reason. Depending on the severity of his discharge reason, a drummed-out soldier is not classified as a veteran by the Veterans Administration, is not eligible for disability benefits from the military, will not be accepted for membership in most civic-fraternal organizations, and in the overall is effectively locked out from any sympathetic public sentiment.

"I'll tell you how bad it is for me," says a sad-faced Thompson. "I ain't even had the guts to tell my dad about the discharge yet. Like, he was in World War II, and that kind of thing. If he knew about me, he'd kick me out of the house."

As harsh and (often) unjustified as the public attitude is toward men like Thompson, it is not likely to change anytime soon. Oh, there is some movement for fairness: Some few men within the Veterans Administration are quietly working toward relaxation of the VA ban against shamed soldiers, and new rules are being written to help men discharged from service for narcotics involvement.

BUT IN THE main the public's hard attitude remains stiff. With all the current congressional interest in veterans, for instance, there is no hint of extending any rights to vets with black discharges.

THE SOLDIER COMES HOME

Says an aide to Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Calif.): "The public wouldn't stand still for it. Neither would the veterans groups. The idea prevails that if a man can't get clean marks in service, he doesn't deserve help."
Therefore, back to Thomas Thompson, at age 21 a man on the outside of opportunity. He doesn't deserve help? He's a former soldier who in many instances of combat, gave the nation the best he could give. He's a young man who before he entered the Army was never in any serious trouble. He's a worried human being who wants to get married, to get a job and live in some security. Granted he made a mistake. But it still will be cruel, if usual, to condemn him for it forever.

$1,000 Gift To Hospital

The Avon Corporation of Morton Grove has added to the health services of the Northwest suburbs recently with a gift of $1,000 to Northwest Community Hospital.

Robert Gropler, general manager of manufacturing and Charles Gustafson, personnel manager of Avon, presented the check to Malcolm MacCoun, president of Northwest Community Hospital.

"This gift, like all benevolent contributions to the hospital, will go for capital expansion and equipment that will benefit tens of thousands of area residents for years to come," MacCoun said.

The hospital is in the midst of a multiple expansion program that will almost triple the patient capacity by 1975. A nine story addition is well under way and a single story wing is scheduled to be open for patients early in September.

Avon, Inc., nationally known manufacturer of cosmetics, has contributed to many of the hospitals serving the residential areas wherein the Avon employees reside.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Four years ago I had cancer of the cervix and was treated with cobalt for one month, but did not have a hysterectomy. I am still in my 40s. Is it possible for me to get pregnant again?

Dear Reader — Usually heavy doses of radiation, like the cobalt treatment you have had, stops all ovarian function. It has the same effect in this regard as surgical removal of the ovaries, including inducing an artificial menopause.

I never tell anyone they cannot get pregnant. You should have an examination and find out. Pregnancy after radiation, if it is possible, is not always wise because radiation increases the likelihood of having a deformed baby. Since the rest of your letter states you have children perhaps your concern is to prevent pregnancy.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Will you say something about our stomachs? My husband has been in constant distress going on four years. After X rays, his doctor says his stomach problems are anxiety and pain is not physical. His diet has not been restricted. I can't understand why his doctor doesn't prescribe a limited diet. My husband also worries he'll lose weight if he is on a limited diet and he is thin enough already. Every time the TV is on there is an ad about gas bubbles, stomach distress, so it must be common.

Dear Reader — Your husband's doctor probably told him that there was no physical cause for his pain, like an ulcer, that was causing his discomfort. All pain is physical, even if the cause is anxiety — and it hurts just as much.

The most common cause of indigestion in our society is coffee, cigarettes, alcohol, cola drinks and stress. The later often goes along with the other bad habits. Anyone with indigestion — certainly for four years — should stop all of these at once. Individuals can develop chronic gastritis (inflammation of the stomach) from these habits, and improper eating. This problem does not show on an X ray. It is cured by changing one's habits. If the difficulty persists, then it is time to think about medicine. The wrong kind of foods can cause indigestion but the items mentioned are much more often at fault. The stomach is a pretty tough organ if you give it half a chance.

As I have mentioned several times some people have an intolerance for milk — after stopping the bad habits it is worth a trial to stop milk entirely.

Chronic frustration can and does cause stomach problems and leads to ulcers. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The Almanac

by United Press International

Today is Friday, Aug. 6, the 218th day of 1971.

The moon is full.
The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

Actress Lucille Ball was born Aug. 6, 1911.

On this day in history:

In 1926 Gertrude Ederle of New York became the first American to swim the English Channel. Her time was 14 hours, 31 minutes.

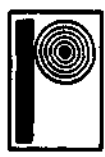

In 1930 Judge Joseph Crater of the New York Supreme Court stepped into a taxicab at 9:15 p.m. and disappeared. The case has never been solved.

In 1945 President Harry S. Truman announced that an atomic bomb had been dropped on Hiroshima, Japan.

In 1968 former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered his sixth heart attack.

A thought for today: British poet Edmund Spenser said, "Ill can he rule the great, that cannot reach the small."

ARE YOU IN THE MARKET FOR A HARDTOP?

Every Volvo has six steel pillars supporting the roof. Each one is strong enough to hold up the weight of the entire car.

Of course, this kind of strength isn't built into a Volvo just so it will hold up a lot of cars.

The Volvos we sell are built strong so they'll hold up a lot of years.

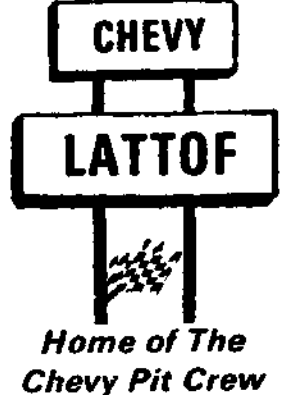

Exactly how many we can't guarantee. But we do know that in Sweden Volvos are driven an average of eleven years.

So come in, look at our Volvos and decide if you're honestly in the market for a hardtop. Or if what you really want is a hard top.

WE SELL THE
